NEWS SUMMARY

THE SITUATION IN THE FAR EAST.

The main armies of Russia and Japan in Manchuria continue to be engaged in a desperate struggle south of Mukden. On both sides there have been such losses in killed and wounded as mark the contest for one of the bloodiest battles in history. Already the losses at Liao-Yang have been approximated, and the indications are that they will be exceeded, that of the Russians up to noon of October 14 being estimated at 15,000. The Russian advance has been converted into a stubbornly fought retreat.

The result, according to the Russians, is still to be determined. Reports from the Russian left wing are lacking, leaving room for question if that part of Gen. Kuropatkin's army is not in worse extremity than the center and right were at any stage of the battle. On both sides the soldiers have shown the utmost tenacity and bravery and whole regiments have gone down before the fire of the enemy. There is no news from Port Arthur.—Pages 1 and 2.

PARTY UNCLES FOR THE FRAY

Uncle Joe Cannon Will Speak This Afternoon at Huntington, W. Va.

GASSAWAY TONIGHT

Senator Bailey's Abuse of the President Has Little Effect on Hearers.

NEW TACK TAKEN BY HILL

Special Telegram from
Walter J. Christy, Staff Correspondent.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Oct. 14.—Huntington will be a political battleground tomorrow. The Republicans will star "Uncle Joe" Cannon, speaker of the national house, and Congressman Bede of Minnesota in the afternoon and in the evening "Uncle Gassaway" and his spellbinders will give a show. Both sides are looking forward to the day with much interest and are speculating on whether this strenuous West Virginia town can stand so much enthusiasm without bubbling over. Monday Cannon will come here and will then journey through much of the state that Davis has been working this week.

Parkersburg is being made a storm center. Both candidates for vice president have spoken here. Next Friday W. J. Bryan is to appear and he is to be followed the next day by Tom Watson, the Populist nominee for president. The Davis aggregation drew well tonight and it would be wonderful if it had not. Two meetings were held, addressed by all the speakers, they making the same speeches at both meetings.

West Virginia only gets a chance at the politicians every four years and when celebrities like Davis, Hill, Bailey and Daniels come to town it is natural that every man who does not have to stay at home to mind the baby would come out and look them over. That is all that a vast majority of the male portion of Parkersburg will do for Davis.

Republican Pictures Still There.

When Senator Fairbanks came to town a month ago his picture and that of President Roosevelt were placed in the windows of nearly every business house. They are still there. It is a straw which helps to forecast the result in Wood county. Parkersburg stands pat. Senator Bailey of Texas, who wrote the plank in the St. Louis platform in which the tariff is characterized as robbery, is not talking tariff in West Virginia. This morning at Benwood, when he addressed the workmen from the shops, he was careful to make no reference to the wise Republican policy that has made West Virginia.

The long-haired Texan has been bottled on this subject, and he is devoting himself to abusing the president and distributing salve to the workingman, but so careful not to mention what the Democrats did for the workingmen when they were last in power. All things theatrical are judged by the approval they receive from the gods of the gallery.

Tonight in the hope of accurately ascertaining what the 700 or 800 men who were occupying the gallery in the auditorium thought of the performance, a seat was sought among them. Bailey was on much of his stunt, which is to describe the two candidates.

Denounces the President.

He denounced the president of the United States as a man unfit to enjoy American citizenship, giving as his reason that Roosevelt had once written a friendly magazine article about the wild and woolly cowboy. He construed the article into an attack upon the farmers and mechanics of the country. There was hardly an evidence of approval from the gallery and many of the mechanics of Parkersburg left the playhouse. Bailey's regard for truth, while discussing what he claims to be the issues of the campaign, is about as high as that cat Gen. Tom. Stewart of Pennsylvania has been talking about this fall. Candidate Davis was hoarse, but otherwise in good trim.

The meetings along the road today were well attended, New Martinsville, Sistersville, St. Marys and Williamstown being visited. Senator Hill took a new tack in his talk today. He said he was sure that if Parker should be elected president, he would endeavor to have the department of commerce and labor divided, and see to it that a practical labor man, a genuine and intelligent representative of labor interests, will have the place devoted to labor interests, as had been originally intended, and a man devoted to the interests of commerce at the head of the commerce department. He said that Judge Parker, while always impartially enforcing the laws, has always been friendly to the interests of those who work.

OPPOSED TO OUTSIDERS.

German Insurance Companies Want Foreign Rivals Heavily Handicapped.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—(Special Cable.)—German life insurance companies are going to make an attempt to drive all foreign, and especially American, companies out of Germany. Though the German companies are favored in many ways, statistics of last year show the American companies have done far greater business than our own, having made out more than 80 per cent of all new policies signed.

It is said representatives of all the German companies will apply to the government to insist that all foreign companies doing business in Germany be treated as they are in Russia, where they have to deposit several millions of rubles in the treasury before being allowed to do business in the country.

BOYS TAKEN FROM HOMES

Excitement Follows the Disappearance of the Children.

CLAIM SIX MISSING

Wylie Avenue and Newsboys' Home Boys Under 16 Years Old Wanted for Factory.

STRIKE IN PROGRESS THERE

Excited and angry parents and relatives gathered in a good-sized crowd about the shoe-repairing shop of Charles Swartz, 515 Wylie avenue, last evening, all complaining that their boys had been induced without their permission to leave home. It gradually developed that the alleged place of their destination was a big glass house at Rochester, Pa., where there is a strike in progress. A former football player, now connected with the glass company, was the man who induced the boys to go. It came out later that this man had been trying to secure boys, less than 16 years of age, to go from the Newsboys' home, despite the fact that a couple of weeks ago several boys from that institution had been induced by offers of good work to go there and had been returned under a threat of invoking the child factory laws made by Superintendent Charles B. Horton of the home.

Boys, whose parents stated last evening were missing, were Lewis Carroll, aged 15, son of Mrs. Rose Carroll, 507 Wylie avenue; Ralph Swartz, aged 13, son of Charles Swartz, 515 Wylie, and a boy named Weinberg.

Expected Pleasant Positions.

Young Carroll told his grandmother, Mrs. Mary Soracco, that six had arranged to go and that they had been promised positions in the train service, were to have uniforms and get good wages.

The ex-football player said over the telephone last evening that he had tried to secure the boys and that he wanted still more. He referred to a saloonkeeper in Wylie avenue as a man with whom a deal for payment for securing boys could be made. As to his efforts in the city yesterday he said he had been unsuccessful; that after four had been obtained they deserted.

The man is expected in Pittsburgh today to carry on the same work. He said he wanted 10 or 15 more boys.

The trouble with the boys at the Newsboys' home started over three weeks ago. Two former residents there had obtained jobs with this glass company and induced two other boys to go. Paul Getty, aged 13, left September 25 and was killed by the Cleveland flyer a couple of days later.

Boys Returned to the Home.

On the night of the 27th four other boys went on a freight train. All were under 16. When Charles Runyon of the factory telephoned Superintendent Horton of the death of Getty, Mr. Horton told him that he had found that other boys under the age limit from the Newsboys' home were there. They were given tickets and returned at once. Each of the boys said last night that the tickets were all they had obtained for two days' work, for which they had been promised $1 25 a day.

At the home last night, John Kearney, one of the boys who went to Rochester, said that the ex-football player had asked him his age at the factory, and when he had replied 14, said to tell anyone who asked that it was 16. He saw this man in Pittsburgh yesterday, he said, and the man was willing to take him back if the objection of Supt. Horton would be removed.

It is the intention of those whose children disappeared yesterday to appeal to the police for help in recovering them.

ELIOT IS FOR ROOSEVELT.

President of Harvard Says Democrats Have No Important Political Principle.

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—(Special.)—President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard has announced that he is going to vote for Roosevelt and Fairbanks.

"The Democrats have not succeeded in identifying the party with any important political principle or measure," he said today. "I shall vote for Roosevelt, Fairbanks and Samuel W. McCall, the congressman in my district, and that is all I care to say about the matter."

Peterboro Likely to Get Plant.

PETERSBORO, ONT., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—A short time ago a representative of the United States Steel Corporation investigated Peterboro, as a site for the proposed Canadian plant of the corporation and his report is of such character that in all probability this place will be chosen.

REPUBLICANS HAVE TAMMANY IN HOLE

Lists of Challenges Prepared Prevent Registration Frauds in New York.

THREATS MADE BY MURPHY

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.

Driven to desperation by the success of Elections Superintendent Morgan's plans to thwart colonization, repeating and fraudulent registration, Charles F. Murphy, at Tammany hall, today threatened to issue orders to his district leaders to challenge every known Republican presenting himself for registration.

The unusual number of challenges made at the booths all over Greater New York caused a commotion at Tammany hall. Leader after leader hurried down to the wigwam to tell Murphy that his promised Tammany votes would fall woefully short of expectations if something was not devised, and that quickly, to check the pernicious activity of the Republicans, who are making today an effort for an honest election in the city the like of which was never seen before.

A list of men to be challenged, prepared after the most careful and rigorous comparison of last year's registration lists, with the 14,000 known deaths of voters during the year, the 50,000 removals from districts reported by the canvassers for the city directory and the canvasses made in every assembly district and by the Morgan deputies, was ready in every election district.

In some of the districts which Tammany always has controlled through fraud and repeating at the polls, the list contained the names of more than 50 per cent of the total vote of last year.

HEIRESS TO $18,000,000 LEFT BY PITTSBURGHER

Pueblo Woman Claims Col. Jacob Baker Died, Leaving Large Estate.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PUEBLO, COL., Oct. 14.—Mrs. Ella Perkins of 1020 Abriendon avenue, wife of a steel worker, is one of the heirs of Col. Jacob Baker, a confederate veteran, who died intestate in Pittsburgh 15 years ago, leaving an estate valued at $18,000,000. Lawyers searched for heirs for years. Recently R. E. Foreman of Lexington, Ky., a brother of Mrs. Perkins, saw an advertisement for the heirs in a Cincinnati paper.

He is in Pittsburgh now and yesterday he telegraphed that the estate existed and would be divided. Col. Baker laid the foundation of his fortune by inventing a railway switch in which Collis P. Huntington, an intimate friend, became interested.

SUIT GOES TO U. S. COURT.

Honeyman Trying to Prevent Colorado Fuel & Iron Company from Guaranteeing Bond Issue.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Supreme Court Justice Wilmot M. Smith this morning granted an order removing the suit of Robert B. Honeyman of this city against the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, from the supreme court to the United States circuit court for the eastern district for trial.

Mr. Honeyman seeks to restrain the corporation from incurring any indebtedness for any other purpose than its running expenses and from guaranteeing $45,00,000 in bonds, the proposed issues of the Colorado Industrial Company.

Audience Was Small and Wet.

YORK, PA., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—A Democratic mass meeting was held last night at Farmers postoffice in this county by William McSherry, the Democratic nominee for congress, and ex-Congressman E. D. Ziegler. A band of music appeared, but there were but six people to listen to the speeches. The band played in a heavy downpour of rain and Mr. Ziegler delivered a lengthy speech to the musicians and the audience.

PANAMA WISHES TO BE PEACEFUL

Willing to Let the Present Boundary Line With Colombia Stand.

SETTLING WITH UNITED STATES

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.

If Colombia will take the initiative there need be no further fear of a boundary dispute with Panama. John Barrett, United States minister at Panama, has reported to President Roosevelt and Secretary Hay that Panama is making no further contention over the boundary and is willing to accept without dispute the old demarcation of the department of Panama. The minister of foreign affairs of Panama asked Mr. Barrett to tell the president and Mr. Hay that Panama would do nothing to irritate Colombia and asked for no territory beyond the old boundary.

Panama denied emphatically that it has granted any concessions to her citizens or Americans to exploit the valley of the Atrato. Mr. Barrett was convinced of the truth of these statements.

A settlement of the differences between the United States and Panama in regard to the main question of sovereignty and the collecting of customs duties in the zone, as well as the dispute concerning the postal system of the United States and Panama, will soon be reached and probably embodied in the form of a protocol. President Roosevelt has ordered every effort to be made to safeguard Panama's interests.

PRESIDENT LEAVES TODAY FOR MISS KNOX'S WEDDING

Mrs. Roosevelt Going—Mrs. Dalzell Entertaining Daughter and Son-in-Law.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The president and Mrs. Roosevelt will leave this morning to attend the wedding of Miss Knox, daughter of Senator P. C. Knox, and J. R. Tindle of Pittsburgh, at Valley Forge this afternoon. They will travel in a special car attached to a Pennsylvania train. Although the president has declined all of the other invitations requiring his absence from Washington he has received since he returned from Oyster Bay, he and Mrs. Roosevelt accepted the invitation to the Knox wedding because of their friendship for Senator Knox and the members of his family.

Immediately after the wedding, which will take place at 4 o'clock they will start for Washington. Attorney General Moody will also be present. Few Washington people received invitations as the wedding will not be a large affair.

Miss Knox will be attended by Miss Althea Mohler of Pittsburgh, an intimate friend and schoolmate. Sixteen young friends of the bride and bridegroom will be seated at the bridal table, at the collation after the ceremony.

On their return from their honeymoon Mr. and Mrs. Tindle will make their home at Sewickley.

Mrs. John Dalzell is entertaining her son-in-law and daughter, Col. and Mrs. Dunn, the former stationed at Denver. Mrs. Dalzell will go to Pittsburgh November 1 and remain until congress convenes in December.

MOODY THROWN FROM HORSE.

Runaway Mules Collide With Attorney General and His Steed, Hurling Both to Pavement.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—While Attorney General Moody was taking his customary morning exercise on horseback today, a pair of runaway mules dashed up from the rear and threw both horse and rider violently to the pavement.

The attorney general was thrown a short distance away from the horse, but no bones were fractured.

CAPTURE MAIL OF U. S. NAVY

Russians Opened Letters from the Cruiser Cincinnati.

UNCLE SAM ADVISED

Czar's Officers Seized Postal Matter, Which Was Subsequently Resealed.

NEUTRALITY GETS HARD JOLT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—It developed today that a pouch containing mail for the United States cruiser Cincinnati, than at Nagasaki, Japan, which was aboard the British steamer Calchas, when that vessel was seized by the Russian Vladivostok squadron, had been opened while in the possession of the Russian officials, subsequently resealed and sent on to its destination.

The information came to the postoffice department today in a communication from the Japanese postal administration, in conformity with a practice always followed when there has been any mishap in the delivery of mail pouches. The matter will be referred to the state department for action, as was done with the case of the ordinary United States mail on the vessel at the time she was seized.

This latest phase of the seizure of the Calchas mails has caused a painful surprise in official circles, and if the act of opening the pouch addressed to the Cincinnati was wittingly done the probability is a strong protest will be lodged with the Russian government.

The following cablegram gives first authentic news of the movements of the Russian Baltic fleet and besides conveys information which will startle the nations which are preserving outwardly at least strict neutrality in the Russo-Japanese war:

St. Petersburg, Oct. 13.

Secretary of State, Washington:

I have learned that the Baltic fleet will sail next Sunday. Fleet consists of 41 ships. Battleships and destroyers will go through the Suez canal, auxiliary ships by the Cape. Cruisers Jemtchug, Izumrud not completed, but will start. Auxiliary cruiser ran aground in last few days and broke hole in her bow, making necessary two months' repairs. Have also learned on reliable authority that Russian government has purchased not less than six South American cruisers, mostly from Argentine republic. EDDY.

It will be noted that the reliable information to the department is not that private parties have sold cruisers to the Russian government, but the plain implication is that the governments themselves in South America have furnished Russia with vessels to conquer the Japanese. The conclusion is also that Russia has "contracted" for six cruisers with private parties in South America and is to take the usual risk of getting them to the east, but that the vessels purchased have already been built, thus plainly indicating that they are the property of South American republics.

NO GIFTS FOR OFFICERS.

General Staff of Army Resurrects Old Order and Has It Published.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—After army officers have for years made a frequent practice of presenting commanders with loving cups, swords and other testimonials of regard, the general staff has resurrected section 1784 of the Revised Statutes which forbids the custom, and published it in a circular order.

The order was provoked by the recent presentation to Gen. Constant Williams, United States army, of a loving cup by the officers of the Twenty-sixth infantry, which he commanded before he became a brigadier general and was assigned to command the department of the Columbia. It is said that there will be no proceeding against Gen. Williams or any officers involved. The order is published to prevent recurrence of such things.

KILLED BY A SPLINTER.

Ford City Boy Trips and Falls, a Jagged Piece of Wood Severing an Artery.

FORD CITY, PA., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—With blood streaming from a gash in his thigh, George Stewart, 16 years old, was brought to the office of Dr. P. R. Giarth shortly after 6 o'clock this evening and died within a few minutes.

Stewart, with several companions, was returning to his home at Rosston from the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company's plant, where he was employed. The boys were walking on the railroad track, and when midway between Rosston and Ford City they started down the embankment, intending to jump into a passing wagon. Stewart tripped as he ran down the bank and fell on an old stump, a jagged splinter from which was driven into his thigh, severing one of the main arteries.

RUSSIAN LOSS IS ENORMOUS

Fifteen Thousand of the Czar's Troops Fall in Battle.

FIGHT CONTINUES

Japanese Soldiers Also Severely Punished in the Great Engagement.

ST. PETERSBURG DEPRESSED

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MUKDEN, Oct. 14.—The fighting has raged today with the same bitterness as on the previous days of the engagement, and the result is still in the balance. The losses on both sides are enormous, that of the Russians being 15,000. Wounded soldiers are being brought in from all directions.

The roads are crowded with long trains of wagons, baggage and transport wagons as well as ambulances being pressed into service, even Chinese two-wheeled carts filling the mandate of the military. Men afoot are limping, using their guns as crutches, the less severely wounded supporting their comrades, after a first-aid dressing on the firing line.

Even across the fields you meet them, taking the shortest and straightest road for help and shelter. It is the most pitiful feature of the bloody drama being enacted at the front, when, stiffening with wounds, pain-racked bodies sink to the roadside after the support of the danger and glory of the active fight have been withdrawn.

Battle in Progress.

In the distance the sounds of battle are still plainly heard. The rain has ceased.

The Japanese have gained a great victory and the Russian lines are withdrawing slowly northward. The battle continues and dispatches are strictly censored.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—A dispatch from Harbin today says the hospitals there are preparing for the reception of 37 officers and 1,200 men wounded during the recent fighting before Yentai and who are now on their way to Harbin by train.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 15.—The great feeling of concern which exists in high circles in the Russian capital tonight by no means equals the forebodings of coming disaster pervading the general public, which is indulging in the deepest pessimism. In the absence of official news the public is being fed on the wildest rumors of defeat suffered by Gen. Kuropatkin today. The fact that no word regarding the battle has been officially given out only confirms the popular fear.

Czar Is Disappointed.

Gen. Kuropatkin's report of the result of the day's operations has reached Emperor Nicholas at Tsarkoe Seloe, but it had not been returned here before the war commission adjourned. The emperor himself is represented as being bitterly disappointed and spending hours with his cabinet, studying out, with the help of his military aids the reports of the battle. The general staff, however, by no means despairs, though admitting that the tide the last few days has been against Gen. Kuropatkin, the general staff says the battle is not yet over and that in any event there is no question of a rout.

The depressing feature of the situation is that everyone is willing to believe the worst. Thus, reports from Tokyo and elsewhere stating that the Japanese are advancing and the Russians falling back are accepted with faith based upon the previous Russian retreat.

The probabilities are that the losses on both sides will be about equal. Dispatches from the front give a vivid picture of the desperate character of the fighting along the whole line. The Russian plainsmen have been again forced to engage in hill fighting, which is little to their liking. There have been desperate and repeated attacks upon almost inaccessible positions, which leave no question of the resolution and gallantry of the Russian forces. Guns have been captured and recaptured in fierce hand-to-hand fights, while a pitiless downpour of rain, the inevitable accompaniment of a great battle, has flooded the trenches and drenched both armies without allaying the desperate conflict.

Sustained Heavy Losses.

The emperor has received the following dispatch, dated yesterday, from Gen. Kuropatkin:

"Two regiments of the Russian right on October 12 sustained heavy losses. The commander of one was killed and the brigade commander was wounded. Both regiments were compelled to withdraw, abandoning their artillery, but subsequently, under Col. Vannovsky, who temporarily assumed command of the brigade, they, after a desperate assault, regained possession of the guns with the exception of 16, which remained in the hands of the Japanese. The final issue of the battle Wednesday on this flank was unsuccessful for us. On account of a night attack of the Japanese, who executed a turning movement, our troops were forced not only to abandon their positions, but again lost the guns previously recovered from the Japanese. Our forces retired to the position previously prepared on the Shakhe river."

Another dispatch from Gen. Kuropatkin, dated early this morning, says, regarding the fighting of October 12 and October 13, that the Russians on the right wing defended their advanced positions and also portions of the different main positions, particularly in the direction of Sialiuhday, until toward evening, when Kuropatkin ordered them to withdraw a short distance. In spite of the fact that the Japanese attacks were chiefly directed against these troops they held the ground to which they retired.

On the left wing after a very obstinate struggle the Russians occupied the rocky hills south of Bentsiaputze and near Bensihu, about eight miles north of Yentai, but the arrival of large Japanese reinforcements prevented them from profiting by this success, and as this body was separated from the rest of the troops Kuropatkin ordered it to retire.

BATTLE RAGED NIGHT AND DAY

Russian Correspondent Gives Graphic Description of Hard Fighting.

TERRIBLE SCENES OF WAR

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

SOUZATOUN, 12 Miles South of Mukden, Oct. 13.—(Delayed in transmission.)—A Russian correspondent telegraphs as follows:

"For over two days the battle raged ceaselessly. It was close to midnight of October 10, when the Japanese attempted to surprise and attack our frontal positions in the impenetrable darkness and hurled the full force of their battalions against our intrenchments. The darkness was split by the blaze of their rifles and the answering volleys of our own men. The attack never ceased for hours. We lay close, hugging the entrenchments with but few minutes' respite, every man's gun to his shoulder firing at the flashes until near dawn, when the evil-boding rifle fire ceased and even the distant batteries were silent. We watched the daylight break in bands of red and yellow. The clouds seemingly tinged with streaks of blood, hung over the silent valley, which might have been empty for all the signs of life it gave, while from the plain below us rose dark and silent hills like the silhouettes of tombstones through the half light. The fog thickened, covering low-lying places. Nothing could have better suited for today's duel between two races.

Began at Daylight.

"Day had hardly lightened the slope of the two-horned mountain, when our batteries began to cover it with shrapnel. Puffs of white smoke marked the landing of each shell. With one naked eye we could see the Japanese being shelled out of their trenches. First one, and then groups of three and four, black figures sprang into view, squatting down, running for cover or scurrying away among the rocks; but the shells followed them, tearing up the rocks. Japanese fell literally like wheat thrown by the hand of a sower.

"On the mountain beside the Buddhist temple our battery was working. Then another opened from the opposite side. The Japanese fled so quickly that the gunners could hardly follow them. Soon Japanese resourcefulness showed itself. They fired the big native village on the side of the two-horned mountain, rightly guessing that the wind from the east would carry the smoke toward us, making a screen for them and confusing the aim of our gunners.

"From 8 o'clock in the morning the fight raged. Along the whole line the infernal din of the rifle fire continued as on the previous day, but up to noon the Japanese batteries gave no sign of life. It developed that they were waiting to locate our positions before opening fire. Even after they commenced it was not so heavy as the previous day's bombardment.

Heavy Losses at Night.

"Far to the westward the Japanese are trying to work round our flank, but there we are safe and have sufficient forces to meet them. Two simultaneous turning movements are proceeding, theirs and ours.

"Reports of heavy losses during the night attack are coming in. The Tomsk regiment suffered terribly. Of the brilliant Tamboff regiment few remained. The troops fought like heroes throughout the hours of darkness and the morning found the most of them dead on the ground they had bravely defended. Those remaining continue to fight. In the big village before us the remnants of several regiments, after repelling attacks throughout the night, ensconsed themselves in the shelter of walls of houses prepared for a fresh day's work.

"The Japanese attack on Temple mountain, held by the Volonski regiment, began at 8:45 o'clock in the morning, but our batteries on each side kept them in view and repelled the attack. The attack was repeated at 10 o'clock, and finally at noon the general commanding ordered a retirement from the position, going to Shikhi. We had scarcely left the hill before it was covered with Japanese projectiles. At Shikhi we met Gen. Zalinsky, who had come to report. Then an aid galloped up with the news that the Japanese had driven us from the railroad on the west, but had not followed up the temporary advantage, stopping to cook their noonday meal. Late at night we caught them at a disadvantage and the Morshensk regiment paid them with interest for success of the morning.

"From our turning column on the left nothing has been heard. We are anxiously expecting news that it has reached its destination.

Bravery and Endurance.

"Our men are displaying the greatest bravery and endurance in the face of all obstacles. Guns have been dragged by hand up impossible mountains. In one narrow defile the Japanese rolled stones upon them. We could not take the pass, but men scaled the hillsides and took heights commanding the Japanese position after a stubborn fight.

"Our right has recovered itself. We have kept within touch of our turning column, so that strategically we have a decided advantage.

"In greatest contrast to the veteran regiments that participated in the battle of Liao-Yang, the new reserves from European Russia, in fresh uniforms and equipments, with faces untanned, and unworn by war, are watching, all energetic and determined. I cannot speak in detail of the behavior of individual regiments. The trans-Baikal regiments under Col. Cavrilieff is doing splendid work.

"The Japanese today landed an unexpected blow on our right flank and took two batteries, but we regained them. The whole of today was of a waiting character, we depending upon holding positions captured from the Japanese two days ago. It is impossible at present to judge of the situation, to do this we probably will have to wait some days. Our men still believe we shall achieve a final success.

"We are all wet to the skin. A thunderstorm of almost tropical character, swept down upon us last night and flooded the trenches. The sky was torn with bolts, heavier than those of any artillery. It is now 10 o'clock in the morning and the storm is increasing. The crash of thunder mingled with the roar of cannon and the whistle of bullets and shells make a glorious but terrible spectacle."

FOES SQUARELY FACE TO FACE

Russians Begin Retirement After a Bold Attack Lasting Twelve Days.

STORY OF SEVERE FIGHTING

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

HEADQUARTERS OF THE RUSSIAN WESTERN ARMY, Oct. 13, via Pekin, Oct. 14.—Siulintzu was safely held until this midnight, when all the wounded and the baggage had been removed. Contrary to former plans, the advance of the Japanese, which had been pushing up the Liao river as though with a determination to turn the Russian right flank, has now crossed the Hun river. The lines are in contact from the west to the east and the opposing armies are in a square frontal fight.

The most fierce and most important fighting which has taken place since the battle of Liao-Yang reached its height at noon today, when, after a bold attack, which lasted for three days, the Russians began a sagacious retirement from the positions they had held yesterday, and the Japanese by a strong central movement forced the Russian line five miles to the north. The battle reached a stage of unusual severity on that day along the railway and to the westward, culminating in the vicinity of Tousanpu.

By the evening of the 11th 600 wounded had reached the field hospital, situated at the Siulintzu railway station, 10 miles from the front. The battle was renewed at dawn today with terrific effect. The western army evidently is engaged in continuous small arm fighting. There can be heard the desultory breaking of shells along the foothills about five miles from the railway. To the westward there is a growing activity, and the smoke from the shells forms an almost impenetrable haze, with the operations of infantry. There was an entangled artillery duel in the vicinity of Tousanpu to the westward, in which during the day one regiment was caught by a serious fire and threatened with extinction within a few minutes.

Tousanpu wavered until noon, when the Japanese made good their occupation and Col. Stackovitch, who had made a magnificent stand for four days, after more than 20 of his officers had been put out of action, fell back before the terrible onslaught of the Japanese.

At 11 o'clock in the morning the battle reached a stage of severity three times as great as that of yesterday, solid masses of troops filling up the front.

GOVERNOR WELCOMES THE PEACE DELEGATES

Pennsylvania Was Founded on Their Principles Two Hundred Years Ago.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—The formal welcome on behalf of the city and state was extended to the visiting international peace delegates in Horticultural hall this evening before an audience of 2,000 representative men and women who applauded at the sentiments of universal brotherhood and international peace.

Gov. Pennypacker extended the welcome of the state, Mayor Weaver of the city and Prof. John C. Rolfe on behalf of the University of Pennsylvania.

The governor said in part:

"The colony was founded on the principle of peace. For seventy years it engaged in no warfare, not even with the savages who surrounded the settlement. It is, therefore, eminently fitting that Pennsylvania should give a greeting to these men and women, representing as they do most of the nations of Europe and endeavoring as they are to extend around the world those principles which were successful in Pennsylvania 200 years ago, when Penn founded this colony. It is with the confidence that your movement will finally be successful that I greet you on behalf of Pennsylvania."

LAWYERS FIGHT IN COURT; ONE IS SENT TO JAIL

Wild Panic During the Trial of a Case Before a Chicago Judge.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Attorney Robert E. Cantwell assaulted Assistant States Attorney Thomas Healy in Justice Caverly's court at Harrison street today, starting a wild panic in the court room. For five minutes the two maddened men struggled in a terrific fight, after Cantwell's first blow laid open the eye of the representative of the state.

Bailiffs fought to separate the men. Policemen rushed in to quell the riot. Men fought to escape and women screamed and climbed over the benches. Finally, after the combatants had been pulled apart, Cantwell was dragged to a cell.

"I'll report this to the bar association," declared Justice Caverly. "I will report this outrageous conduct in my court."

He sentenced Cantwell to prison for contempt. The assault by Cantwell was the result of bitter exchanges of words between the attorneys, in which Healy declared Cantwell should be in the penitentiary.

HEART OUT OF PLACE.

Had It Been in Normal Position Knife Thrust Would Have Surely Missed It.

"Samuel Brown's heart was not in the right place," said Dr. George H. McGeary of Braddock, shortly after noon yesterday, "or he would be living today, although he would have a serious wound in his chest."

Samuel Brown was the negro stabbed to death on Thursday evening at the boarding house of Walter Jackson in East Pittsburgh borough, by Julia Oller. Dr. George McGeary and Dr. Ira N. Fix yesterday conducted an autopsy under instructions from Coroner Jesse McGeary. It was found that Brown's heart was two inches above the normal position. The knife had penetrated it.

TOKYO IS CELEBRATING GREAT JAPANESE VICTORY

Reports Indicate Inevitable Success of the Mikado's Arms in Manchuria—Heavy Losses Inflicted on the Russians.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

TOKYO, Oct. 14.—Tokyo is celebrating another Japanese great victory. While complete success is not claimed, yet in the official reports from Manchuria they do indicate inevitable Japanese victory. They are supplemented by unofficial reports which declare that Kuropatkin has been beaten at every point; that his flanks have both been turned; that his retreat is fast degenerating into a rout and that the cutting off his communications behind Mukden, if not, indeed, before he reaches the Hun river, is practically inevitable.

It is admitted at headquarters that the Japanese losses have been extremely heavy, but not anywhere nearly so great as those inflicted on the Russians. No details as to the losses have as yet been received, but they probably will be greater than those at Liao-Yang, the fighting between large bodies of men having been longer and more continuous during the present engagement.

BELIEVE RUSSIAN DEFEAT DECISIVE

British Army Experts Think Greatest Loss of the War Has Been Inflicted.

INCOMPETENT LEADERSHIP

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, Oct. 14.—Late advices from Manchuria confirm the impression among British army experts that the Russian defeat at Yentai has been even more decisive than any they have suffered during the war, and that a greater loss has been inflicted than Russia has suffered in any battle since Borodino. It is not regarded, in fact, as unlikely that when the last shot has been fired that the casualties which will have to be reported to the czar will be greater than those inflicted by Napoleon in the famous battle which opened the way to Moscow.

The news as yet, say the experts, is not sufficiently definite to determine what the effect of the last week's fighting will be on the final outcome of the campaign. One high British officer expressed it, "Kuropatkin seems to have a combine of the qualities noted in the two American generals, McClellan and Bragg. He is a fine organizer, a first-rate tactician and a master hand at retreating. He may, therefore, be able to again save his army intact, retire far enough north to reorganize his shattered units, and live to fight another day. If he does, why the battle of Yentai will be no more decisive than that of Liao-Yang. We should know within the next two or three days the extent of the disaster to the Russian arms. One thing is certain, the morale of the Russian army must have suffered fearfully, and it will be a long time before the forces now engaged in fighting for life on the great Manchurian plain will be as effective against Japanese even as they have been."

The general impression among army men is that lack of competent leadership is at the bottom of the continued Russian reverses. It is pointed out that all the reports from impartial Japanese as well as Russian sources tell of the splendid bravery of the Russian soldiers. They have fought as intrepidly as has the enemy, and the fact that they are constantly beaten can only be attributed, say the experts, to the greater ability shown by the Japanese leaders.

Oyama, they say, seems to have the faculty of having his men just where they are needed and when they are needed. Opinion is divided as to whether or not Oyama will be able to prevent the Russian retreat. Indefinite news as to the position of the troops make the formation of an intelligent opinion on this point difficult.

TWELVE LIVES LOST ON WRECKED SCHOONER

Woman and Three Children Among Victims of Storm Off Massachusetts Coast.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHATHAM, MASS., Oct. 14.—A small part of the forward section of the hull and a slanting foremast stood as mute reminders tonight of the ocean tragedy enacted here last night, when the three-masted schooner Wentworth of Moncton, N. B., struck on Chatham bar during a raging northerly gale, and all on board perished in the terrific seas.

Of the 12 persons who were on board the stranded vessel not one reached the shore alive, although two bodies were rescued from the surf this morning, one of them that of a woman, believed to be the wife of the captain. With her three children she was accompanying her husband on a trip from Hillsboro, N. B., to Newark, N. J.

Little could be done in an effort to aid the crew of the disabled craft, as the Cape Cod life savers from two stations were unable to launch their surf boats in the tremendous seas.

The Wentworth was bound from Hillsboro, N. B., to Newark, N. J., with a cargo of plaster rock. On board, so far as known, were the captain, his wife and three children and a crew of seven men, as follows: Capt. Esau Priddle of St. John, N. B.; John Campbell, first mate; J. J. Godfrey, colored, boatswain; James S. Stewart, colored, steward; Edward Burnett, colored, seaman; John Johansen, seaman; John Dill, seamen; Thomas Pergerson, seaman.

GEN. KUROPATKIN FAILS UTTERLY

Russian Commander Is Driven Back in Confusion on Both Flanks.

MAKING FIGHT FOR HIS LIFE

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

SIN-MIN-TIN, Oct. 14.—Kuropatkin is now fighting for his life. The latest reports from the front indicate not only has his forward movement failed utterly all along the line, but that he has been driven back in confusion on both flanks, and the center has been pressed north almost to the Hun river and is in confusion. It has only been by sending in the greater part of his reserves that he has been saved from utter rout, and it may be this will be his fate yet.

The Russians have fought with most desperate valor, but have been outgeneraled by the Japanese, who seemed to have picked out with unerring accuracy the weak points in Kuropatkin's line, and driven home attacks where they were more likely to be successful, always with a preponderance of strength at the vital point. Not a single Japanese position has been taken since Oyama's outposts retired before the first Russian advance.

The fighting west of the railroad has been particularly severe during the recent stages of the engagement. The Russians here under Gen. Zaroubaieff have been repeatedly reinforced from the reserves, and from other portions of the Russian lines, in order to prevent Oku from forcing his way to the rear of the main Russian position, and, while up to this time the Japanese commander has not been able to completely turn the Russian flank, he is driving it rapidly in on the center, inflicting enormous losses, and capturing a number of guns. In addition to the 24 which he is reported to have taken up to yesterday, the fighting today has resulted, it is reported, in his taking almost as many more guns. Oku has shown the same disregard for the lives of his soldiers as he exhibited in the fighting around Liao-Yang, and his losses have also been awful.

Less is heard here of the operations on the center and on the Japanese right, but a rumor reaches here that a full division of Russians under Gen. Rennenkampff has been cut off and captured by Kuroki, and that he has accomplished practically the same result with the Russian left wing as has Oku with the right.

Mukden is jammed with wounded Russians and the railroad to the north is congested with hospital trains.

EPISCOPALIANS REJECT DIVORCE AMENDMENT

Attempt to Prevent Remarriage in the Denomination Defeated by 214 to 191.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—The house of deputies of the Episcopal general convention at the close of a four days' debate today rejected an amendment to the divorce canon, which sought to prevent the remarriage of divorced persons by clergymen of the denomination. While the house of bishops may yet act on the matter, it is certain that no change will be made by the present convention.

The present law of the church which has been in operation since 1859, allows the remarriage of the innocent party to a divorce granted for infidelity. At several conventions attempts have been made to repeal this law and when a vote was taken today by the house of deputies sitting as a committee of the whole, on the question of reporting the proposed amendment to the house itself, the amendment failed by a vote of 214 to 191, and this vote was regarded as representing the actual strength of the contending forces.

RUSSIA CALM IN FACE OF DEFEATS

Ambassador McCormick Says the Country is as Tranquil as Before the War.

TRADITIONS BEING UPROOTED

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Mr. McCormick, the American ambassador at St. Petersburg, sailed from Cherbourg for New York on the steamer Deutschland today. Before his departure, Mr. McCormick talked with a representative of the Associated Press concerning the general conditions in Russia. He said:

It is difficult for anyone not living in Russia to realize the complete calm prevailing, notwithstanding the tremendous struggle in which Russia is engaged. St. Petersburg has the same outward appearance as before the war. There is the same social gaiety and the theaters, cafes and other public resorts are flourishing, business is going on as usual and the people do not show any deep anxiety as to the progress or results of the war. I made a trip into the interior, where there was the same calm and absence of excitement. Here and there I saw those tragic incidents of warfare—mothers and wives weeping as sons and husbands were departing for the front. But there is no complaining, as the simple devotion of the people to their country leads them to be willing to give up members of the family to the cause. This calm is the complete confidence of the people in the government. There are some elements of agitation and opposition in Russia, as in other countries, but the great bulk of the people are devotedly loyal to the emperor and government and they have implicit confidence that the ruling powers will take the steps necessary to bring the war to a successful conclusion.

Asked concerning Russia's economic conditions, the ambassador said:

I see no evidence that the war is seriously affecting Russia's trade, business or finances. The war naturally disarranges and depresses some lines of business, but this condition prevails no more in Russia than it did in England during the Boer war.

Asked relative to the rumors of internal troubles in Russia, Ambassador McCormick said he had not observed any indication of serious unrest or agitation.

The appointment of Prince Svintopolk-Mirsky as minister of the interior in succession to M. Von Plehve, said Mr. McCormick, promises to exercise an important influence on Russian affairs, mainly toward moderating the severity of old Russian tradition. I had a long conversation with the new minister and was impressed with the force of his character and the liberality of his views. The choice of a man of such liberal tendencies is evidence of the emperor's desire to overcome the restraints of tradition and to give practical effect to a modern, enlightened policy.

Mr. McCormick expressed satisfaction with the recent action of the Russian government in referring the American communication relative to Jews to a commission, which was studying the subject. This was chiefly important as being a concession from the traditional policy, whereby Russia did not consider foreign observation relative to internal conditions.

RECORD FOR YEAR MADE IN STOCKS

About Million and Half in Shares Change Hands in Wall Street.

U. S. STEEL EXTREMELY ACTIVE

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 14.

Substantially 1,500,000 shares of stock changed hands during the five hours of business in Wall street today, and prices advanced rapidly, "cats and dogs" as well as the standard and meritorious properties participating in the movement.

The transactions of the day, 1,490,881 shares, establish the record for activity for the year to date. The previous high figure this year was 1,357,628 shares, on March 22. On October 4 and 5 the trading was almost to the March level, ranging around 1,300,000 shares. It was, however, rather in the strength of the market than in the volume of business that today's session was noteworthy. That public interest is increasing was shown, according to veteran brokers, by the fact that buyers did not appear to be discriminating and were buying shares in properties of highly problematical value, simply because they were cheap and someone had told them they were going up, and crowned with success the efforts of the manipulators, cliques and pools to draw the public into the market.

Among the noteworthy advances, with the sales, were the following:

Shares.	Property.	Advance.
48,000	Amalgamated Copper	1½
11,520	American Ice pfd.	3½
32,680	American Sugar pfd.	1⅝
23,500	Baltimore & Ohio	2
97,598	Brooklyn Rapid Transit	3
39,225	Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul	1½
3,300	Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic	2½
2,200	International Power	9
2,025	Kansas City Southern pfd.	2½
22,130	Louisville & Nashville	2½
2,720	National Enamelling & Stamping	2
163,410	Pennsylvania	1⅝
84,150	Peoples Gas	2
2,250	P., C., C. & St. L.	6
12,275	Pressed Steel Car	2½
4,000	Railway Steel Springs	2½
60,525	Rock Island Co.	1⅝
13,750	Rock Island Co. pfd.	2½
46,840	Southern Pacific	1⅜
81,250	Southern Railway	1½
11,345	Tennessee Coal	2½
85,050	Union Pacific	2½
113,824	United States Steel	1⅛
109,075	United States Steel pfd.	2½

The market closed very animated and at substantially the highest figures. The features of the day were unquestionably Brooklyn Rapid Transit, for which James R. Keene is held chiefly responsible, and in United States Steel, which was enormously active.

WHY YOU SHOULD VISIT THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The principal reason why a visit should be made to this greatest of Expositions is on account of its educational value. A visit to the World's Fair is in itself a trip around the world, for fifty cents, the price of admission. The president of one of our greatest universities has said: "To the bright student the Exposition is worth a thousand college lectures." The opportunity of a lifetime is afforded in which to acquire, by a few days' sojourn at the Fair, an education which could not otherwise be received. The World's Fair Grounds cover over 1,200 acres, being more than twice as large as those of the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago.

Only a few weeks remain in which to take advantage of this great opportunity. Every day from now until the close of the fair is a "special" day. The WABASH is selling daily excursion tickets to the Fair at greatly reduced rates, $12.00 St. Louis and return, on sale daily, except Fridays and Saturdays. Tickets good in Palace Reclining Chair Cars; $15.00, St. Louis and return. Tickets on sale daily, and good in either Palace Reclining Chair Cars or Pullman Sleepers. The WABASH operates through trains from Pittsburgh to the World's Fair Main Entrance, all trains leaving the magnificent new passenger station, corner of Liberty avenue and Ferry street, at 2:00 P. M. and 8:30 P. M. daily, city time.

Detailed information regarding rates and train service, to St. Louis, as well as to many Homeseekers' points in the West, Northwest and Southwest, cheerfully furnished at

INSTITUTE PLANS NOW COMPLETE

Distinguished Guests and Andrew Carnegie Reach This Country Next Week.

EXPERTS TO VISIT THIS CITY

Ten years since it last met in this country, the Iron and Steel Institute will assemble in New York city October 24, 25 and 26. The foreign members of the institute will arrive in New York next Friday, Saturday and Sunday, many of them having sailed on the Celtic yesterday with Andrew Carnegie, the president of the institute. The new Hotel Astor will be their headquarters during the three days' sessions in New York.

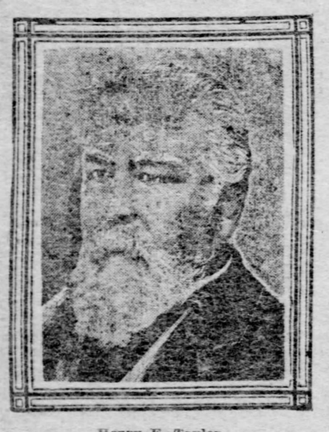
The Bessemer gold medal, as exclusively announced in The Gazette a week ago, will be conferred on Mr. Carnegie. Sir James Kitsom, Bart., M. P., past president, will make the presentation address. Other Americans having received the medal are John Fritz of Bethlehem, Pa., Peter Cooper and Abram Hewitt of New York, and Alexander Holley, a pioneer in the Bessemer steel manufacture and an eminent inventor and engineer.

During the meetings in New York James Gayley, formerly of this city, the vice president of the United States Steel Corporation, will present a paper on "A Dry Air Blast Apparatus."

Three Days in Pittsburgh.

After their stay in New York the visitors will go to Philadelphia to remain over Thursday and Friday, October 27 and 28. On Saturday, October 29, President Roosevelt will give a reception in their honor in Washington, where the visiting members will also spend Sunday. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 31, November 1 and 2, are the days which will be spent in Pittsburgh. Many of the members will then go on to Cleveland and St. Louis.

Julian Kennedy is in charge of the general local arrangements, C. W. Bray is chairman of the program committee and Alexander M. Jenkinson, chairman of the entertainment committee. The local members of the institute include



Henry F. Taylor.

T. J. Bray, Jr., G. H. Clapp, J. W. H. Evans, Julian Kennedy, George Lauder, C. W. Bray, John G. A. Leishman, William McConway, Camille Mercader, Thomas Morrison, H. F. J. Porter and G. I. Whitney.

The social affairs, given for the members of the institute and their wives, will be in charge of an entertainment committee. On Tuesday, November 1, a luncheon for 150 women will be given at the Country club and on the same evening there will be a large reception at the Hotel Schenley.

English Manufacturers Here.

Henry F. Taylor, one of the most prominent tin and iron manufacturers in England and Wales, arrived in Pittsburgh last night to make a visit to the various large industrial plants in Western Pennsylvania. Mr. Taylor arrived in America September 30, having come to attend the meeting of the Iron and Steel institute, and timeing his visit a month before it opens in order that he might inspect some of the great manufacturing centers which will not be included in the tour which has been arranged for the institute. He has been in Bethlehem inspecting the manufacture of armor plate and in other of the great iron plants of the east.

Mr. Taylor's manufacturing interests are centered in Neath, a suburb of Swansea, Wales. From his Briton Ferry foundry are exported iron and tin plate products to Europe, Australia, America and other parts of the world. The firm includes Mr. Taylor and his two sons, young men, both graduates from Eton, who are following in the footsteps of their father and their forefathers, who for generations have been interested in the manufacture of iron and tin plate.

The firm is the sole maker of the Taylor & Leyshan patent tinning machines, and products of its mills are used in roofing, lining and in all other directions in which tin plate is available. The raw material comes directly from the celebrated tin mines of Wales.

Mr. Taylor has a beautiful estate in Neath near the famous ruins of the abbey of Swansea, a large portion of which was destroyed and the remainder laid in ruins during the wars under Oliver Cromwell. He is an ardent motorist and when business permits makes tours of the picturesque regions of England and Wales. While in Pittsburgh Mr. Taylor will be the guest of his cousin, Mrs. Taylor, Fifth avenue and Neville street.

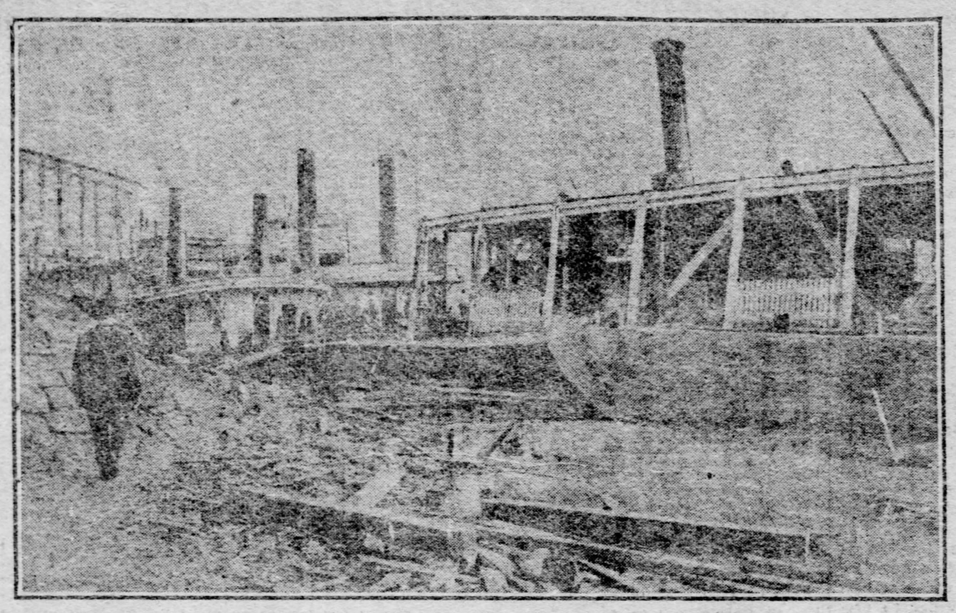
WILL DEDICATE CHURCH.

St. Mary's of Mt. Carmel Congregation Enters New Edifice Tomorrow.

The congregation of St. Mary's of Mount Carmel (Italian) Roman Catholic church, Braddock, will be dedicated tomorrow by the Rt. Rev. J. F. Regis Canevin, coadjutor bishop of the Pittsburgh diocese. The building was bought a month ago from the First Methodist Protestant church of Braddock. The structure cost $14,000 and was built 13 years ago. It is expected that Bishop Richard Phelan will be present.

A big parade will be the feature of the afternoon celebration. Bands and societies from all parts of the county will take part. The church has been handsomely refitted at an additional cost of several thousand dollars.

RAISING THE STEAMER MAYFLOWER



Hundreds of curious travelers stood for hours yesterday along the Monongahela wharf and the railing of the Smithfield street bridge and watched the wrecking crew at work on the hull of the steamer Mayflower. The pumping out and raising of the sunken wreck was the speediest job on record for the Pittsburgh harbor, and the task made a most interesting spectacle.

Capt. John F. Kline of the Mayflower is superintending the work of wrecking the big boat. He had intended taking her to the marine ways at Elizabeth, but, owing to the crowded condition of the ways, decided to take her to the Manchester docks of the Jutte company. She will be towed down here this morning, the raising having been successfully accomplished by 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The building of bulkheads in the hull commenced Thursday morning, and it was supposed the boat would be ready to float by Monday or Tuesday. Capt. Kline did not consider this speedy enough, and decided to surround her with pump boats and get the water out of her quickly. They started yesterday morning, and by noon the hull was slowly rising from the river bottom. At 3 o'clock she was clear of water, and this morning will be ready to be taken below. The hull is in excellent shape and only sank because her hog-chains burned in two and let her hatches under water.

ONE-HORNED BULL KILLED A WOMAN

Pierced His Victim's Heart and Then Trampled Her Unconscious Body.

HARD FIGHT WITH RESCUERS

Mrs. Wilhelmina Masur was gored to death by a one-horned bull in the stable at the rear of her home, Central avenue, Allegheny, yesterday. After driving his horn into the woman's side, the bull trampled his victim, and was only driven off by the prongs of a pitchfork being stuck into his neck. The woman died shortly after she was rescued.

Mrs. Masur and her husband, John, who is janitor in a downtown building, keep a small dairy in Central avenue. They have five cows. About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon the bull got out of the stable. The woman drove the animal to his stall and was trying to fasten a chain about his neck when he turned on her, pinning her against the side of the stall with his one horn. The woman fell to the floor. With the blood from the woman's side trickling off his horn and down his face, the bull bellowed and, rearing up, came down repeatedly upon his victim's body with his entire weight.

William Bastin, a neighbor, heard the bellowing of the bull and went to the stable to investigate. Finding the woman under the bull's feet, he got a pitchfork and started to stab the animal in the side. The bull was so enraged he paid no attention to the pricks of the fork, and Bastin jabbed the prongs into his neck and face. John Tottenger and Alfred Thornberry went to Bastin's assistance. Tottenger armed himself with a pitchfork and Thornberry with a stable shovel, and they succeeded in driving the bull from his victim. The animal was chased into the yard and Mrs. Masur was taken to the house.

The woman was unconscious and Dr. R. A. Gilliford was summoned. Before he arrived the woman was dead. The physician said the animal's horn had pierced her heart. The woman's chest was crushed and her abdomen had been torn by the animal's feet. Mrs. Masur had often driven the bull into his stall, as the animal had never displayed any temper. She was aged 45 and the mother of six children.

SOTHERN'S NEW OPHELIA WAS CORDIALLY RECEIVED

Fine Audience at the Nixon Theater Saw Pittsburgh Debut of Julia Marlowe in Hamlet.

Pittsburgh theatergoers have now seen Julia Marlowe in every role she has essayed since her stellar career except Prince Hal in "Henry IV." Last night was a cardinal date in local theatricals because it revealed to lovers of Shakespearean drama all the gentle graces of Miss Marlowe's Ophelia. E. H. Sothern's Hamlet was seen by Pittsburghers two years ago, when people went to the old Alvin in skiffs and sat in a flood-bound theater while they marveled at the art displayed by their favorite star in his new part. Then they voted it a bit somber. Last night at the Nixon they saw him with a new Ophelia—a girlish Ophelia who acts less than Cecelia Loftus, but whose magnetism has an irresistible hold upon the audience.

Mr. Sothern is still the same "melancholy Dane," with a little more than the usual accent on the "melancholy," if you please. His Hamlet is a man who has every apparent designing method in his madness. In the ghost scene he has introduced some most effective "business" and his exit at the close of the first act is a masterpiece of the sublime eloquence of mute speech. Miss Marlowe is received with enthusiasm. With her acquaintance with the heroines of the divine bard it would be impossible for her to be disappointing. As Ophelia her opportunities are minimized and as joint star she sacrifices much for the glory of Mr. Sothern, but her art loses nothing in this novel character. Her most enthusiastic admirers would not be able to say more in praise of Julia Marlowe. The supporting company is in need of rehearseal and it was a pity to hear a Polonius as W. H. Crompton stumble at times through lines familiar to every schoolboy. The play is most effectively staged and was seen last night by an audience that filled every available spot of standing room.

Mayor Wyman Investigates.

Mayor James G. Wyman of Allegheny and Alexander Bennie, superintendent of the bureau of water, yesterday afternoon conducted an investigation into the trouble at Montrose pumping station, that resulted in a fight last Monday between Chief Engineer Henry Brehm and his assistant, John Shaw. The two had some trouble and are said to have engaged in a battle with their fists. A decision in the case will be rendered by the mayor next Monday. In the meantime both men are under suspension.

the Col. James E. McNary medal, for the non-commissioned staff of the Eighteenth regiment, was won by Regimental Quartermaster Sergeant Frank Steel, with a score of 68 out of a possible 90. The third event, regulation rifle, 200, 500 and 600 yards, open to enlisted men of the Fourteenth and Eighteenth, was won by Private John W. Hessian, Company C, Eighteenth regiment.

Corpl. William Hay of the Fourteenth was not up to his usual form and was unable to make a third consecutive "win," which would have entitled him to the permanent ownership of the medal.

SUMMER HOTEL MAY BE LOCATED AT OHIOPYLE

Negotiations are said to be pending between James Riley, proprietor of Hotel Schenley, and a number of local capitalists for the Stewart heirs' property at Ohiopyle near the falls. The property is an extensive one and was visited by Mr. Riley and party last week while seeking a site to locate a magnificant summer hotel, the details of which were told exclusively in The Gazette Thursday morning.

Elect Teacher for Night School.

A special meeting of the Eighteenth ward school board was held last evening to elect teachers for the three months' term of night school, which begins October 31. Miss Katherine Hays, assistant principal of the McCandless school, was elected principal, and Miss Teresa Conlin and Prof. Link, were elected teachers at salaries of $50 a month. Last year the attendance was over 80; this year it will be over 100.

HE DIED WHILE NURSING BABY

Holding Little One on Knee, Allegheny German Sends Bullets Into Brain.

LOST MONEY AND WORRIED

While nursing an 18-month-old child last night Charles T. Ebert, aged 24, put two bullets through his head, at the home of Frank P. Ward, 241 East Jefferson street, Allegheny. The man died a short time later at the Allegheny General hospital without regaining consciousness. The only motive advanced is that Ebert, who was a German, had lost some money recently and had been brooding over it. So far as is known none of his relatives live in this vicinity.

For several months Ebert had boarded with the Ward family. He was a journeyman blacksmith and worked steadily. After eating dinner with the family last evening he went to the kitchen, and while talking with Mrs. Ward nursed the infant daughter. Once he mentioned his financial trouble and intimated that he would like to settle it all. Mrs. Ward left the room to go to another part of the house, and almost as soon as her back was turned she was startled by the report of two shots.

Running back to the kitchen, she found the baby lying in Ebert's lap. A call was sent to the Allegheny General hospital, and Ebert died a few minutes after arriving there.

Officials at the morgue learned yesterday of the manner in which Phillip Fazzelli, a young Italian who died at Homeopathic hospital, met his death. Word was received from Shousetown, near where the man worked, that while handling a revolver the weapon dropped to the ground and was discharged, the bullet entering his stomach.

Robert Swan, a carpenter, aged 60, was found dead in his room at 13 Fourth street yesterday morning. Heart disease was the cause.

Charles Allen, aged 70, of Idlewood, fell from a bridge over the Pittsburgh, Chartiers & Youghiogheny tracks at Damascus street, Carnegie, yesterday afternoon, and was almost instantly killed.

The body of Patrick Henry Finacune, who fell from the Point bridge last Tuesday, was found in the Monongahela river near that place last night. The man had been trying to sell some tickets to the iron workers for a raffle for the benefit of a widow of a structural iron worker who had recently been killed on a railroad. In walking among the floor beams he lost his balance and fell into the river. He was 26 years old and lived in Cresson street.

FINAL DISTRIBUTION.

Stockholders of Defunct Association Will Get 85 Per Cent of Deposits.

A final distribution of about 30 per cent is to be made to the stockholders of the defunct Fifth Avenue Savings and Loan association of McKeesport, by the Mercantile Trust Company of Pittsburgh, in whose hands the care of the funds has been given. It is said instructions have been received by the company to prepare for a public sale of the property remaining, which will amount to about $20,000.

The cash on hand amounts to about $70,000. One distribution of funds has been made, amounting to about 55 per cent, making the total realized by the stockholders about 85 per cent of the whole. The order for the sale of the property will be requested through the Dauphin county courts, which must adjudicate the settlement.

Missionaries Will Speak.

The twelfth annual rally of the junior missionary societies of the Allegheny and Monongahela presbyteries will be held in the Sixth United Presbyterian church, Chartiers and Franklin streets, Allegheny, today at 11 a. m. and 1:30 p. m. The program will include exercises by the juniors and addresses by returned missionaries, Miss Emma Dean Anderson of India and Miss Cora B. Dickey of Egypt.

Boys' Clothes That Are Built for a Career of Hardship.

When Billy was a little kid
Upon the banister he slid;
His Mamma let him slide all day—
His clothes would stand that kind of play.

A boy and "easy" on his clothes! Impossible! Tell the "fellows" any such unbelievable fact of one of their number and straightway they'd name him "Sissy." Don't spoil the chap's fun because his clothes won't stand the wear and tear of boyish pranks. He'll only be a boy once, and he has all of life before him in which to "be careful." Buy him clothes, such as we handle, that are strong to toughness in fabric. Coats and Trousers and Topcoats sewed so thoroughly that seams can't rip even under the stress of a "rough and tumble" or youthful "boxing bout." You like him to look stylish, you say? Why, certainly, and so do we. Our tailors know how to put style as well as durability into boys' clothing, and we demand it in every case.

Double-Breasted Suits, in nobby Scotch mixtures and other rough surface woolens, $4.00 to $14.00.

Norfolks—shown in a large variety of fashionable materials, straight or knickerbocker trousers, $5.00 to $14.00.

Ask to see the Joseph Horne special suit for $5.00. Shown in stylish fancy cheviots. Double breasted and with an extra pair of trousers. We venture to say $5.00 never bought a better suit, any time or anywhere.

Overcoats—made with belted back, plain and reefer lengths, an unusually large selection of fancy materials to choose from, $7.50 and up to $18.00.

Other styles, in fact an unlimited number, at $5.00, $6.00, $7.00, $7.50, $8.00 and $9.00. Reefers in chinchilla, cheviots and fancy Scotch effects, $5.00 to $10.00.

Misses' and Children's Shoes.

We would like the parents of Greater Pittsburg to allow us to show them the most complete line of Misses' and Children's Shoes that was ever gathered together. There are shoes suitable for all feet, toes and lasts of every kind, shoes that will stand the hardest kind of wear, and shoes for all dress occasions. We have studied the question of growing feet from every side, and know what they require.

Prices, when the quality of the shoes we sell is taken into consideration, are very reasonable, indeed.

Misses' Calfskin Shoes for general wear, stout welt soles. Sizes 11½ to 2. $2.75.

Children's Shoes in patent leather and kidskin, welt or turn soles. $2.00 to $2.50.

Children's Shoes—turn or welt soles, sizes 5 to 11. $1.25 to $2.50.

Boys' Calf Shoes—welt soles—extra good for hard service. $2.50.

Boys' Patent Leather Dress Shoes, button or lace, very stylish. $3.00 and $3.50.

SPECIAL TODAY, SATURDAY—Boys' box calf shoes, solid as a rock, good looking as well, sizes 1 to 5½. $2.50 quality for $2.00.

Eyeglasses—Becoming as Well as Helpful.

Many people refuse to wear glasses when they really need them, because they do not consider them becoming. Now this is a fallacy. A proper study of the features will show there are becoming glasses for every face. It is merely a matter of selecting frames that are suitable to the features. We would be pleased to have people who have had trouble in getting suited in this respect to come to our Optical Department and see what we can do for them.

Today $7.00 grade heavy Gold Spectacles for $5.00.

$1.00 Nickel Eyeglasses, 50c.

$1.00 steel straight temple Spectacles, good spherical lenses, 50c.

Saturday, October 15, 1904.

The popular response to the proposition to add two stories to the court house gives gratifying proof that the artistic culture of Allegheny county is not a mere fiction. The protest against marring Architect Richardson's noble design has been prompt and vigorous from all ranks of the people. The court house is appreciated by the whole people as a thing of beauty and few are willing to have it spoiled to secure some small economy in the cost of providing additional room for the transaction of county business.

It would be an advantage to Controller Larkin if he could be made to understand that you weaken your whole case when you join weak arguments to a strong one. He has solid grounds of opposition to the way in which it is proposed to make the new bond issue, but there is some danger that he will make the public think that his position there is no stronger than in some of the petty contentions he rakes up and which appear upon investigation to be rather frivolous.

After a heated discussion lasting through the week in the Protestant Episcopal general convention at Boston, the committee has reported a resolution favoring canonical prohibition of the remarriage of divorced persons. This is a severe remedy for the restraint of the growing divorce evil, being especially harsh in its application to the innocent party in divorce. During the debate a number of well-known clergymen and several bishops declared it unjust to forbid the innocent party to remarry, but a majority of the committee appears to think the possible wrong in that direction is overshadowed by the duty of the church to discourage to the utmost the tendency to dissolve marriage ties.

Aside from the probability that the demand of the teachers will result in securing for them more adequate compensation, it has had the good effect of concentrating public attention upon the schools and school system. Thus two benefits are obtained at once. Popular sentiment is opposed to political interference with school affairs. The agitation for higher salaries for the teachers has called attention to the fact that their employment and advancement is sometimes affected by politics. The people are willing to pay the higher salaries as in the best interest of the schools, but while assenting to the increased pay they make the counter demand that the schools shall be freed from favoritism and that they be given full value for their money.

Gen. Kuropatkin appears to have smashed his army to pieces upon the Japanese lines of defense and fragmentary reports indicate that the Russian retreat now going on is much more of a rout than has been the case after any previous defeat. The forces engaged were larger upon both sides than in the battle of Liao-Yang, and it is admitted that the Russians have met with heavy losses both in men and material. There is a state of acute anxiety in St. Petersburg over the news, as it is fully realized that Gen. Kuropatkin has sustained a disastrous defeat in a battle of his own choosing. The Japanese pursuit appears to be more energetic than ever before, and if the disorganization of the Russian army is as great as the current dispatches indicate the evacuation of Mukden may be an immediate consequence, the Russians falling back upon the strong defensive position at Tieling, which is a natural point of concentration.

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, rather gives away a purpose which Russia has concealed when he says that the war will be carried on until it puts "an end to the pretensions of Japan on the shores of the Asiatic continent." This is just what Japan has all along perceived to be the real purpose of Russian maneuvers in Manchuria and Korea, although Russia was meanwhile pretending that her occupation of Manchuria was simply temporary and that she would retire just as fast as Chinese authority could assume the responsibility of maintaining order; and that her intrusion into Korea was merely an incident of a timber cutting franchise and involved no designs upon that country. The admission now made by Count Cassini disposes of the claim that Japan dealt a treacherous blow in attacking Port Arthur. She was hitting back against Russia's policy of aggression, which contemplated the destruction of the continental interests of Japan which were the growth of centuries. If Japan could have secured at the hands of Russia the consideration for these interests to which she was entitled, the war would not have taken place and Russia would not have been involved in a struggle in which she is bound to loose in any event. While her energies are absorbed by it much may take place in the readjustment of European interests and she will not be in it.

Ex-Secretary Olney's Speech.

Ex-Secretary Olney is another one of the Democratic orators who speaks without proper due regard to his own candidate's position. In his speech in New York city last night Mr. Olney censured the Republican party for not providing more coercive statutory control of the trusts, forgetful of the fact that Judge Parker holds that no statutory control of any kind is necessary, since "the common law as developed affords a complete legal remedy against monopolies."

But in general Mr. Olney's address must be pronounced to be by far the ablest utterance which has appeared on the Democratic side during the campaign. The style is clear, concise and powerful and the penetrating quality of the criticism raises the address far above the ordinary level of campaign discussion and gives it permanent value. But that value is due to the fact that the ideas are those of a thoughtful publicist, and the manifest weakness of the address is that there is absolutely no argument to show that the defects alleged would be in any way corrected or even touched by a Democratic success.

The truth of the matter is that Mr. Olney is not in accord with his party. He was opposed to our renunciation of Cuba and is a believer in the right and duty of the United States to assume the responsibilities of a world power. In fact, there could hardly be a stronger justification of Republican policy in external affairs than his article on the "Growth of Our Foreign Policy" in the Atlantic Monthly for March, 1900. The patriotic sentiments therein expressed are now modified to suit campaign exigencies, but even now he does not indulge in the rot about imperialism. Neither does he dwell upon the charge of executive usurpation. That would have been too awkward coming from a man who as secretary of state told the senate that it would not make any difference even should congress unanimously recognize Cuban independence since the president would be the judge of that.

The address is an argument in favor of a change and is thus only by implication a Democratic plea. No reference is made to the Democratic platform and the Democratic ticket comes in for a mention only at the tail end of the discourse.

More Dirty Politics.

Oddly enough, the latest Democratic campaign trick is associated with Republican Pennsylvania. It is not designed to affect the result in this state, but is being used to influence votes in New York, Indiana and other so-called doubtful states. In brief, the scheme comprises the circulation of a number of documents setting forth that the Republican party is antagonistic to organized labor and citing by way of proof the alleged fact that non-union labor is employed in the construction of the Pennsylvania state capitol at Harrisburg.

This is dirty politics on a par with the personal vituperation of Candidate Parker's next friend, David Bennett Hill. It has no more foundation in fact than the personal assaults upon the president by Hill, who has the sanction for his tirades of the presence in person of the Democratic candidate for vice president. It will probably have the same reactionary effect, because its malicious falsity will become apparent before the voting is done in November.

These circulars pretend to have been issued by central labor bodies in the states where they are circulated. One of them declares the Republican party is "an enemy to union labor, union conditions and union hours;" that it "is in favor of low wages, long hours, the open-shop and the sweat-shop," and it calls on organized labor to "boycott the Republican party as effectively as the Republican party is boycotting the union men." A more irrational document could hardly be conceived. It is of the same piece as the recently exposed forgery of a letter purporting to have been written by President Roosevelt to President Donnelly of the Meat Cutters' union. No doubt it has the same origin as that criminal production.

The Republican party stands emphatically for that protection of American industry that enables the payment of better wages to American labor than are paid in any other country. The Democratic party stands for the opposite policy, declaring that "protection is robbery." The Republican party stands for the payment of the wages of labor in a currency that represents full value, while the Democratic party is so divided in its money views that it does not know its own mind. The Republican party favors the employment of labor on public and private works, while the Democratic party rails against the increased cost of government, representing mainly increased payments to labor in various fields of effort. Moreover, labor has been more fully employed and at higher wages during the past eight years than ever before, a condition in sharp contrast with the low wages, lack of employment and general hardship endured during the last Democratic administration. Can any laboring man compare the administration of Theodore Roosevelt with that of Grover Cleveland and have any doubt which has been best for him?

Cost of State Constabulary.

The robbery of the postoffice at Berwyn, a suburb of Philadelphia, noted in these columns some days ago, is the latest of a series in that section. Several railroad stations on the Pennsylvania main line had suffered previously and the people are now discussing means of protection. Among other means they are considering a state constabulary, which is the rational thing. Some of the Philadelphia papers, however, assume that the state cannot afford or will not employ a sufficient force for this purpose, taking it for granted that state police implies enormous expense. This view is wide of the mark. It is not proposed to station a policeman on every mile of public highway, after the manner of having one upon each city block.

Suppose we assume that there are 100 burglars in the state of Pennsylvania who follow that nefarious business. As a matter of fact thieves are a variable and shifting quantity, but we take a number representing a fair average. If there are 100 burglars who do nothing but rob the citizens of this state, then the state maintains a force of 100 burglars. If it shall assume the expense of maintaining a force of 100 policemen, constables or detectives the cost will be doubled, say for the first year. By the end of the year, with one energetic officer after each thief, the state should be pretty well rid of them, or should have them in the penitentiaries, where it costs less to keep them than it costs when they are at large, spending their ill-gotten gains in riotous living.

It is true, as a Philadelphia contemporary says, that the people must bear the cost of this protection. No matter who pays for it in the first instance, the bills come ultimately to the plain people. But this is no more true than that the losses of citizens suffered at the hands of burglars and highway men are also paid by the people. When a citizen insures his dwelling against fire he knows that if it does not burn down he will be helping to pay the losses of those who are less fortunate than himself, and at the same time his proportionate share of the cost of administration, including probable dividends to the shareholders of the company. He pays because the protection is worth the rate. He cannot afford to be without it. Protection against burglars and highwaymen is even more important, because his person, as well as his property, is in jeopardy when these marauders visit him.

It is a presumption in law—and a logical one—that a man who breaks into a dwelling or place of business for the purpose of robbery is prepared to commit murder to prevent capture and punishment. For that reason the law justifies a citizen in killing such a man—it is an act of self-defense. How much more important it is then to the citizens to have protection against burglars than against fire. In this view of the matter the state can certainly afford to employ the necessary police, for the people can afford to pay for the protection.

There are not so many criminals as one might suppose from the number of crimes. One man will commit a number of burglaries in the course of a year. One highwayman will terrorize a whole neighborhood if industrious. An ordinary robbery will not yield a month's expenses for a dissolute dog and many a hold-up is rewarded with less than a $5 note. But the victim may have his skull fractured just the same. It will not cost the state of Pennsylvania $1,000,000 a year to put in the field two officers for every burglar and highwayman within its borders. A force of 500 men, honest, energetic, ordinarily intelligent and untrammeled by local lines, in pursuit of criminals would soon make it dangerous for anyone to commit crime in this state. The criminal element would prefer other territory to operate in.

The Business Situation.

With possibly one exception, all the sentimental and real developments of the week were of an encouraging character. First was the government crop reports. Last month some very pessimistic estimates were made by unofficial experts who attempted to forecast the government's figures. The latter indicated a yield of wheat amounting to 551,000,000 bushels, which was an improvement over the September figures and an increase of at least 40,000,000 bushels over some of the trade estimates. The indicated yield of corn was 2,463,000,000 bushels, which compares with unofficial estimates of 2,000,000,000 bushels. The indicated yield of oats has been exceeded but once in our history. The cotton crop is also largely above the average. The decline in the market value of commodities is evidence that the trade accepts the government's figures as approximately correct, and the buoyancy in the stocks of railroads traversing the agricultural sections is additional evidence of confidence in the continued prosperity of the farming classes. In fact the government crop report was directly responsible for strengthening the growing optimism in general business circles.

The second group of statistics which produced a good effect was that bearing upon the iron trade. The output of pig iron for September was 185,000 tons larger than August and 246,000 tons larger than July, and at the same time there was a reduction of 75,000 tons in furnace stocks, indicating that consumption was still in excess of production. The securities of all the iron and steel companies rose this week to the highest level of the year, reflecting the better feeling that prevails in this important industry. There was also improvement in other branches of trade dependent for their prosperity on the condition of the iron market.

The third important statement was that issued by the bureau of statistics relating to our foreign trade. The value of our exports of breadstuffs, cotton, provisions and oils for Sepetember was $72,526,000, which compared with only $32,209,000 in August and $59,733,000 for the corresponding month last year. The relatively high prices for breadstuffs and provisions have curtailed our trade with foreign consumers, but the loss here has been more than made good by our enormous exports of cotton, which last month were valued at more than double the total for the same month last year. Thus the great diversity of our products has again aided us in maintaining a favorable balance on our foreign commerce.

The one exception noted related to developments in foreign financial circles. The Imperial Bank of Germany unexpectedly raised its rate of discount from 4 per cent to 5 per cent, the effect of which was to stiffen rates all over the continent. It has not yet been disclosed whether this action was due to any impending changes in business affairs in Germany or whether it foreshadows a new government loan by Russia. When foreign government bank rates are suddenly advanced it usually presages disturbance in financial or political circles, although in this respect the Bank of England is a better barometer than any on the continent. If the cause in the present instance should prove serious, the only effect here would be to curtail foreign investments in our securities because of more profitable terms to be obtained by foreigners in their own market. It might also lead to sales of our securities held abroad for the purpose of temporarily taking capital home for investment, and it might possibly obstruct an otherwise natural flow of gold to New York. The incident, however, had only a momentary effect upon the New York money market, and had no effect whatever upon the stock market, which maintained its buoyancy and continued to advance throughout the week.

Without quarreling over the divergence of a few millions of bushels in the corn crop estimates, there will be enough in any case to make fat pork to go with the beans.

No more baseball in Pittsburgh for this season. The stage must be cleared for the football rooter.

Farewell to the archbishop of Canterbury. He left a lively discussion behind him.

Talked of in Gotham

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The listing of a million-dollar charitable association on the stock exchange is one of the latest phases of New York life. The securities listed are $1,000,000 in bonds of the Provident Loan society of New York. This is a pawnbrokers' company, the only one whose securities have been listed by the exchange. The object of the society, which began business 10 years ago and has 83 members and outstanding loans of $2,843,903, is to aid such persons as it shall deem in need of pecuniary assistance by loans of money at low interest upon the pledge or mortgage of personal property. This society, therefore, does what the ordinary pawnbroker does—makes loans on personal property. The extent of its business is indicated by the amount of its loans and by the fact that in the first six months of this year it earned $165,867. The peculiar interest of this listing lies in the fact that it introduces into the market the bonds of a benevolent society. It owes its origin to the philanthropic enterprise of St. Bartholomew's church, under the rectorship of the Rev. Dr. Greer, who is now assistant bishop. Dr. Greer is still a trustee of the society. This society is an outcome of the modern discovery that charity can be made to "pay" in a double sense. In other words, it can be dispensed without hopelessly pauperizing those aided and at the same time be self-supporting. Thus Dr. Greer, desiring to aid the poor in his parish by securing for them loans on personal property, at fair rates and under equitable conditions, started the philanthropy which has resulted in this society, and it is discovered that the philanthropy can be made to pay, so that its bonds are placed on the stock exchange list.

Cold Weather and Charity.

The coming of winter brings great demands upon the charitable people of the city. One of the features is the "Five Point Mission's harvest," which is now in progress, and the mission in Park street has received its annual quota of produce from Long Island towns. Once a year appeals are made all over the state for supplies for the school, run in conjunction with the mission, and to further the work the railroads set aside a day on which they will express the goods at minimum charge. On Wednesday the Long Island railroad had its day. Before sunrise the charitable farmers had their teams hitched up and their precious burdens safely deposited on the platform of the stations, where they awaited the coming of the train. There were not only bags and barrels filled with potatoes and apples, but accompanying each were huge, bulky bundles containing clothing and shoes for some destitute one in the city. From other points the "harvest" continues, and the "Five Point Mission" will soon be well supplied.

Use Found for Old Evening Suits.

"What becomes of the old dress clothes?" has been almost as much of a problem as "where do flies go in winter?" The New York Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor has settled the matter by asking that all discarded evening clothes for men be sent to their rooms. The association appeals annually for discarded clothing, but this is the first year that dress things have been included in the list. The explanation is easy, however. The evening togs that have been worn at the feast are wanted to adorn the servers of future feasts. The association has among its proteges many poor men who could earn money as waiters if they only had the proper toggery, therefore the request that was issued today. And in thus solving a great problem the association has earned our undying gratitude—as well as our castoff swallow tails.

Children's Charities Are Numerous.

In a great city like New York the number of children to be looked after by charitable institutions is almost appalling, and particularly is the heart touched at sight of the maimed. One of the chief charities in the city is the association that looks after crippled children, and the president, Mrs. A. L. Erlanger, has just been empowered to purchase the property, No. 141 West Sixty-first street, for a home for the sum of $20,000. The home will be opened about the end of October or early in November. It was originally intended to open the home with a bazar, but it has since been thought that this might interfere with the dedication. Mr. and Mrs. Sam Nixon of Philadelphia have donated a room for girls; Messrs. B. F. Keith and Edward F. Albee a room for boys; Mrs. John Hemmingway Duncan will give the matron's room and Mrs. A. L. Erlanger will take care of the parlor and front windows. There are still to be furnished other rooms for the children—the dining room, kitchen and servants' bedrooms—but the money will soon come for these.

Loses Her "Surprise" by Death.

Intending to surprise his wife by telling her he had saved enough money to buy a piano, Charles Puff of Jersey City arrived home early today, only to find that his bride had committed suicide by inhaling gas. Puff had been working until late at night, and his wife greatly objected to it. The man did not tell her that it was his intention of working overtime in order to save enough to buy a piano, and Mrs. Puff thought he had become tired of her. She was very despondent yesterday, and last night she lay down on a lounge, fully dressed, and placed the gas tube in her mouth.

The Quiet Observer.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

A district school, not far away,
Mid Berkshire hills, one winter's day,
Was humming with its wonted noise
Of three-score mingled girls and boys;
Some few upon their tasks intent,
But more on furtive mischief bent.

The while the master's downward look
Was fastened on a copy-book,
When suddenly, behind his back,
Rose sharp and clear a rousing smack!
As 'twere a battery of bliss
Let off in one tremendous kiss.

* * * * *

"'Twas she, herself, sir," sobbed the lad;
"I did not mean to be so bad;
But when Susannah shook her curls,
And whispered I was 'fraid of girls,
And durstn't kiss a baby's doll,
I couldn't stand it, sir, at all,
But up and kissed her on the spot!
I know—boo-hoo—I ought to not,
But, somehow, from her looks—boo-hoo—
I thought she kind o' wished me to.
—Normal Fifth Reader.

Would you have licked that boy?

He knew it was against the rule to kiss a girl in school, but rule or no rule he kissed her, all right.

Wouldn't you have done the same?

The author of this poem, William Pitt Palmer, may have been that same boy, or it might have been any other well constructed boy—your boy, for instance.

And it may have occurred in a school up in the Berkshire hills, but just as likely down among our Greene county hills, for they have boys down there who do just such tricks, but lack the poets to write them up. Or have such affairs become so common that they are not thought to be worth a line?

Wonder if the master licked that boy?

The author refrained from telling that part, and it is well that he did, for it would have spoiled the story.

In all such cases we would rather be allowed to try the culprit ourselves and sentence him in accordance with our own feelings.

What shall the sentence be?

The fact that there is a rule against it doesn't matter much, for it doesn't require the services of a Philadelphia lawyer to find out how to get around school rules.

* * * * *

The country school is a great institution, greater than most people imagine, and really than country people believe or know.

A leading feature of county and district institutes should be to teach the people what they have, as well as how to develop it.

If we may judge by the neglected, desolate and forlorn condition of the average country school house, one of the first courses of instruction should relate particularly to the care of school grounds.

To convert these into real beauty spots would cost very little in money and labor, while the results would be of inestimable value. Instead of being overgrown with weeds and useless bushes they should be converted into gardens after the style of country stations on some of the leading railways.

This would tend to develop in pupils a taste for the beautiful; besides they would learn how to lay out and maintain gardens at their homes. A well kept front yard, lawn and garden adds several dollars to the value of a farm.

While the increased value of farms is a matter worth considering, it will be a trifle as compared with the development of refined tastes and a love for the beautiful in the hearts of the people.

Beautiful people are so because they admire and can appreciate the beautiful.

* * * * *

The school house is much older than it seems. Indeed, it is about the oldest institution extant. And from records recently discovered it appears to have been one of the bulwarks of the great nations of the east long enough before our continent was known, or even dreamed of.

Following is an interesting scrap of school history which was but recently brought to light:

Schiel, the French archaeologist, has unearthed, in the ruins of a Babylonian town of Sippara, a perfect schoolroom with all the materials for writing and instruction. Lessons were taught and learned in this Babylonian schoolroom 4,000 years ago, much in the same manner as they are today. Where Sippara once stood is now only a mound of earth covered with potsherds, but beneath the surface Schiel has found bits of walls and remnants of houses and public buildings. The most interesting find, however, was that of a school located in a house opposite the temple. Clay tablets, the predecessors of our modern slates, are abundant. One tablet bore the inscription: "He who distinguishes himself in the school of writing will shine even as the sun."

The school house contained seven rooms, one being filled with clay tablets arranged in regular order. Most of the tablets being unbaked, the inscriptions have become undecipherable, but many of the tablets are as perfect in condition as when laid aside 40 centuries ago by childish Babylonian hands. Some of the tablets bore hymns written in the oldest Sumerian—that is, the pre-Semitic Turanan language of Babylonia. Others contained primers, dictionaries and arithmetical problems.

Some of the tablets had evidently served as "copy-books," as was proved by the beautiful clearness of the letters. These were used for class exercise. On several of the tablets could be seen how the pupils had scratched out faulty writing, smoothing the clay over again with a stylus. All the dated texts that Schiel found bore the name of King Hammurabi, about whom the recent controversy between Prof. Delitzsch and the kaiser arose, and from this date it is known the school was used as late as 21 centuries ago. Despite the difficulty of cuneiforming writing the tablets show the pupils were bright.

* * * * *

Now will you stop poking fun at the old log school house, the little red one and the eight-cornered brick which the people point to with more or less exultant pride?

What other institutions have we with a record extending back 40 centuries? Religions have risen, fallen and been forgotten; schools of philosophy and art have grown up and grown down again.

So let us take better care of the country school house, and it will in turn take better care of us, for it is capable of doing far more for us than it has done.

That which the people stand most in need of now is culture and refinement of taste. This the country school house will give in part if we give a little time, a little money and a little labor. Just enough to beautify the school grounds and to maintain in them well regulated gardens.

One landscape gardener could supervise all the school grounds in a county, and the money paid to him would be well invested.

Let the old school house be made a thing of beauty so that it may become even a greater joy than it is now.

Cows on a Spree.

Cattle belonging to Charles H. Graver of Pinegrove, Schuylkill county, became intoxicated from eating apples which had fallen from trees in their pasture and had decayed and fermented on the ground. The animals staggered around the field and showed other symptoms of drunkenness, so that a veterinarian had to be called to treat them. He diagnosed the case as a "full-fledged drunk" and administered the necessary remedies. Owing to the thousands of bushels of apples rotting on the ground in that neighborhood, other cattle have been affected in a similar way.—Wellsboro Agitator.

Illustrated Cards

From LaGrand Revue, Paris.

The favor which the illustrated postal card enjoys in Germany has led to the creation of a cult, the use of these little variegated bits of cardboard increasing to an amazing extent, as is indicated by the statistics of the postal department. The postal card has become the chronicle of contemporary events, it is an indication of every interesting fact that occurs, reproducing the features of the great ones of the earth, and it plays its role in the private and daily life of the family. The political life of the card shows the power of opinion, but this phase is the most ephemeral, for political events succeed each other so rapidly that one blots out the other. Still, the postal card is not limited to this transitory political function. It is a messenger for the traveler, it indicates with a few well chosen words the journey through a memorable place, and is a powerful factor in education under diverse forms. Many of the cards are devoted to the poets and other geniuses of the country, with illustrations of the homes and surroundings of the celebrities.

The one thing, however, which indicates the historic worth of postals of this sort is the mottos which accompany them, mottos chosen with discernment from the works of the great poets, and which often represent the commencement of the episodes which the figures on the card portray. The illustrated postal card in this way may reach heights entirely unknown to its political fellow. Another proof of the intelligent admiration which is revealed by the postal card is the particular care with which is reproduced not only the town where the great man passed his life, but the different cities which are connected with his career, either by way of a long residence or by the production of an important work. We have here an excellent way of assisting history and of engraving on the minds of the people great epochs and certain episodes which are not negligible in the lives of great men.

Postal cards which we have discussed in the foregoing paragraph are thus more than curious souvenirs; they are modest but useful aids in education, and their action is far from insignificant on the mass of the people. They prevent this mass from ignoring the chefs d'oeuvre of the human mind, and often by a simple citation of a few well chosen verses they inspire the desire to penetrate deeply into a work the existence of which was hardly known before. Finally, they are much more profitable to the children who make collections of them than the vulgar chromos which were used during my youth, and which were far from having the same artistic value or the same utility. In this simple detail there is revealed the superior practice of the Germans, who are capable of seeing a distinct goal at a great distance, the postal card in the form under discussion naturally being only a part of a complete and coherent scheme of instruction.

To the above class there also belongs a very important group of illustrated cards, that is, the cards with cities and towns for subject and which are usually accompanied by mottos in verse. The mottos in general are very old and have been transmitted from generation to generation, singing the glory and renown of the city. Although the sentiments may appear somewhat ridiculous to us, they do not appear so to the Germans, and there is no doubt that little facts of this sort which are often overlooked by the moralists have a decisive effect on the general character of a people and produce a highly desirable state of mind. However, by virtue of a twist of the mind peculiar to the country, the unitarian patriotism which the Germans possess does not exclude ideas of independence, which are very dear to the majority of the German provinces. This the illustrated postal card also indicates, for we frequently find that the refrain or motto may employ dialect forms which are peculiar to such or such a region, while the quotation of popular colloquialisms and real patois is a frequent occurrence, although they may be absolutely incomprehensible to the Germans outside the particular province.

The German is by nature a traveler and, in the same way that he wishes rapid, well managed and inexpensive trains, he also wishes a postal card which will enable him at slight expense to communicate a few concise details in reference to his journey. There is nothing better for this purpose than the following article which I have called the "omnibus" postal card. This may be purchased in the city, or, better still, obtained on the spot by means of automatic slot machines which are in every self-respecting German railroad station, and from which for the sum of 10 cents one may obtain two different views of the country. On this card is printed a formula which you merely have to fill out. All of the interesting details of the trip are foreseen, the health of the traveler, weather, neighbors on the journey, arrival, difficulties, state of cash account, quality of the wine and beer, etc.

We have seen how the card is able to tell the absent ones of the slightest incidents of the trip, but this first desire satisfied, there is another which the traveler feels, namely, to allow the ones at home to participate in the pleasures and distractions of the journey, such as the view of a beautiful bit of nature, or some chateau or celebrated ruin. The postal card also assures this new satisfaction. In fact, there is no curiosity mentioned, and frequently not mentioned, in the almanacs which does not possess numerous postal cards which represent the scene, and a letter box for the purpose of receiving your letters on the spot. This is not the case merely in accessible spots, for on the mountains or on the lakes, everywhere that man penetrates, the postal card is present. In the business world, also, from the wine-seller to the publisher, the postal card has its uses and its abuses.

Thus from great to small, whether it celebrates the charm of a locality, the excellence of a product, or the refrain of a university, the postal card accomplishes its role of popularizer. And it is because of this fact that the humble illustrated postal card holds an important place in many of the lesser as well as in many of the most important events of German life. It intervenes in public actions, consecrates an anniversary, perpetuates the sacred memory of an artist or an illustrious thinker, and accompanies and symbolizes a multitude of facts of ordinary existence, increasing the interest and poetizing the remembrance. The use of these cards has increased to an enormous extent all through Europe, many companies having been organized whose sole business is their production and sale.

Truth in a Nutshell.

Not to multiply words, the contest this year is the old one under a slightly different form. It is the Republican party confronted by an unnatural union of all its enemies under a motley banner and with no cohesive power except the common hatred of the party of Lincoln and Garfield and McKinley. Every loyal Republican will support the regularly nominated candidates of his party because they are its candidates and because there is nothing else for a real Republican to do.—Altoona Tribune.

BAIT IS OFFERED TO HALL MEMBERS

Corporations Committee Called to Get Quorum of Select Council Monday.

MEETING IS VERY DOUBTFUL

The city administration has offered a tempting bait to the councilmen favoring the Hall traction syndicate in order to secure the confirmation of John F. Steel as treasurer and also to pass the Pittsburgh Railways Company ordinances in select council Monday afternoon. A special meeting of select council has been called for Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and to secure an attendance of the Hall members, thereby to make a quorum, a meeting of the corporation committee has been called for 2:30 o'clock the same afternoon for the purpose, ostensibly, of reporting the Hall ordinances to select council.

There are nine traction ordinances and an electric light ordinance of the Hall syndicate in the corporations committee, and the administration sought to convey the impression yesterday that these ordinances will be recommended to select council Monday afternoon for passage.

Officers of the Hall syndicate and councilmen who are supporting the Hall syndicate measures declared, when they heard of the call of the corporations committee, that it was only "a bluff." If the Hall councilmen can be fooled into believing that their bills are to be passed they will attend the meeting of select council and insure a quorum. With a quorum the administration expects to confirm the appointment of Steel without trouble and also to pass the Pittsburgh Railways Company's ordinances, although some opposition is expected to the latter part of the program.

Bigelow Orders Meeting.

These two matters will be the first to be disposed of Monday. The report of the corporations committee will be left until the last thing, and the report may not be made at all. If the administration has a majority it can adjourn the meeting immediately after the Steel confirmation and action on the traction bills.

John Costello, the chairman of the committee, called the meeting, but he was acting under instructions from Director Bigelow. Besides the nine traction ordinances of the Hall syndicate and its electric light ordinance, there are a number of other bills of various importance. The Fischer Foundry and Machine Company switch ordinance in the committee, with an opinion from the city solicitor that councils can give the Fischer company the right to connect its switch with that of the Duquesne Brewery Company, although the president of the brewery company is opposed to the connection.

The Pennsylvania Signal and Alarm Company has an ordinance in the committee asking for the right to construct a private system of fire and police alarm boxes in residences and business houses. This ordinance has been held up for a couple of years in councils.

Eight Months to Bury Wires.

The most important measure in the committee is the bill requiring all electrical companies to put their wires underground before June 1, 1905. There is a resolution directing the city authorities to enforce the ordinance against the Pittsburgh Junction railroad prohibiting smoke. The Monongahela Street Railway Company, a part of the Pittsburgh Railways Company, has an ordinance asking for extension of time until June 7, 1905, for the construction of its line. Another ordinance is for the laying underground of all wires in Frankstown avenue.

Max Friedman has two traction bills in the committee of doubtful quality. One permits the running of cars at the rate of eight to 16 miles an hour, regulated according to districts of the city. Mr. Friedman announced he intended to effect a radical change in the operation of street cars, claiming they were being run at a dangerous speed. After long waiting he finally introduced the present ordinance which, if making any change at all, permits cars to run faster rather than slower than they do now.

SCHOOLS ARE SHOWING A BETTER ATTENDANCE

Superintendent Hamilton's Report Indicates Increase Over Preceding Year.

The annual report of Superintendent Samuel Hamilton showing the operations of the public school system in Allegheny county, exclusive of the three cities, was issued yesterday. It is in part as follows:

Number of square miles, 757; school districts, 115; townships, 55; boroughs, 59; independent districts, 1; school directors, 720; teachers employed, 1,413; teachers employed, men, 159; teachers employed, women, 1,254; applicants examined, 520; pupils enrolled, 61,226; pupils enrolled in townships, 23,725; pupils enrolled in boroughs, 37,501; number of pupils who study vocal music, 29,708; number of special supervisors in music, 18; number of high schools, 25; number of high school teachers, 60; number of schools visited by superintendent, 941; number of educational meetings attended, 91; average term in months in townships, 8.03; average term in months in boroughs, 9.10; average term in months in county, 8.56; total value of school property, $4,718,000; amount spent for educational purposes, $1,885,666.17; amount paid to teachers, $681,224.10.

The attendance is reported much better than the preceding year, attributed largely to the care of the directors, who form legally constituted boards of health, in dealing with contagious diseases, with the result that smallpox has been almost entirely driven from the county. The better enforcement of the compulsory attendance laws also had a good effect upon the attendance, since directors are required to make oath that such laws are complied with. After commending the greater body of teachers the superintendent indulges in a mild criticism of the incompetents who complain the loudest about salaries as follows:

But "the poor ye have with you always," and we are commanded to remember them. Regardless of the fact that our teachers generally are efficient and progressive, there are some who have dropped to the rear rank, while a few have actually fallen back of it. They are in a little class of their own, still in sight of, though far behind the procession that has gone on and left them. They are the poorest of the poor, weak in attainment, and weaker still in purpose. They do not read a professional book or an educational paper, and possibly not a daily. They will not attend an institute or go to hear a lecture on a pedagogical subject, if they can avoid it. Directors, beware of such teachers!

The report also contains an elaborate discussion of many pedagogical subjects of great value, chapters on high schools in the towns, high schools in the townships, qualifications of teachers, reform in commencements, report of the county institute, names and addresses of the school directors and teachers in the county, rural schools, parental indifference, etc.

Superintendent Hamilton announces his intention of having portraits of his predecessors, as far as obtainable, hung in his office at the court house. The first of these to find place in the collection is that of the late J. S. Johnston, who will be remembered by many of the present teachers and directors as well as other residents of the county.

Grinsley's Profits Were Small.

James Grimsley was committed to jail by Alderman John Groetzinger yesterday on charges of false pretense and impersonating an officer made by Charles Freyfogle of Greenleaf street, Mt. Washington, who claims Grimsley represented himself to be Constable P. McInerney of Alderman P. B. Reiley's office to Mrs. Freyfogle and secured 75 cents.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Dear Sir—Some time ago I noticed in one of the daily papers a communication from old Dr. Oliver. He said that if a person would carry a buckeye on his person he would never be troubled with rheumatism. I know for a fact that my entire family carry buckeyes. My father has carried one in his pocket for 40 years. He is now 70 years old and was never troubled with rheumatism. Yours, etc.,

DR. JANE BLANCHARD.

NO MONEY WITH WHICH TO ASSIST THE WORTHY POOR

Association for Improvement Views Coming Winter With Depleted Treasury.

"We never needed money as badly as we do at present," said Mrs. S. E. Lippincott, superintendent of the Pittsburgh Association for the Improvement of the Poor, yesterday, in discussing the outlook for the winter. "And this arises out of peculiar condition. We have experienced a very hard summer on the heels of a still harder winter, and as strange as it may seem many poor people need money with which to go to work.

"For instance, that old gentleman who just left the room wants to borrow money to keep the man who has a mortgage on his household goods from turning him out of house and home. His son, who is a fireman, has just gone to work and will be able to pay us back after the first pay day. He wants to give us a mortgage on his furniture as security for the loan. He is not what you might call extremely poor, but it is only one of many needy cases for which we have no funds.

"A very common case we are meeting with now is that of mechanics who have opportunities to work, but who are unable to furnish tools, as is required in many classes of employment. It is embarrassing not to be able to assist such men. Last summer and the preceding winter has almost depleted our treasury, and we are about as poor as the people who appeal to us for assistance."

SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH A COMPLICATION OF FEMALE DISEASES.

Robust Women Who Owe Their Restored Health and Usefulness to Peruna.

READ THE LETTERS OF GRATEFUL WOMEN CURED BY DR. S. B. HARTMAN'S FREE ADVICE.

Thousands of Testimonials Received Every Year.

An Ideal Medicine.

MISS LOUISE MATHER, 13 Church st., Burlington, Vt., Vice President Bureau of Exchange, writes:

"Your medicine is an ideal woman's medicine and by far the best I have known to restore lost health and strength.

"I suffered for several years. My back ached. I had bearing down pains and frequent headaches.

"I would often wake from sleep in such pain that I would suffer for hours before my eyes would close again. I dreaded the long night as well as the weary days.

"I consulted two physicians, hoping to get relief. Finding that their medicine did not seem to cure me, a friend advised me to try Peruna.

"I am certainly glad that I followed her advice, for Peruna was the only medicine for me. Every ache and pain disappeared in four months and I am in perfect health now.

"My earnest advice to suffering women is to try Peruna, for I feel sure they will not be disappointed in it."—Louise Mather.

Enjoying Splendid Health.

Mrs. L. E. Tyler, Santa Monica, Cal., Secretary Santa Monica Musical Society, writes:

"I was troubled for over three years with systemic catarrh, complicated by female weakness and inflammation.

"This induced frequent headaches, nervousness, hysteria and sleeplessness, which nothing could relieve until I tried Peruna.

"I began to feel better after I had taken the first bottleful and improved from week to week until at the end of about 11 weeks I was entirely well.

"I am pleased to say that I have enjoyed splendid health now for nearly a year. I have a fine appetite, enjoy sound sleep and do not suffer from any more headaches or other pains."—L. E. Tyler.

Peruna has become renowned as a positive cure for female ailments, simply because these ailments are mostly due to catarrh. Catarrh is the cause of the trouble. Peruna cures the catarrh.

Completely Regained Her Health.

Miss Edith Reams, 726 North Main st., Dayton, O., writes.

"I suffered for some time with both lung and female troubles.

"I had been under the treatment of a good physician for about nine months without obtaining any relief, when Peruna was recommended to me. After taking twelve bottles of this medicine I have completely regained my health.

"I am pleased to recommend Peruna to any one suffering from the above ailments."—Edith Reams.

No testimonials published without written consent of the writer.

America is the Land of Nervous Women.

The majority of women are nervous because they suffer from some form of female disease.

The greatest obstacle in the way of recovery is that they do not understand that catarrh is the main source of their illness.

Women who are in doubt as to their ailments should write to Dr. Hartman, President of the Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O. Give him a full description of your symptoms, previous treatment and age.

He will promptly reply with full directions for treatment free of charge.

DAVIS' INTEREST IN THE TREASURY

Fell Out With Department Because Claim for $15,000 Was Not Allowed.

DATES BACK TO WAR TIME

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—In his letter of acceptance the Democratic vice presidential candidate deprecated the wasteful extravagance of public money under the Republican administration, advocated economy and honesty in the public service and roundly denounced raids, accomplished or attempted, on the United States treasury. While Mr. Davis failed in his attempt to substantiate these charges and the inaccuracy of his figures has been apparent to all who have examined them, the adroitness with which he handled them excited the admiration and envy of his political associates in Washington and elsewhere.

Mr. Davis' latest excoriation of Republican profligacy, as interpreted and exploited by himself, occurred in 1904. Back in 1878 Mr. Davis suffered from a similar attack of virtuous indignation and for a long time could not resist a violent desire to probe the treasury department. At that time, too, he said things about the Republican party and the way it handled that department. As a member of the senate committee on appropriations he advocated the appointment of a committee to investigate the treasury's system of accounts, not to attempt any reform in that system, but in order to develop, if possible, something that might prove advantageous to the Democratic party.

Tried to Collect a Claim.

A Democratic senate appointed this committee and during the two succeeding years it carried on a drastic and blatant investigation of the treasury accounts, and, in 1880, the report was made.

At the time that Senator Davis, on the floor of the senate, was thundering his denunciation of Republican raids on the treasury and wondering why the system of accounting employed in that institution differed so materially from the system he used in his private business enterprises, he was quietly but insistently pressing a claim of his own against the government. It amounted to only $15,000, to be sure, but the treasury and war department accountants discovered that it was just $15,000 more than he and his brothers were entitled to, and accordingly disallowed the claim.

The firm of H. G. Davis & Bros. seemed to be anxious about this time to collect from the government this claim of $15,000 for work which, it was ascertained, had never been done by that firm. As a senator, on senate stationery, and in his own handwriting, Henry G. Davis frequently importuned the government officials, whose accounts he was publicly attacking, to expedite a settlement. Here is one of his communications, interesting in view of the fact subsequently disclosed by the investigation:

United States Senate Chamber,
Washington, March 11, 1878.

The Hon. Horace Austin, Third Auditor:

Dear Sir—H. G. Davis & Co., or I. R. Davis & Co. of West Virginia has a claim against the government. Part of the papers have been returned to the claimants—they think a part is yet in your office or the Qr. Master's—please inform me. A Mr. E. S. Miller made a report on the claim; please send me a copy.

Yours truly,
H. G. DAVIS.

History of the Case.

Regarding the pressing of this claim, which was severely criticised in official circles at the time, and to which numerous uncomplimentary allusions were made in the press, the following dispatch was sent by the Washington correspondent of the New York Tribune and printed, on September 24, 1880:

At the beginning of the war Henry G. Davis was in business at New Creek, Va. This was a station on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad of small consequence. A salaried station agent was not employed there. The man who served as agent was one Armstrong, who owned some property nearby and who charged a commission to the captains of the boats for his services. He also owned a small warehouse in which he stored freight, charging the consignees for storage. Armstrong was notoriously disloyal. He fled to the confederacy at the outbreak of the war, remaining there until its close. New Creek became an important army supply depot early in the war. The government seized the storehouse and used it for nine months, when more commodious buildings of its own were completed and put to use. The railroad company sent a special agent there named Lyons, who had remained during the war in charge of the company's affairs, while the government had its quartermasters all the time on the ground attending to its own interests. Laborers paid by the government did all the work of loading and unloading the stores.

Wanted Details of Claim.

A year or two after the close of the war bills were presented to the government by Davis & Co., of which firm the present senator was a member, for $15,107, a commission for "unloading and forwarding 15,107 cars." The claim was too indefinite to be made the subject of official action. It was returned to the claimants for a specific statement of the details of the claim. It soon reappeared, but in an entirely different form. Its first charge was for rent for warehouse, $4,000. It contained charges for the services of laborers and clerks and for those of T. B. Davis, agent and superintendent, the latter charge being $2,000. The total of the new bill was $2,207 less than the original bill for commission.

The accounting officers set about investigating both claims, although the latter was designed to be a substitute for the former. One of the claimants when questioned in regard to the second bill, acknowledged that both were fictitious, being put in that form to meet some supposed formal requirement of the government. It was discovered that when, after the close of the war, Armstrong returned home, he sold his property, including the warehouse, to the Davis brothers for $25,000, the same transaction conveying any claims that Armstrong might have had against the government to the Davises. The latter set up the claim that this transaction was only the consummation of an agreement made with Armstrong's father soon after Armstrong left for the south, and that they had virtually been the owners of the property occupied by the government. They produced no proof of such an agreement, and it would seem that no proof of the kind had. In regard to the alleged services rendered to the government, both the railroad agents and the quartermasters who remained at New Creek during the entire war testified that they had no official dealings with the Davises as representatives of the railroad, and they had no knowledge of any such connection.

Called a Preposterous Attempt.

This claim has often been mentioned privately here as one of the most preposterous attempts to get pay from the government for services never rendered which has come to the knowledge of accounting officers for many years. Senator Davis has been actively pushing this claim for a long time.

There are still public men in Washington who recall the circumstances surrounding the Davis claim, and they are anxious to know if, in 1904, the Democratic vice presidential candidate really regards legitimate expenditures as raids on the treasury and if it makes any difference to him who does the raiding. They point out that a quarter of a century has elapsed since Henry G. Davis worked so energetically to collect money from the government on a claim in which he was personally interested, but which the system of treasury accounting that he so vigorously attacked threw out as absolutely worthless. They wonder, too, if the same opportunity presented itself in 1904, after the campaign, Mr. Davis would again organize a personally conducted campaign on the treasury, despite the flood of virtuous indignation served up so plentifully in his letter of acceptance.

To Secure State Funds.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—As a sequel to the closing of the First National bank of Claysville on Monday judgments were today entered against the bank in the prothonotary's office by the state of Pennsylvania for more than $64,000. They have been entered to secure the $20,000 of the state's funds for which the First National bank of Claysville is the depository. The failure has involved many wealthy men of this section. Julius P. Miller, father of H. N. Miller, who was cashier of the bank, with, it is said, make an immediate assignment for the benefit of creditors.

ALLISON DEFENDS THE EXPENDITURES

Increased Because Conditions Are Canged—Parker and Davis Attack Our Institutions.

PRAISES PRESIDENT'S HONESTY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

SOUTH BEND, IND., Oct. 14.—Senator William B. Allison of Iowa spoke to a large crowd here this evening, devoting most of his attention to the criticisms of Judge Parker and Henry G. Davis of the appropriations and expenditures under the McKinley and Roosevelt administrations. He said in part:

The expenditures of our government have been and are constantly being increased as conditions change. This is not only true as respects the general government, but is also true as respects all state governments, and indeed as respects all municipalities. It is easy to criticise the appropriations in the aggregate and say that they are too great because they are greater than they were in President Buchanan's time, or because they are greater than during the first or last administration of President Cleveland, or the administration of President Harrison, but it is quite another thing to take the trouble to analyze the appropriations and show how the reduction can be consistently made.

Though the attack upon the expenditures is made indirectly, analyzed it is an attack upon our army and navy expenditures, and means a reduction, and a large reduction, in these expenditures, as large reductions elsewhere cannot be made. Why is this purpose not avowed? Why don't they say that the army shall be reduced, and if so, to what extent? Why don't they say that our existing navy shall be curtailed and crippled? Why don't they say that they will cut down the expenses of the postal service made necessary by the enormous expansion of that service? We have an extensive system of fortifications recently constructed to protect our seaboard. Are these fortifications not to be manned and cared for? Is our seaboard to be left defenseless? Are the 12,000 or 14,000 men thus employed to be mustered out of the service?

The appropriations for the agricultural department have been increased during the last few years. The success of the agricultural interest and its development lie at the very base of our prosperity from year to year. Who will say that these appropriations are not needed and that they are not beneficial to the country, and that they are not wisely expended by Secretary Wilson, and who would propose to reduce them or dispense with them?

I do not believe that at any period in our history there has existed more integrity, more fidelity than is found now in the administration of President Roosevelt. He has with unsparing hand brought to disgrace and punishment every violator of the law and everyone who has been unfaithful in the discharge of a public duty. Yet Judge Parker, in his letter of acceptance, implies that President Roosevelt and his admirers are violating the public trusts confided to them as respects public expenditures.

GREAT LEADERS TO SPEAK TO THE PHILADELPHIANS

Every Seat Is Taken for Great Mass Meeting in Quaker City Tonight.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—Of national importance will be the Union league mass meeting at the Academy of Music tomorrow night. Senator Henry Cabot Lodge and Elihu Root, former secretary of war, will make the principal addresses.

That the crowd will be a record breaking one is assured. The demand for tickets of admission to the Academy of Music has already far exceeded the supply. The prominence of the orators of the evening and the importance of their speeches at this stage of the presidential campaign has attracted widespread attention. It is expected that Republican National Chairman Cortelyou will accompany Root and Lodge. At Broad street station the distinguished visitors will be met by a committee from the Union league. Senator Lodge, Mr. Root and Mr. Cortelyou will be escorted directly to the Bellevue-Stratford, where apartments have been reserved for them during their stay in Philadelphia. At 6:30 o'clock they will be guests of honor at a dinner at the Union league, for which covers for 21 persons will be laid.

At 8 o'clock John A. Bell, presiding at the big organ, played the grand march and the class took their seats on the platform. The exercises were opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. B. F. Woodburn of the Sandusky Street Baptist church and one of the training school committee.

Addresses were made by Dr. Theodore Miller, chairman of the training school committee, and Arthur A. Hamerschlag, director of the Carnegie technical school. The presentation of diplomas and pins was conducted by the Rev. Dr. Maitland Alexander, president of the board of directors of the hospital, amid great applause.

Shift in a Stock Company.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Six members of the Forepaugh stock company, which has been holding the boards at the Robinson opera house, were discharged today and replaced by others. The ousted players are: Scenic Artist Vandermark, Robert Ransome, Devore Palmer, Miss Eleanor La Salle, J. B. Woodburn and Miss Bessie Stevenson. According to the actors they have not been treated right by Manager Fish. Fish says he is only trying to better his company.

Adopt Another Style.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—The historic pole rush participated in each year by the sophomore and freshman classes at Washington and Jefferson is to be abolished and some other form of battle substituted. On account of the injuries inflicted in the annual fight in years past, the faculty has made a proposition to the two under classes asking them to substitute a push ball contest.

BETTING MEN CONFIDENT OF ROOSEVELT'S ELECTION

Most Remarkable Odds Ever Known in a National Campaign, Standing 10 to 3—Parker Money in Small Quantities.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Showing the perfect confidence in Republican success that prevails throughout the whole country, the betting odds on Roosevelt have been getting longer and longer every day that the campaign progresses. Today's quotations were 10 to 3, the most remarkable figures ever known in a national campaign.

Parker money, which has always been shy and reticent almost as the Democratic candidate himself, came out in very small quantities, even at this unprecedented opportunity for taking a chance on a long shot.

James Breen made two bets of $1,000 to $300, the first with A. Sartorius and the second with J. J. Judge. T. A. McIntyre & Co. also bet $1,000 to $300 with Mr. Sartorius. F. H. Brooks offered to bet at 3 to 1. Mr. Brooks also announced that he had money to bet at 2 to 1 that Roosevelt will carry New Jersey. This compares with odds of 5 to 3 offered yesterday on the New Jersey result.

The biggest bet so far this campaign was closed this afternoon, when Bunnell & Buchanan wagered $20,000 of Roosevelt cash in one block against $7,000 of Parker money, put up by Williamson & Squire. A lot of money was offered on the curb at 10 to 7 that Roosevelt would carry New York state.

BRYAN'S RADICALISM BREAKS OUT AGAIN

Makes Silly Charge That Army Will Be Used to Coerce Laboring Men.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

RICHMOND, IND., Oct. 14.—William J. Bryan closed the third day of his Indiana tour tonight with an address in this city, where he spoke to a big meeting.

His old-time radicalism broke out again today, in the following statement he made at Auburn: "I charge that the Republican party is raising the army in order that the trusts, having robbed this country of hundreds of millions of dollars, may now use the army paid by the people to force the laboring men down to the starving point."

Mr. Bryan spoke at a number of towns en route here.

CRUCIBLE NET EARNINGS EXCEED THE ESTIMATE

Early Issuance of Bonds Certain, but Company Will Demand Over 97 Flat of Amount.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The net earnings of the Crucible Steel Company for the fiscal year ending August 31, last, are said to exceed $1,200,000, the sum first set as an estimate, but how much the excess may be has not yet been officially disclosed. At the stockholders' meeting for the purpose of voting on the bond issue the actual results will be made public.

The fact that the company will have over two-thirds of the outstanding stock in favor of issuing the bonds seems to settle conclusively their early issuance. It is understood, however, that the management will insist upon getting over 97 flat for the issue of $6,000,000 or $7,000,000 and if it cannot realize this price, will hold them until later.

Meantime, pending a sale at prices deemed desirable, the bonds, when authorized, may be used as collateral for paper on which cash can be realized to meet the company's needs.

WITBOIS REBELLION GROWS.

Old German Rebel Has Again Declared War Against Kaiser in South Africa.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—Germany's old enemy of a decade ago, Hendrik Witboi, according to an official dispatch from Windhoek, German Southwest Africa, has declared war against the Germans. He sent Samuel Isaak, October 3, to Burgasdorff with a declaration of hostilities.

The station at Morenga, which recently was reported to have been attacked by insurgent Witbois, is offering a firm resistance and is continually receiving reinforcements of mounted and unmounted Germans. There are many gatherings of Hottentots on the Grootboeck and Carro Rivers, 100 miles south of Gibeon, connection with which has been cut off. It is expected in German official circles that Hendrik Witboi's influence will cause a majority of the Hottentot tribes to join in with the uprising, as Witboi, ever since the rebellion was quelled, has been credited with designs to seize a favorable moment to throw off the German yoke.

RATHER DIE IN JAIL.

Mrs. Moses Shelton Refused to Pay Costs When Sentenced by Judge Evans.

Mrs. Moses Shelton of Oakland was sentenced by Judge J. A. Evans yesterday to pay the costs in an assault and battery case in which she was the prosecutor. The woman became enraged at the verdict, and told Judge Evans she was without funds, had a husband who was blind and eight children to support.

The woman's words were not considered seriously by the judge and she was taken to jail. When searched $255 was found on her, of which $155 was in gold. In addition to this, her bank book was found, which showed a balance of $2,300. The woman was then asked if she cared to pay the costs and secure her release, and she informed Deputy Warden John McNeil "she would die first."

Later her attorney called at the jail and paid the costs, which were $35.

Topping is on a vacation and the company was represented by Charles W. Bray, the first vice president. The presidents of the other companies in attendance were: A. G. Dinkey, Carnegie Steel Company; W. P. Palmer, American Steel and Wire Company; W. B. Schiller, National Tube Company; A. J. Major, American Bridge Company; E. J. Double Taxes in Beaver.

BEAVER, PA., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—A special tax of 10 mills will be levied in Beaver for two years to pay off about $100,000 floating indebtedness as the result of an opinion handed down in the famous tax fight case by Judge James W. Galbreath today. The case created great excitement among the taxpayers, who objected to having their taxes doubled, but the borough is heavily in debt and the court says this is the best way out of the difficulty.

Rixey Reiterates Recommendation

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—In his annual report made public at the navy department today the surgeon general of the navy, Rear Admiral P. F. Rixey, renews his recommendation for the employment of women trained nurses in the medical department of the navy, and reiterates practically all the recommendations which failed of attention by congress last year.

Whole Family Chloroformed.

LAFOLLETTE IS LOYALLY SUPPORTING ROOSEVELT

Declares It Is the Federal Officeholders Who Are Bolting the Republican Ticket.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—Walter Wellman, writing from Madison, Wis., to the Record-Herald (Ind.), says:

"There is no truth whatever in the report that my friends and I will cut President Roosevelt at the polls," said Gov. LaFollette today.

"You may quote me as saying that my friends and I in Wisconsin are giving the president loyal, earnest support. We have done so from the first and shall do it to the end. We Republicans of Wisconsin believe President Roosevelt would not only have good laws regulating railway corporations and curbing their power to oppress the people, but he would enforce the laws against them, even at the risk of incurring their enmity and powerful opposition. That is precisely what we are striving to do in Wisconsin.

"From the first I have insisted upon nothing save that the president should keep hands off. Many months ago I sent word to him through one of his personal, unofficial friends that all we asked of him was non-interference. Now that nearly all of the federal officeholders in this state are bolting the ticket, which carries the president's name, and trying to defeat it by voting for a Democrat, I do not complain. I will take care of myself."

Plate Mill to Start.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—(Special.)—The steel plate mill of the Lackawanna Steel Company will begin operations next week. It will have a capacity of about 20,000 tons a month, or something like 250,000 tons a year.

TO BE BIGGEST NORTH SIDE MEET

Republicans of Allegheny to Exceed All Records in Political Gathering Line.

FRANK P. BOOTH FOR COUNCIL

The Republicans of Allegheny are confident that the meeting to be held tonight in Carnegie hall will be the most enthusiastic political gathering that has ever assembled on the North Side. It will be the real opening of the campaign on that side of the river, and a score of marching clubs, in brand new uniforms, will turn out to do justice to the occasion.

Francis J. Torrance will preside. Maj. Alexander McDowell, clerk of the national house of representatives; Congressmen Edward B. Vreeland of Salamanca, N. Y.; William H. Graham and John C. Haymaker will speak. Mr. Vreeland and Maj. McDowell will arrive this afternoon. The speakers and the members of the reception committee will be escorted to Allegheny by the Tariff club, and at the Allegheny end of the Sixth street bridge the P. C. Knox club of Allegheny will meet the parade and escort it to the hall. The other clubs will proceed to the hall by routes selected by themselves.

The mass meeting will be under the auspices of the Allegheny Republican city committee. It was arranged jointly by that committee and the Republican county committee.

Booth Mentioned for Councils.

Frank P. Booth probably will be the Republican candidate for common council in the Twenty-second ward to succeed John F. Steel, the newly appointed city treasurer. Mr. Booth is a nephew of J. J. Booth, select councilman from the Fourteenth ward. John P. Ober has been mentioned as a possible Republican candidate and Albion E. Best, a lawyer, has been spoken of.

It is supposed that Mayor Hays will soon issue a proclamation for an election in the Twenty-second and the Seventeenth wards, to be held on the day of the general election. S. Lennox will be the Republican candidate in the Seventeenth ward and will have no opposition from the Citizens party.

The biggest political meeting ever held in Lawrenceville was the Republican one at Keane's auditorium last night. The Republican city chairman, Max G. Leslie, made a short address. Speeches were made by James Francis Burke and Andrew C. Robertson. More than 3,000 invitations had been sent out and the hall was crowded with voters from the Fifteenth, Sixteenth, Seventeenth and Eighteenth wards.

Many Republican Meetings.

Republican meetings were held in the Springfield school house, Twelfth ward, at which William J. Metcalf and others spoke; Wickersham school house, Twenty-fourth ward, where F. C. Beinhauer, Daniel Ashworth and Joseph G. Armstrong were the speakers; Rohey's hall, Dorseyville, Indiana township, with H. I. Riley, Capt. John A. Reed and T. Carlisle Moore delivering addresses; Sharon school house, Moon township, where C. L. Gartner, Harry S. Lydick and Harry Dimond were speakers, and at No. 7 school house, Moon Run, with W. T. Negro voters will meet next Tuesday evening in Arcade hall, Center and Highland avenues, under the auspices of the Afro-American Republican league. Among the speakers will be Harry S. Cummings of Baltimore, who seconded the nomination of Roosevelt at the Republican national convention. William M. Randolph, J. Welford Holmes and George A. Neale will also speak.

Mayor Hays announced yesterday that he was in favor of Magistrate Joseph H. Vitchestain, who formed the Young Men's "Republican" club of Allegheny county, a body composed of members of the Citizens party. The mayor said it was a good thing for the young men and for the Republican party. The club is an idea of "organizing every election district," as the mayor puts it, although the county is already organized by the regular Republican county committee without aid from the Citizens party.

MADE CLOSING ADDRESS.

Large Crowds Hear President Wanamaker at Final Session of State Sabbath School Association.

In an address, entitled "Parting Words," President John Wanamaker brought the 40th annual convention of the State Sabbath School association to a close in the Sixth United Presbyterian church last evening. The place for the next annual meeting was not announced and was left to the executive committee. The ladies of the Sixth United Presbyterian church entertained the officers of the association and convention at a dinner previous to the final session.

Three overflow meetings were again held last night, Dr. Joseph Clark, Dr. Blackall and Mr. Wanhamaker addressing them. During the afternoon session William C. Lilly addressed a large gathering in the church auditorium on "Advancing Temperance Through the Sunday School." He said the saloon could not live without 100,000 new recruits each year, and that the Sunday school scholars of today would rule the destiny of the saloon and the nation in 1925. Following the address the various conferences were continued.

At the morning session the following nominations were presented and unanimously elected to office: President, John Wanamaker of Philadelphia; first vice president, Thomas H. Murray of Clearfield; second vice president, the Rev. Dr. Floyd Tompkins of Philadelphia; third vice president, H. G. Hobson of Norristown; recording secretary, J. A. Brigger of Ridgway; treasurer, S. E. Gill of Pittsburgh; executive committee, H. J. Heinz of Pittsburgh, W. B. Gibson of York, and N. J. Arnold of Ridgway.

Resolutions were adopted urging a maintenance of the Sunday law and urging that all efforts to modify it be combatted. Resolutions were also passed approving efforts on behalf of the international peace movement.

BRIGHT PICTURE FOR OAKLAND

Director Hammerschlag Predicts "Tech" School Will Increase Business to Rival the Downtown District.

The Carnegie Technical institute, as a business and educational proposition to the residents of Oakland, was treated in an address last night by Director Arthur A. Hammerschlag before the Oakland board of trade. He said that with the opening of the school the business in the Oakland district would improve, and in time Oakland would grow until it would rival the downtown district.

He also spoke of the social influence the numerous educators of the school would have on the Oakland district and said that the residents would be led to beautify their lawns and homes. At the conclusion of the address a committee of five, of which Director Hammerschlag was made an honorary member, was appointed to co-operate with the tech school committee.

The red ore dust nuisance was a subject discussed by members of the board of trade, and it was asserted that it was becoming as bad as ever, and that Jones & Laughlin were violating the injunction of court. A committee of five was appointed to make arrangements for the annual banquet during the holidays.

OLNEY'S SPEECH MAINLY CRITICAL

Lost for Issues, Copper Union Meeting Is Regaled With a Gem of Criticism.

PARKER SAFE AND SANE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Richard Olney was the chief speaker tonight at a Democratic meeting held at Cooper Union, under the auspices of the Parker Constitution club of New York city. Mr. Olney said:

What is to be said of the Republican presidential candidate as he is the representative of his party? In other words what is it that his party now stands for? It stands in the first place for a domestic policy, the great feature of which is the operation upon the industries of the country through the customs duties on imports. It is claimed to have another feature, namely, pronounced and genuine hostility to what are called "trusts." The basis of the claim and an illustrative example is the Northern Securities case. But what has that suit really accomplished beyond furnishing Republican orators with the opportunity to deceive voters?

Hence it is that Republican antagonism to injurious monopolies must be regarded as simulated—and the adverse measures it adopts are to be deemed purely stage thunder designed for use in the press and on the platform, and expected to beguile the credulous and the unwary.

What "Standing Pat" Means.

What is it to "stand pat"? It means that a tariff adopted in the stress of the civil war, and since changed only in the direction of greater rigor and exclusiveness, is to be maintained. It means that the immense changes of recent years in all economical and industrial conditions are to be ignored, and that for tariff purposes we are to govern and be governed as if we were still living in the first half of the nineteenth century. It means that the special interests now in control of the Republican party and through that party of the national government are too strong to be resisted, and are too selfish and too bigoted to read the signs of the times or to heed the counsels of their wisest leaders.

We are indebted to the Republican party that, in addition to its domestic and foreign policies, the United States finds itself also encumbered with the burdens and exactions of another which is neither wholly domestic nor wholly foreign, but which, for want of a better name, may be termed colonial. It chiefly concerns the 7,000,000 of brown people we recently bought of Spain. The criminal suppression the Republican party was thus guilty of now returns to plague it—a result to be welcomed as righteous retribution, if the injurious consequences could be saddled upon it alone instead of being borne, as they must be, by the whole American people.

What Democracy Means.

Against the self-seeking, the conceit, the impatience of legal and conventional restraints, the devouring ambition, which are at the bottom of such a candidacy, the Democratic party protests not in words merely, but by the very character of its nominee for the presidential office. It not only antagonizes Republican policies as already described—it submits to the judgment and conscience of the American people that, whatever be the policies, the Republican candidate for the presidency has demonstrated his unfitness to be the head and the official representative of a free, a law-abiding, and a peace-loving people. In its own nominee, it presents a candidate who is the exact antithesis of the Republican candidate; a man of modesty and self-restraint; not a seeker of office but sought for by it; a man by nature and training and experience reverential of the Constitution and laws and sure to be governed by them himself and to insist that all others shall be; a man who may be relied upon to recognize the people as the source of all political power and himself not as their boss or over-lord, but as simply the agent and exponent of their will; a man not compelled to repudiate his convictions as a private citizen and public expounder of economic and political truths in order to justify his acts as national executive and keep his place, as a party candidate; a man, in short, who will model himself upon Washington and our other great presidents and not upon the emperors and autocrats of the present day.

CAPTAIN BUTLER TO WED.

Hero of Tien-Tsin Wins the Hand of a Leading Philadelphia Society Belle.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—(Special.)—The engagement of Capt. Smedley Darlington Butler and Miss Ethel Conway Peters was announced today. Miss Peters belongs to the distinguished colonial family of that name. Her grandfather was the late Samuel M. Fiton, one time president of the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad Company, and her grandunele, Cornelius Conway Felton, at one time president of Harvard university.

Capt. Butler is a son of Congressman Thomas S. Butler of West Chester. He was with McCalla's men at Guantanamo and Manzanillo, at the latter of which places his bravery earned for him the appointment to serve on Admiral Sampson's flagship. In 1899 he was made a first lieutenant and was ordered to the Philippines, where he served until the outbreak of the Chinese war. Capt. Butler made his chief record in this conflict at the storming of Tien-Tsin.

DEFICIENCY FROM UNUSUAL EXPENSE

U. S. Treasurer Roberts Reports Decrease in Revenues and Increase in Expenditures.

FEATURES OF HIS REPORT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Ellis H. Roberts, treasurer of the United States, has submitted to Secretary Shaw the annual report on the transactions of the treasury during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1904.

The net ordinary revenues are shown to have been $540,631,749, a decrease of $19,764,925 as compared with 1903, and the net ordinary expenditures $582,402,921, an increase of $76,303,314. In the receipts the principal falling off was $23,205,017 in customs, while in the disbursements the important increases were $11,423,446 in commerce and labor, $60,788,589 in treasury proper, and $26,358,067 for the navy. Unusual expenditures were $50,000,000 on account of the Panama canal and $4,000,000 loaned to the Louisiana Purchase Exposition Company, which latter has now been nearly all repaid. But for these the recorded deficiency of $41,770,871 would have been changed to a surplus of $12,829,428.

The trust funds held for the redemption of outstanding notes and certificates amounted at the end of the year to $978,084,569, an increase of $85,015,709 in 12 months. By October 1 there was a further increase to $1,014,779,969.

Redemption of Notes in Gold.

The redemptions of United States notes in gold amounted to $11,081,068 for the year, and those of treasury notes to $474,126. In consequence of the deficiency in the revenues, the cash in the offices of the treasury and mint declined during the year from $170,020,562 to $137,520,264, and by October 1 to $125,964,888. The available balance, including deposits in national banks and other credits, was $238,686,114 on June 30, 1903, and $151,414,162 on October 1, 1904.

Exchanges of 4 and 3 per cent bonds into 2 per cents were continued up to January 9, 1904, with aggregate conversions of $16,795,100 of the 4s and $5,071,700 of the 3s. The 5 per cent loan matured February 1 and was reduced by redemption before maturity by $14,712,450, and after maturity by $3,894,750, leaving $777,850. The increase in gold certificates amounted in 15 months to more than $119,000,000. The increase in the number of banks during the year was 395, and of these 262 deposited less than $100,000 each in bonds to secure circulation, and 881 less than $500,000 each. On June 30 a single bank had on deposit $10,000,000 in bonds to secure circulation, while 1,820 had less than $25,000.

Bonds to Secure Public Moneys.

Bonds to secure public moneys were held for 842 institutions in 52 states and territories, including Porto Rico, in amounts varying from $40,000 to $10,000,000 or more. Deposits which at one time amounted to over $20,000,000 have been gradually reduced to less than $3,000,000. The semi-annual duty paid into the treasury on circulation was $1,928,837, an increase of $220,017 over 1903.

An addition of $118,793,148 was made during the year to the monetary stock of the country and another of $31,829,599 in the following quarter. Of the total increase $110,800,469 was in gold. The proportion of gold was 47.66 per cent, as against 44.21 July 1, 1900. The gain of gold to the treasury in the same period was $286,083,233. Deposits of gold bullion were received at the mints and assay offices during the year to the amount of $175,593,585. The actual gold coin in circulation on October 1 is placed at $661,844,863 in coin and $486,512,139 in certificates. On October 1 the circulation reached the maximum of $31 18 for each person, and the proportion of gold to the whole was 44.03 per cent.

More Small Bills Needed.

The demand for small bills, in spite of all previous additions, has been unceasing. The report says: "This condition of things might be remedied by congress without inflating the currency. First, the issue of gold certificates of the denominations of $5 and $10 might be authorized. Secondly, such certificates, to the amount of $50,000,000, might be substituted at once for United States notes by the application of that sum from the reserve. Thirdly, the national banks might be permitted to issue any part of their circulation in $5 notes by the repeal of the provision allowing only one-third of the total issue of each institution of that denomination."

The national bank notes presented for redemption during the year amounted to $262,141,930, or 61.12 per cent of the average outstanding. The movement of silver dollars from the treasury was a little over $41,000,000. Silver dollars to the amount of $46,098,314 were presented during the year for exchange into other money. An addition of $2,801,644 was made to the subsidiary silver coin in circulation carrying the total up to $95,528,343. No less than $38,149,519 in minor coins is shown to have been coined and not remelted.

WORLD'S FAIR AWARD.

Large's Whisky Wins Grand Prize in Third Great International Test.

About the time that this paper received from St. Louis its special telegram to the effect that the World's Fair judges had given the grand prize to Large's Whisky, distilled by The Large Distilling Company of this city, a number of congratulations and indorsements were also received by the company from prominent Pittsburghers present at the great exposition at the time the prize was awarded.

The award is regarded universally as another masterful industrial triumph for Pittsburgh, and especially for Large's Whisky, which, by winning the St. Louis honor, has only repeated its signal victories at Chicago in 1893 and at Paris in 1900.

If there was one feature of the test that was more gratifying than another to the distillers of that pure old Monongahela Rye Whisky it must be the knowledge that the decision was rendered after all ages of the product, including distillations 23 years old up to "new goods" had been submitted and the judges were given every opportunity to detect any inferiority.

When the epicure, who has learned to judge whisky, orders "a little Large," because he used it at home or gets it at the club, or because his ancestors have used it and sworn by it through three centuries, he does not realize, perhaps, that its reputation and manufacture was started in 1796 by John Large, who won record for valiant military service under Gen. Washington.

The first distillery was established on Mt. Washington. It was then that the product was named Monongahela Rye. The name was bestowed in honor of a locality which it has since made famous. The present splendid plant is situated on the Monongahela river, near West Elizabeth, Pa., surrounded by a city of bonded warehouses, where it is aged and bottled in bond under government supervision.

A great American general in the war with Spain, when observing a nurse opening a bottle of Large's Whisky to give to a wounded soldier, exclaimed: "It cheers me to see you break the stamp that's over the cork of that bottle. It tells me that the boy is going to get something that will do him good."

The general knew that the stamp on the bottle was the United States government's guarantee that the whisky was pure and that it was genuine as labeled.

Distributers of liquors say that particular purchasers of Large's Whisky, like the general, are becoming educated more and more to look on the bottle for the government's guarantee, and that while not one per cent of the consumers appreciated the protection afforded by the bond law when it was enacted some years ago, fully fifty per cent of the fine trade now realize the value of it.

BROWN HOLDS UP A BIG CONTRACT

Allegheny Controller Made Councilman Mohney Swear He Had No Interest in Job.

THING IS NOT YET EXPLAINED

Controller James Brown of Allegheny yesterday refused to countersign the contract between the city and C. F. Knapp, who was given the contract to rebuild the city light plant at a cost of $33,472. The objection made by the controller was that Councilman C. L. Mohney of the Tenth ward is a member of the firm of Langenheim, Cochran & Company, for which firm Knapp is bookkeeper.

Under the provisions of the charter ordinance no councilman or public employe is allowed to enter into any contract with the city, and for this reason Brown declared he would not put his signature under that of Mayor Wyman. The latter sent the paper to Brown by his chief clerk, William F. Epley. Epley was told by the controller that he would have nothing to do with the contract until ample assurance had been given that no breach of the statute was contemplated.

A telephone message was sent to Mr. Mohney and Mr. Knapp. The former went before Alderman J. G. Harper and swore that neither he nor any member of the firm of which he is a member had any interest whatever in the work. Mr. Knapp would not explain what facilities a bookkeeper had for building a light plant, but assured the controller that the firm for which he worked would have nothing to do with the construction of it. Controller Brown says Mohney's affidavit relieves him of further responsibility, and he will likely sign the contract today.

CLOSING WEEK FINDS THE AWARDS UNSETTLED

"Tech" Committee Still Trying to Select Plans Best Suiting the Schools.

But one week more remains to settle the awards of the "Tech" committee and the decision as to the architects who have presented the best plans seems to be far away. It is the intention of the committee to have its decision made on the last day set, October 22, a week from today, but it is entirely possible that the award will not be determined upon then.

So far the committee has been able to select from the 44 plans the 10 that are best suited to the needs of the technical schools, but the members of the committee have varying opinions as to the single plan that denotes its author to be the man best suited to take charge of the building of the home of the schools.

The plans are being viewed and discussed from every point of view almost daily. Prof. Warren B. Laird, the advisory architect who has been here almost continuously for five weeks, was forced to return to the University of Pennsylvania this week, but will be back again before the award is made. His written report is to be submitted shortly. He has made verbal reports to the committee members and is very well satisfied with the quality of the plans offered.

DISSATISFIED WITH EXECUTIVE OFFICIALS

Painters Issue Call for Special Convention to Elect New Men to Manage Their Affairs.

There is trouble in the Brotherhood of Painters, Decorators and Paper Hangers, which may result in a split in the organization similar to that which occurred several years ago and which was partly settled four years ago. The split, which was patched up through the good offices of the A. F. of L., strengthened the organization from a membership of about 18,000 to 90,000 members.

The situation is that protests against the management of the general officers have been filed with the executive board, charging them with extravagance, in keeping too many high-priced organizers on the road, and also with irregularities over the referendum vote, which called for a revision of the constitution.

Several locals, it is said, have filed charges, and, in addition, the Chicago locals have sent out petitions all over the country requesting that a special convention be held some time this fall, having for the purpose the election of a new corps of officials.

The Pittsburgh district council will vote favorable for a special convention, and it also filed charges against the general officers.

Government to Honor Corral.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Assistant Secretary of State Loomis had interviews today with the secretary of navy and Gen. Chaffee for the purpose of arranging for army and navy officials at San Francisco to receive upon his arrival there next week Vice President Corral of Mexico, who is now at St. Louis as the personal representative of President Diaz.

Cabinet Officers to Visit Headquarters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Two cabinet officers were at Republican national headquarters today. Secretary Taft, accompanied by his brother, Henry W. Taft, held quite a long conference with Senator Scott and Mr. Brooker and Joseph H. Manley of Maine, regarding the general situation, but more particularly in the New England states. Secretary Shaw was at headquarters discussing the speaking dates that he is yet to fill.

Employes Under Civil Service.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The census bureau today issued a report on the executive civil service of the United States showing a total of 271,160 employes, embracing all persons employed in the executive branches of the federal government except enlisted men in military and naval branches.

The Rev. Dr. David Breed of Western Theological seminary, whose ability as a preacher is favorably known, will preach at Bellefield Presbyterian church, Fifth and Bellefield avenues, morning and evening for the next four Sabbaths.

MORE TOWNS WELCOME M. & M. EXCURSIONISTS

East Liverpool and Cadiz Will Extend a Glad Hand to Pittsburgh Business Men.

Manager J. W. Wardrop of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association announced yesterday that all plans had been completed and the arrangements finished for the excursion to Ohio during the coming week. He has received a number of additional invitations from the business men of the towns which will be visited, extending the hospitality of these citizens to the visitors.

The Business association of East Liverpool sent a message, saying that a committee is at work there making the arrangements for the visit.

From Cadiz, O., came two announcements. Cashier J. M. Schreiber of the Fourth National bank wrote that an escort will meet the train at Cadiz Junction. A. J. Hammond, chairman, and J. V. Conn, secretary, of a meeting of Cadiz business men, sent word that committees from every line of business, accompanied by a band, would meet the train on its arrival in the city and escort the whole party to the court house. There a welcome will be extended by Mayor Scott and a reception will be held to further the acquaintance of the Pittsburgh and the Cadiz men.

On each side of the baggage car on the train throughout the trip will be canvas signs, 60 feet long and 3 feet wide, announcing the name of the organization and its trip. Pittsburgh colors, yellow and black, will fly from every handle. The train will be personally conducted by Mr. Fleming of the Pennsylvania lines passenger department.

B. A. Kaiser, special agent of the railway department of the American Telegraph and Telephone Company, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday morning to perfect the arrangements for the special courtesies which that Bell system will extend to the "M. and M." As already announced in The Gazette, telephone connection with the 'phones on the train will be made at every night stop and free service given to the members of the party.

NO ATTENTION GIVEN TO COMPLAINTS OF CITIZENS

Allegheny Property Owners Contemplate Suit Against City to Compel Street Improvements.

It is possible legal steps will be taken by the residents of the Ninth and Eleventh wards, Allegheny, to compel the city to make improvements on McClure avenue, from Hanover street to Preble avenue. The necessary measures providing for the repairs have been indorsed by councils and numerous delegations of citizens have called on Director McIlvain of the public works department to urge him to proceed. To none of these appeals has any attention been given by McIlvain, and evidently he intends to allow the street to remain in its present impassible condition. As it is, wagons can only with difficulty traverse the thoroughfare and heavy hauling is impossible. This state of affairs has continued for more than a year.

Several weeks ago Councilman John R. Henricks of the Eleventh ward declared on the floor of councils that the delay was due to incompetency in the department of public works.

Councilman J. P. Wall of the Ninth ward threatens McIlvain with mandamus proceedings to compel him to put McClure avenue into a condition fit for traffic. Some of the property holders in the vicinity have consulted attorneys and have been advised to bring action to compel the city to start work.

YOUNG COLORED GIRL IS SUSPECTED OF UGLY CRIME

Alleged to Have Administered Poison to Invalid in Whose Home She Had Lived.

Following an alleged attempt to poison Robert Jackson, colored, Alice Johnson, 14 years old and colored, was brought from Elizabeth yesterday and is held for juvenile court on a commitment issued by Justice of the Peace William Easton of Elizabeth. The Johnson girl lived in Jackson's home, in the country back of Elizabeth. Jackson's feet were frozen last winter and blood-poisoning set in. Two toes were amputated by Dr. A. A. Peterson a week ago.

When Dr. Peterson went to see his patient Thursday night he found him suffering from carbolic acid poisoning. He administered antidotes and the man is now out of danger. Suspicion pointed to the Johnson girl. Jackson, it is stated, recently punished the girl. Mrs. Jackson filed information against the girl.

ACTION IN GOODS ARRIVING ON NAVAL COLLIER HANNIBAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—The treasury department has received a telegram from Collector Banks at Norfolk, Va., saying no seizures of oriental goods arriving on the naval collier Hannibal have been made and that 24 packages have been released under the exemption laws. Twenty-nine packages, consisting of liquors, oriental rugs, carpets, silk and lace goods have been held to ascertain dutiable fees. The consignees have been notified to send bills of cost.

CASHIER PLEADS GUILTY OF FALSE BANK REPORT

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14.—Walter Finney, former cashier of the Second National bank of Belair, Md., pleaded guilty today before Judge Morris of the United States district court upon the charge of making a false report of the bank's finances to the comptroller of the treasury, and was sentenced to jail for five years. Finney secured about $25,000 from the bank through his misrepresentations.

Reduction in Government Estimates.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—Estimates of appropriations for the several departments of the government were under consideration today by the president and his cabinet. Secretary Hitchcock expressed the belief that the estimates for the interior department would be about $3,000,000 less than last year. Some of the other departments indicated a nearly corresponding reduction.

Santo Domingo Will Pay Award.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—Mr. Dawson, American minister at Santo Domingo, cabled the state department today that the minister for finance had agreed to pay the award of the arbitrators in the case of the Santo Domingo Improvement Company, amounting to $4,800,000, although previously refusing.

BIG DINING HALL AT ASPINWALL

Larkin Says Engineer Knowles Has Another Innovation at Filtration Plant.

TELLS WHY HE PAID SHEPHERD

Controller Larkin yesterday endeavored to explain why he had refused to pay the expense account of Morris Knowles, chief filtration engineer, for trips to Columbus, Cleveland, Atlantic City and other places, when he had paid the expenses, for the same trips, of A. B. Shepherd, superintendent of the water bureau.

"Mr. Shepherd," said the controller, "is the head of a big bureau that is supplying 270,000 of people with yater. He takes these trips once or twice a year and they are necessary to keep the water bureau up to its present high standard of efficiency. Whenever he hears of an improvement in machinery he goes to see it, and thus gains information of value to the service of the city. I pay his bills gladly. But the filtration bureau is only an infant industry.

"There is no filtration plant in existence, and until there is I see no reason for the chief engineer running about the country getting pointers. Mr. Knowles is a man with very extravagant ideas and spends money like a king. About $300,000 has already been spent for filtration purposes and the only thing there is to show for this expenditure is a large dining hall, which I am told has been erected at Aspinwall, where, it is said, someday a filtration plant will be constructed.

"I have heard that this dining hall is a very ornate affair; that it has red cedar shingles and has been put up without regard to expense. I don't know who is to be dined there or what the bill of fare will be, but there is no doubting that it will be all that could be desired. Mr. Knowles is certainly improving on Philadelphia, where he was once employed, for I was at the magnificent Torresdale plant in Philadelphia the other day, and I saw nothing of the kind there."

The controller claims the finance committee had no right, on Thursday, to pass a resolution to transfer $54,500, which is to be paid by the Wabash railroad for the engine house property at Liberty and Fourth avenues, the money not yet having been received. The controller claims this money should be turned into the general fund of the city, and he expects to use it in paying off salaries and bills pending against the city, instead of allowing the money to be spent by the bureau of fire to build another engine house in First avenue.

Director Bigelow said yesterday that notwithstanding Select Councilman Peter Hermes prevented the transfer of the $10,000 appropriated for the Bluff street park, in the Sixth ward, that the park would not be built. Bigelow dubbed it the "Shoestring Park," saying that it was 6,000 feet long and only five feet wide. He said trees would not grow in the park, because of gas from the gas plant below Bluff street in Second avenue. Appropriations have been made several times for this park, but every time Director Bigelow has transferred the money to some other purpose.

The complaint of the Sixth warders is that Bigelow cares nothing for small parks of "breathing spots," which are intended for the benefit of the poorer classes, who cannot go to Schenley and Highland parks, which are the hobbies of the director.

PRESIDENT IS IMPRESSED WITH APPEAL FOR KONGO

Secretary Hay Authorizes This Statement by Morel—Cabinet Considering the Matter.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—E. D. Morel, honorary secretary of the Kongo Reform association, who recently presented President Roosevelt a memorial regarding alleged atrocities in the Kongo country, committed, it is stated in the memorial, by agents of the Belgian government, today had an interview with Secretary of State Hay. Afterward Mr. Morel said:

"The precise nature of our interview was private; but it was authorized by Secretary Hay to state that the president had been impressed favorably by the strength and moderation of the memorial and by the representative nature of the signatures attached to it and that the whole subject is receiving careful consideration by the president and his cabinet."

ORDINANCE OFFICER WILL KEEP SIDEWALKS CLEAR

Murray G. Livingstone, chief ordinance officer, is making an investigation of storekeepers who block the sidewalks with boxes on which they display their goods. In the downtown section of the city many small dry goods merchants and fruit dealers occupy almost half the sidewalks in front of their places. Information will be made against them.

TAXPAYERS ARE ANGRY AT PLAN

They Say Enough Bunco Work Has Been Done in Public Building in Pittsburgh.

OTHER SCHEMES PROPOSED

If the two-story disfiguration to the court house is pushed ahead without a thorough airing it will be against the demands of a large body of voters who propose to have something to say about the way the project is carried out if by any slip of fate it ever reaches the point of actual consummation. No better evidence of popular sentiment on any question can be secured than the passing comments of citizens on the street or riding to and from their homes. Dozens of the most emphatic protests were made by such voters yesterday, and not a few of them carried a threat of vigorous action at once.

"This county has been buncoed enough by badly planned buildings," said a prominent taxpayer yesterday. "It is time that a halt was called and more care taken in building structures that will last for generations and that should be a source of constant pride to Pittsburgh. To vandalize the court house in the way proposed would be a burning disgrace to the city and to Allegheny county. The county has never lacked for funds to carry out schemes much more costly and less reasonable than building a small structure on some of the adjacent streets to give the needed room, and it should not hesitate now to provide for years to come by building anew instead of wrecking the work of a man whose skill in architecture was recognized the world over."

Many taxpayers believe that even the addition of two more stories to the court house would not afford room enough for but a few years. Then the county would have to face the same difficulty again, and would have meanwhile the spectacle of a work of art ruined to gratify a temporary wish of officials in office. There are others who think that a building could be put up in Grant or Diamond streets that would be amply large enough for present purposes and would be a suitable adjunct, architecturally, to the court house.

The majority of architects in the city are heartily in favor of the plans for the addition being exposed and published, with the details to show the public exactly how far they conform to the lines laid down by Architect Richardson. Few believe the addition can be made in any way that will not ruin the work of art. As one well-known architect expressed it yesterday, "To add two stories to the court house and leave the tower where it is would be like trying to push a goose's head down its neck."

MY LADY OF THE NORTH

¶ The new romance by the author of "When Wilderness Was King" is ready.

¶ It is the love-story of a dashing Southern officer and is even better than Mr. Parrish's first book.

¶ Ask your bookseller for it whenever you are prepared to give up everything else to read it. Once fairly started you are lost to all outside distractions.

WILD WEST RAID ON GOTHAM FIRM

Men Compel Signing of Check. Cow Employes With Revolver Until Cashed.

CLAIM WAGES WERE DUE THEM

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Wild west methods in Fifth avenue caused a sensation today, when two men held up the office of George V. Blackburn & Co., publishers, No. 114 Fifth avenue, at the point of a revolver and forced the manager of the concern, Frank MacDeavitt, to sign a check, which one of the men cashed while the other remained in the room for almost an hour holding the cowed employes of the firm in their places with the revolver still in his hand. About a dozen persons were in the office. Bookkeeper Denne tried to reach a telephone, but was foiled.

Mr. Blackburn, head of the firm, who had been absent, entered during the excitement. His arrival percipitated a crisis. Regardless of the weapon thrust at him he shouted wildly from the high window out on Fifth avenue for help, causing the man to take flight. The two men, James A. Gelabert from Missouri and Charles Gardiner of Brooklyn, were arrested. Gelabert declared that the check demanded simply represented wages, due them as agents, which the firm refused to pay.

"So far as known there was no salary arrangement with Gelabert or Gardiner," said Mr. Denne tonight. "They each of them turned in a lot of worthless orders, which we investigated and decided to have nothing to do with, as we couldn't make sales to those signing the orders."

At Gelabert's home his wife and four children awaited him, and when the wife learned what had befallen her husband she fainted. That Gelabert was desperately in need of money was shown by the condition of the room in which he lived.

GERMANY IS EXCITED.

Killing of Citizen by Russian Frontier Soldiers, Stirs Up Inhabitants.

BERLIN, Oct. 14.—(Special Cable.)—The news has just reached here from Myslewitch, in Prussia Silesia, that Russian soldiers stationed near the frontier have attacked citizens of that town and killed a man named Schulz, although he was standing on Prussian territory.

There are already many, especially among the socialists and opposition parties, who declare that the kaiser is catering to Russia in a way which has brought Germany into contempt. The papers have published the fact that a man was shot and killed by Russian soldiers without any comment, and the government press warns the people not to get excited until they know what caused the conflict.

POLICE FORCE RESIGNS.

Glassport Officials at Once Fill the Vacancies—Burgess Is Disgusted.

At a meeting of the Glassport borough police committee last night the entire police force, consisting of Chief Peter Kelly and Patrolmen Ed. S. McGowan and Patrick Peyton, resigned without giving any cause. Their resignations were immediately accepted and the following force appointed: Thomas Burns, chief; Thomas Case and Charles Harbaugh.

There has been friction between council and the police all this year, and the residents of the borough are disgusted with the quarrel. Burgess H. C. Griffin has nothing to say, but his annoyance is evident and he may resign in a short time.

OLD, BUT SHE CAN SHOOT.

Determined Woman Holds Posse at Bay for Hours Before Surrending.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Wrs. William Reed, aged 60, of near Bellefonte, held four officers at bay nearly all day, and before she was placed under arrest she shot Constable Montgomery through the left hand.

The Bellefonte Central Railroad Company owns the water rights on the Reed farm and Mrs. Reed, this morning, threatened to shoot a railroader sent to make repairs at the broken dam. Later, when the officers arrived, she barricaded the door of her house and held the officers off until tonight, when she surrendered.

SILENCE BROKEN BY DIVORCE SUIT

Ten Years of Married Life Kept Secret Until Legal Action Lifts the Veil.

ALLEGATIONS OF HUSBAND

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau.
Press Building.
PHILADELPHIA, PA., Oct. 14.

Behind a suit for divorce instituted today there lies a remarkable story of a marriage kept secret for 10 years and a $100,000 suit for the alienation of a wife's affections, which although begun more than a year ago, has just become public.

Francis Tracy Tobin, a well-known lawyer and noted figure in Democratic politics, is the defendant in the divorce case. The $100,000 suit was instituted by him and the defendant is William J. Burgin, Jr., of 225 North Twentieth street, a member of the Burgin & Sons Glass Company.

The third figure in the story, Mrs. Mary Black Tobin, is a first cousin of Charles C. Black, Democratic candidate for governor of New Jersey. She is living at Blacks island, Tinicum township, Delaware county. The island, which comprises several hundred acres, was owned by her father, who died several years ago.

Suit for divorce was instituted on behalf of Mrs. Tobin at Media today. Desertion is alleged. She declares that after living with her for one night at the Lafayette hotel in Philadelphia, her husband deserted her, and the desertion has continued since that time. The marriage was performed in Baltimore, February 23, 1903.

Mr. Tobin, when seen tonight, denied his wife's claims altogether, saying that it was she who had refused to live with him. Then he told how they had been married more than 10 years ago and how he had concealed the wedding at her request. He further alleged that Burgin was the cause of the trouble, and told of the entering of the suit against Burgin a year ago on the charge of alienating his wife's affections.

An informal dinner was tendered the art jury now viewing pictures at the Carnegie art galleries by the directors of Carnegie museum in one of the private dining parlors of Hotel Schenley last evening. There was no speechmaking. The directorate was represented by John Caldwell, W. N. Frew, Joseph R. Woodwell, A. Bryan Wall, William McConway, E. M. Bigelow, James S. Wightman, John W. Beatty, Robert Pitcairn, the Hon. James H. Reed, S. H. Church, Dr. W. J. Holland, E. H. Anderson and Arthur A. Hammerschlag.

To Protect City Water Tanks.

The work of building the roof over the water tanks at Greentree hill, Allegheny, will be commenced early next week. Councils have provided an appropriation for the work. Director McIlvain says he intends improving the grounds about the place with money contributed by a public-spirited citizen, whose name is withheld.

THREE BROTHERS BURIED IN WEST VIRGINIA MINE

Minister's Sons Caught by Cave-In, Neighbors Work Desperately at Rescue.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Oct. 14.—Entombed in a coal bank at East Lynn—whether dead or alive is not yet known—are the three sons of the Rev. Thomas Napier of that town, which is 20 miles south of Huntington. The three have been imprisoned behind a fall of earth since 8 o'clock this morning.

As soon as word of the accident spread throughout the region surrounding East Lynn scores of men from every part of the county hurried to the place, armed with picks and shovels, to save the buried men if they should still be alive.

The Napiers have a farm of hilly land, underlaid with coal, and the three sons of Mr. Napier had started to drive a way into the coal. They had dug more than 100 feet into the hill. This morning the young men prepared to post the roof, when hundreds of tons of earth suddenly fell at the mouth of the mine, entrapping them. A boy passing a short time afterwards noticed the cave-in, and knowing of the presence of the three brothers inside, gave the alarm. The entire country for miles around quickly received the news and the wildest excitement prevailed. Late tonight the rescuers are still pushing on and by the light of torches scores of men continue to ply pick and shovel, while women, with anxious faces, help in removing the debris.

Workmen Leaving Youngstown.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Crews of rollers, spanners and straighteners are leaving the city to take jobs in mills of the Republic Iron and Steel Company at Moline, Ill., and elsewhere on account of the strike which is on at the steel hoop mills. Twenty-five experienced men will leave here Saturday, and a week from Saturday a roller will take his two crews. M. F. Tighe arrived here this morning to pay the strike benefits. They amount to $6,000.

Fairbanks in Pennsylvania.

ALTOONA, PA., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Charles W. Fairbanks, Republican nominee for vice president, has consented to spend a day in Central Pennsylvania during the present campaign, and this county is selected as the place for the visit. The date arranged is Friday, October 21. A public reception will be held here on that afternoon and in the evening he will deliver an address at the court house in Hollidaysburg. A general holiday will be observed by the Republicans.

President Attends Theater.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—President and Mrs. Roosevelt occupied a box at the Columbia theater tonight, and witnessed the comic opera, "The Yankee Consul," in which Raymond Hitchcock takes the leading role. Accompanying them were Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., Mr. Hale, a guest at the White House, and Miss Hagner.

FOUND HER ERRANT SPOUSE.

Asks Injunction to Prevent Him Spending $10,000 Given Him on Wedding Day.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Mrs. Joseph Brooks Rogers of Knoxville, formerly Miss Frances Levering Pfouts of this city, who was secretly married here on September 28 and whose husband ran away from her at Knoxville last Saturday with $10,000 of her money, has located him in Cincinnati.

Word was received here today that yesterday the bride and her brother, George S. Pfouts of this city, with their attorney, went from Knoxville to Cincinnati and there obtained an injunction to prevent Rogers converting the negotiable paper for the amount his wife gave him into cash. The money was given him on their wedding day for the purpose of investment.

Practical Test of the "Tri-Motor" Satisfactory to Stockholders at Sharon.

SHARON, PA., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—A practical test of an engine built by the Tri-Motor Company of Sharon, which, it is claimed, will revolutionize motive power, was made this morning and was witnessed by many manufacturers.

ACQUITTAL RESULT OF CHEMICAL DISCOVERY

New Find by Chemists in Trial of Pure Food Suit Against Chocolate Makers.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

HOLLIDAYSBURG, Oct. 14.—A new fact in chemistry was brought to light in the Blair county quarter sessions court today in a pure food prosecution against the Altoona sales agents of Crofts & Allen of Philadelphia for selling chocolate adulterated with wheat starch.

The analysis made by State Chemists F. T. Aschman of Pittsburgh and J. G. Frear of State College tended to show the existence of starch, and their conclusions were at first accepted by Dr. John Marshall of the University of Pennsylvania and Dr. Henry Kremer of Philadelphia.

The manufacturers still insisted there were no adulterations. The four chemists, under the direction of the court, again made an analysis today. The result showed that the cocoa bean, when subjected to a certain character of heat, became so like wheat in which it would be impossible to distinguish it therefrom. On the strength of this scientific discovery the court directed the acquittal of the Crofts & Allen agents.

CANDIDATES FOR SACRED ROBES

Third Day of Conference Given Up to Applicants for Trial and Membership.

BISHOP FOWLER'S SERMONS

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

LEECHBURG, PA., Oct. 14.—Despite his recent illness, Bishop Charles H. Fowler, D. D., LL. D., the venerable presiding officer of the Pittsburgh annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, now in session here, delivered two eloquent addresses within four hours' time. At the close of the conference session in the morning he spoke for nearly two hours to the seven candidates for admission to full membership in the conference, and at 2 o'clock in the afternoon he addressed the fifth annual convention of the Lay association of the Pittsburgh conference, held in the Leechburg opera house.

The entire session of conference today was given up to the candidates, both for admission on trial and full membership in the conference. Immediately after the devotional exercises requests for admission were received for partial admission to the conference and the conference went into executive session immediately for the examination of the candidates for admission on trial. Of the 18 applicants 15 were found proficient and were admitted. One failed of admission and two were withdrawn. The successful candidates are: A. W. Renton, Alexander Steel, E. L. Pierce, Ernest Fryckland, C. P. Sallade, Judson Jeffries, Albert E. Travis, William M. Buzza, A. C. Saxman, James S. Ferris, Oscar B. Emerson, George A. Allison, William J. Law, Matthew Hunts, John W. Langdale.

After the general session convened a class of seven applicants for admission to full membership in the conference answered the "disciplinary" questions asked by the bishop and was addressed by him on their future career. The class is composed of Walter J. Hunter, Herbert L. Humbert, Herbert R. Morris, William P. Townsend, Norman B. Fierstone, Scott E. Winebrenner and Frederick D. Essenwein.

In his address to the candidates Bishop Fowler gave an explanation of the difference between "sanctification" and "crankification," saying:

"Sanctification is sweet, crankification is sour; sanctification is charitable to others, crankification is charitable toward itself. I hope no one is mad at me for saying this. If they are it is a demonstration that they are 'cranktified.'"

A resolution was adopted sanctioning the sale of the old Methodist church at Millvale to the German Lutheran congregation of the place. The annual convention of the Lay association, opened in the opera house at 9:30 o'clock, but as the president, R. F. Hopwood of Uniontown, was not present and no program had been prepared, the convention was postponed until the afternoon. After appointing a committee to extend the greeting of the association to the conference and invite Bishop Fowler to address the delegates, the convention adjourned until 1:15 p. m. Ninety-one delegates were present. At the opening of the afternoon session Dr. Morrow addressed the convention on behalf of the Bible society and the Rev. J. T. Steffey spoke in behalf of the permanent annuity fund, urging the laymen to support this splendid project. D. K. Murray of Wilkinsburg was elected president of the Lay association and the following delegates vice presidents from their respective districts: J. M. Lyons, Allegheny district; W. W. Ulrich, Blairsville; Prof. G. F. Lamb, McKeesport; John B. Digby, Pittsburgh; J. V. H. Cook, Washington. W. T. Wiley was elected recording secretary; E. J. Johns, corresponding secretary, and T. M. Moehling, treasurer.

The bishop delivered a brief address, speaking for the first time on the all-absorbing topic of the conference, the appointment of ministers to their charges for the ensuing year. To use the bishop's metaphor: "The fitting of 200 pegs, many of them square ones, into 200 round holes is not a boy's job." He urged the members of congregations present to make the best of the pastors assigned them, no matter who he was, saying the "smart thing to do is to use him, and I don't care how much you use him. May you thus overrule the doings of the cabinet and stupid bishop. The right thing will be done to those who love the Lord, and if you don't love the Lord anything is good enough for you." In closing he expressed his approval of the laity and of the good they were doing the church.

Supt. A. M. Schoyer of the Pennsylvania Northwest lines, addressed the convention, speaking of his experiences as a delegate to the general conference at Los Angeles, last May. In the course of his remarks Mr. Schoyer eulogized Presiding Elder T. N. Boyle of the Pittsburgh district.

The Sabbath observance question was revived in a resolution, unanimously adopted, as follows: "Resolved, that we deplore the tendency manifested in many places to secularize the Sabbath and that we pledge ourselves and systematic efforts to secure its proper observance. And that we are unalterably opposed to any legislation looking to the relaxation of the Sabbath observance laws."

It was also resolved that pastor should receive better financial support; that suitable memorials be drawn on the deaths of Charles Parken of New Kensington and John G. Holmes of Pittsburgh. A committee was appointed to draw these memorials. A resolution was adopted congratulating the Pittsburgh conference on the good work done for the permanent annuity fund and urging the laity of the church to continued and increased efforts in securing this fund, the lowest limit to which should be $200,000. Prof. G. H. Lamb, E. L. Kidney, R. T. Wiley were appointed a committee on program, and Harvey Henderson, B. R. Covell and A. N. Keister a committee on the state of the church.

The anniversary meeting of the Woman's Home Missionary society of the conference was held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the Methodist Episcopal church. The Rev. W. H. H. Hees of the Smithfield Street Methodist Episcopal church addressed the meeting. The anniversary of the Missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church was held at 7:30 tonight in the First Methodist Episcopal church. The Rev. E. G. Loughrey presided. Officers for the coming year were elected as follows: President, the Rev. David Flanigan; first vice president, the Rev. W. S. Loughrey; second vice president, the Rev. John A. Wood; secretary, the Rev. J. T. Steffey; treasurer, the Rev. Joseph Horner. The anniversary of the veterans of the civil war was held in the new opera house at 7:30. Every seat was occupied and many had to stand. Music was furnished under the direction of J. H. Parks and D. K. Hill. The Rev. George S. Orbin also sang war songs. Following were the speeches by Chaplain McGuire, Tenth Pennsylvania reserves; the Rev. R. M. Sleece, Fourteenth cavalry; Chaplain Thomas Patterson, Ringgold cavalry; the Rev. J. A. Hamilton, light artillery; W. H. Kirkland, signal service; Chaplain J. C. High, Two Hundred and Sixth Pennsylvania volunteers; J. C. Utterman, Eleventh reserves, and C. W. Miller, Ninth reserves. The Rev. Mr. Orbin told of seeing Gen. Sheridan on his great ride in the Shenandoah valley.

LUTHERANS ON DIVORCE.

Radical Stand Taken in Synodical Meeting at Indiana Yesterday.

INDIANA, PA., Oct. 14.—The Lutheran synod closed its meetings this afternoon, after having been in session since Monday night. The last session was taken up principally in discussions of the evils of divorce and intemperance.

Two radical resolutions were reported. That on temperance called on all ministers to vote the Prohibition ticket throughout. This was objected to by many, but it was adopted after a sharp debate. The divorce resolution, to the effect that the only divorce justifiable is for adultery, and that the guilty party should not be married again by any minister, was adopted. The next synod will be held in Connellsville, in October, 1905.

Mexican Authorities Hanging Yaquis for the Murder of Wilkesbarre Man.

WILKESBARRE, PA., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—The family of Henry Martin at Ashley, near this city, who, with four companions, was killed by Yaqui Indians in Sonora province, Mexico, in September, received word today that the Mexican government has punished the murderers. Martin, who was manager of a Southern Pacific coal mine, started over the mountains September 8 with four Mexicans on a prospecting trip.

They were surrounded by Yaquis and killed and robbed. The driver escaped and spread the alarm. A couple of hundred troops were sent into the mountains, and after two weeks' pursuit captured the tribe which was guilty of the murder. Three were hanged, one sentenced to life imprisonment and 15 exiled. The pursuit is continuing after several of the actual murderers, who are to be hanged when captured.

CLEVELAND TEAM WINS SERIES---FATHER AGAINST SON FOR GOLF HONORS

CLEVELAND IS THE CHAMPION

Took Final Game from Pirates, Who Went to Pieces at Critical Stage of Game.

HESS PITCHED GREAT BALL

By winning yesterday's game, 4 to 1, the Cleveland club captured the post-season series and became the Intercity champions. It was a hard blow for the Pirates and their friends, who turned out to the number of 3,620, but it was a well deserved victory for the American leaguers, who played the best ball and therefore deserved to win. Any team that can't do better than secure two base hits in nine innings could hardly look for a victory, and that was the locals' record in the hitting line.

As that things might have turned out differently had Fred Clarke been in his old-time form and took a chance on a liner sent to left field by Bemis in the seventh inning. The hit was one of those low line drives which Clarke, when he is in shape, likes to gather in, but he has been out of the game so long and has not yet fully recovered from his sick spell, that he was afraid to take the chance and the drive counted for a hit and gave Cleveland its first run. To make matters worse Clarke made a bad play in fielding the ball throwing it to Leach instead of Wagner or Ritchey, and Bris gave Bemis a chance to reach second, from which point he scored the second run on a couple of punky hits.

The seventh inning was a nightmare for the local rooters in more respects than one, and there was some very poor displays of baseball judgment on the part of the infielders. In this inning the visitors secured five hits and they were not entitled to more than two, as Bransfield went away from his base to gather in grounders that the second baseman could have secured. This left first base uncovered and the grounders on which there should have been outs were turned into hits, as the other players did not have time to get over and cover the bag.

It was little wonder in the face of such work that the pitcher should weaken, and that is just what happened to Robertaille who, up until that time, had been pitching such grand ball that the spectators forced him to doff his cap at the conclusion of each inning. In the first six innings of the heavy hitting Cleveland team had only been able to secure two hits off the youngster's delivery, and he was working his slow ball to perfection on such sluggers as Lajoie, Flick and Bradley. It looked like a shut-out and the crowd was clamoring for such a result.

The loyal support in the seventh seemed to unnerve the young pitcher and in the next inning the curves and shoots which had proved so puzzling in the earlier innings, became easy with the result that three hits were made, a single by Stovall, a three-bagger by Lush and a double by Bemis, which brought in the only runs. Mr. Flaherty was called on to pitch the ninth inning and but for a double play by Clarke and Ritchey more runs would have been scored. In this inning Clarke made one of his famous catches of a low liner and had he turned the same kind of a play in the seventh it is doubtful if the visitors would have scored a run.

Hess, the lefthander, who looks as tall as a telegraph pole and who has an assortment of speed and curves that are bewildering, was on the rubber for the visitors, and he more than made good, as is shown by the fact that in the nine innings the Pirates could only secure two hits, one of these being a two-bagger by Wagner in the left field foul line. The hit was made in the second inning, and it was the hit that gave the Pirates their only run. Wagner went to third on an out at first and scored on Leach's fly out to Lush. The tall lefthander had six strikeouts to his credit, and in the third inning he struck out the side, which he was given a round of applause.

Both teams were credited with their share of the ball played was of the very best. The visitors, however, seemed to be the steadiest in action. Still their work was comparatively easy, as the Pirates were unable to do any hitting to make difficult chances. The work of Umpire Klem was open to criticism and he gave the Pirates the wrong end of two close plays. His decision when he called Beaumont out at first in the sixth inning drew a stormy protest from the players and a volley of hoots and hisses from the spectators. The score:

WESTMINSTER MEN WATCH W. U. P. TEAM AT PRACTICE

Old-Time Rivals Meet This Afternoon at Exposition Park—Hard Contest Is Expected.

The final practice yesterday of Western university for the game this afternoon at Exposition park with Westminster was watched closely by several Westminster men. Capt. Yale.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Resting them for the game with Syracuse tomorrow, Yale's football coaches today kept Captain Hogan, Bloomer, Kinney and Sheviin out of all scrimmages. The remainder of the team, with first substitutes in the gaps of the line, played a whirlwind game with the second eleven. Several Harvard men who were present as spectators remarked favorably upon what they saw, especially the work of Tripp, Yale's right guard, who was used frequently in carrying the ball. On a new play on the order of the delayed pass, Flinn, fullback, broke through the line today for a 20-yard run. The varsity lost the ball 10 yards from the scrubs' goal by a fumble, but soon regained it and scored. It is planned to begin secret practice next week in preparation for the West Point game of a week hence.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Harvard left here for West Point this afternoon with the largest squad she has ever taken down to meet the cadets. Twenty-eight men were taken, and a number of subs will be played the game tomorrow. Carr, who was slated for right tackle, has a bad knee and will not be in the game. Filley, captain of the varsity crew, who has been out only four days, will play left end, and Leary, another new man, who has been doing good punting, will go in at right end.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—Cornell is ready for Bucknell tomorrow. The game will be the hardest one played so far this season and the Cornell eleven expects a hard battle. Last year Bucknell was defeated 6 to 0. This afternoon both the varsity and scrub elevens were given a long drill at running back the ball to the kick-off. Then the two elevens spent half an hour running through the plays which will be used against Bucknell tomorrow.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—(Special.)—The U. of P. varsity and scrub battled for half an hour this afternoon in preparation for a hard game with Brown tomorrow, without either side being able to score. Finally, just before the practice closed, the first eleven rushed the ball over the line, Corson making the touchdown on a quarterback run. The feat of the Brown eleven in defeating Wesleyan by 12 to 0, almost as large a score as Columbia made against Wesleyan, has caused the coaches to be uneasy over tomorrow's contest. Last year Pennsylvania overwhelmed Brown 36 to 0, but no such score is anticipated tomorrow; in fact, the red and blue will be lucky to get off without being scored upon. The Brown game will be the first appearance of Greene and Folwell, the two freshman halfbacks, as it was announced tonight that both men would be allowed to play tomorrow. Capt. Torrey declared tonight that the reports that Pennsylvania had protested Meetzenthin, the Columbia quarterback, were absolutely false.

LEXINGTON MEET ENDS AT LAST

Was Great Gathering of Harness Horses and Many World's Records Were Broken.

THE FAVORITES WERE IN FRONT

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

LEXINGTON, KY., Oct. 14.—Today closed the 10 days' trotting meeting at Lexington, during which nearly $75,000 was distributed in stakes and purse races. Six world's records were broken and several stake records were lowered. The favorites won the three races on today's card in three straight heats. Snyder McGregor captured the Stoll stake for 4-year-old trotters. Nancy H. won the 2:20 class pacing and Tom Axworthy won the 2:20 class trotting.

In the first heat of the 2:20 class pacing Royal Bell, a bay gelding owned by G. H. Camp of Oswego, N. Y., and driven by George Swisher, fell dead at the distance flag. The betting on him was 8 to 1 before the race. The other drivers noticed that he was puffing hard in the stretch, but his owner thought Nancy H. just before the distance flag was reached he suddenly dropped dead and fell against the fence, breaking through it and overturning and smashing the sulky. Swisher was thrown from his seat, but sustained only an injured knee. The horse was valued at $1,000. Summaries:

PLAYED NO SCORE GAME.

Allegheny Preps and Beaver High School Struggle Without Result.

BEAVER, PA., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—The Allegheny Prep team and Beaver High school played a no-score game today. The Prep's, although outweighed, played a plucky game and were really entitled to it by their consistent playing. They advanced to within 5 yards of the goal line but were held for downs. The remainder of the half was a repetition of this kind of play. In the second half many good end runs were made by both teams. Worcester tried for a field goal, but it was blocked. Another attempt resulted in a bad pass. Lineup:

HIGH SCHOOL WINS WELL PLAYED GAME

Geneva College Reserves Are Held on Three-inch Line, Score 5 to 0.

WORRELL MAKES LONG RUN

The Pittsburgh High school eleven won from the Geneva college reserves, a husky and fast bunch of football players, yesterday afternoon at Friendship park, 5 to 0, in a spectacular and hotly contested game.

Pittsburgh scored its only touchdown early in the first half, and before the same round had closed the collegians had forced their way down the field, only to lose the ball on High School's three-yard line. The High School line stiffened on its three-yard line, and in the three downs the visitors hurled their full strength against the preps, who offered a resistance that was inspiring to the school boys and girls present.

Geneva got the ball on the kick-off, but lost it on downs. On the first lineup, which was on High School's 40-yard line, Pfeffer gained five yards and then Worrell tore off 20 yards around the end. Worrell, Pfeffer and McAllister took turns in advancing the ball until it was on the two-yard line, where McAllister was given it for the final assault. He was sent against left tackle, and when the scrimmage was over he was sitting across the line. Verner missed a goal, a difficult chance.

Geneva secured the ball on the kick-off, and started down the field. Van Gorder, the little one, was unable to stop the rushes, and Geneva forced its way to within three yards of the goal line, where High School made its heroic stand. The playing there after in the rest of this half and in the second was even. The lineup:

Pittsburgh—5.		Geneva—0.
Verner	L. E.	George
Orr	L. T.	Copeland
Woods	L. G.	McDonald
Uptegraf	C.	Hawk
Pfeffer	R. G.	Powell

Pfeffer	L. H.	Aiken
Worrell	R. H.	McClurkin

Touchdown—McAlister. Referee—McDivitt, W. & J. Umpire—Barnes—Princeton. Time—20 and 15-minute halves.

TODAY WILL DECIDE.

Miss Bishop and Mrs. Sanford to Fight It Out for Woman's Golf Championship.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 14.—Miss Georgeanna Bishop of the Brooklawn Country club, Bridgeport, Conn., and Mrs. E. S. Sanford of the Essex County club, Orange, N. J., will meet tomorrow on the links of the Merion Cricket club at Haverford, to decide the owmen's golf championship of the United States. Miss Bishop has, on several occasions, figured prominently in championship contests, but Mrs. Sanford occupies the honor of a semi-finalist for the first time. Mrs. Sanford's victories have been attributable to her splendid approaching and deadly putting.

Miss Bishop, on the other hand, has played a splendid long game, while her putting has shown considerable raggedness. Miss Bishop's experience in the championship tournament is expected to help her considerably tomorrow when she meets Mrs. Sanford in the final round for the championship.

Miss Dod, the English champion, met with another defeat today when she played off the tie match with Miss Louise Vanderhoef of Ardsley, and Miss Harriett Curtis of Essex county, for the two trophies offered by the United States Golf association in the qualifying stroke play round. They had tied on Monday with 93, and this afternoon Miss Vanderhoef and Miss Dod tied a second time at 101 for the 18 holes. In the play-off both negotiated the 19th hole in six, and Miss Vanderhoef secured the 20th hole and the first prize, with a four to Miss Dod's six. Miss Curtis dropped out at the 16th hole.

EAST LIBERTY BEATEN.

Wilkinsburg High School Wins Game by 5 to 0 Score.

The Wilkinsburg High school beat East Liberty academy yesterday 5 to 0. Although Wilkinsburg was slightly outweighed, it was faster, and showed better execution of plays. E. L. A. kicked off to Wilkinsburg and Cupples, who secured the ball, made a good gain before downed. After three minutes of play Thounhurst was sent through left tackle and secured the only touchdown after a run of 70 yards. Turner and Duff played well for E. L. A., while Messner starred on end runs. Brubaker and Morrison also played excellent ball. Lineup:

Wilkinsburg—5.		E. L. A.—0.
Guder	L. E.	Nolan
Beam	L. T.	B. Lytle

FATHER AND SON FIGHT IT OUT

Local Golf Championship Is Between H. C. and W. C. Fownes, Jr.—Finals Today.

E. M. BYERS WAS BEATEN

The Western Pennsylvania Golf association's sixth annual amateur golf championship competition, was brought down through the first and semi-final rounds of 18 holes each yesterday. The championship is between father and son, H. C. and W. C. Fownes, Jr. The survivors are: First eight, W. C. Fownes, Jr., and his father, H. C. Fownes; second eight, J. E. Porter and C. C. Preston; third eight, E. E. Giles and G. E. McCague; fourth eight, B. H. Evans and L. C. Liddell. The finals at 36 holes will be played today. The probable winners are W. C. Fownes, Jr., J. E. Porter, E. E. Jiles and L. C. Liddell.

The feature of the competition yesterday was the defeat of E. M. Byers at the hands of W. C. Fownes, Jr., and of G. A. Ormiston by R. P. Nevin, Jr., both in the first round of match play. The latter is a golfer of international fame. His brassies are the most brilliant in the world. Ormiston is likewise a star in national events, being a vanquisher of the great Travis. Not everyone realizes that some of the best golf seen anywhere is offered right here in Pittsburgh.

Fownes' victory was in no sense a fluke, for he is playing golf on the Oakmont course that is almost unbeatable, as his medal score of 41-38 yesterday, attests. He was brilliant in every department of the game, and his holing of a 50-foot putt on the seventh green was a staggerer and had the gallery going. Byers lost the match by his poor work on the greens. If he did not approach practically dead he would miss easy putts for a hole and a half. He took the lead at the second hole, after getting into the trap and well out and Fownes rimming the cup, but lost the next hole by getting into the rough and then topping the second. Byers made a brilliant recovery, going to the fourth hole after getting into the gulley by approaching within seven feet, but missed his putt for the hole. He missed a similar putt at the sixth hole for the hole. Fownes holed a 50-foot putt at the seventh and was one up. Byers failed to take advantage of Fownes' bad cleek at the eighth and both missed four-foot putts for the hole at the ninth. Missing a short putt at the eleventh Byers failed to halve and Fownes was 2 up. There was a repetition of this at the thirteenth, and the match came to an end at the sixteenth when Byers was to the right in the bunker. They played the remaining holes and both had a three at the seventeenth, each holing 30-foot putts, and with a flash of his game Byers won the home hole in, 4-5.

The medal scores of the Fownes-Byers match were:

Fownes—
Out	5	5	5	6	4	3	3	4	6	—41
In	5	4	6	3	4	5	3	2	5	—38—79
Byers—
Out	5	4	6	6	4	3	4	3	6	—41
In	6	5	5	4	4	5	4	2	4	—40—81

Second only in importance was the Ormiston-Nevin match. Nevin laid Ormiston four strokes

STANDARD OIL'S REPLY TO RICE

Company Declares Allegation of Illegal Transaction of Business Not Supported.

NOT NEEDED, SAYS PLAINTIFF

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

TRENTON, N. J., Oct. 13.—The case of George Rice of Marietta, O., against the Standard Oil Company, charging the latter with transacting business in an illegal manner and praying for a dissolution of the corporation, was argued today before Judge William M. Lanning, in the United States circuit court here.

Richard V. Lindabury and Charles W. Fuller, representing the Standard Oil Company, argued in support of a motion to strike out the declaration in the Rice suit. Mr. Lindabury said the Standard Oil Company had been charged with being in league with the railroads and other common carriers to crush out competition by securing reduced transportation rates for itself, and by having prohibitive rates placed upon other concerns in the same line of business. If this was so, he said, it was the duty of the complainant to specify at least one of the transportation lines involved, in order that his clients might have a chance for defense.

Col. Fuller raised the point that to prepare a defense to the declaration as it now stands would involve the examination of 73,000 employes and the records of 20 trunk lines.

John Griffin and Charles E. Henrickson, representing Rice, contended that the acts complained of were so numerous and covered so long a period, that they properly constituted an exception to the general rule, requiring specific allegations as to time.

Counsel for each side will file supplemental briefs before the rendering of a decision on this phase of the case.

AMONG THE CLUBS

Working for $100,000 Bath-House.

The club women are considering the erection of a larger and more comprehensive Peoples Bath than at first intended. Enough money has been pledged and received to warrant commencing the work of building in Soho almost immediately, at a cost of $75,000. There are many people, however, who think that a more general institution should be established than was at first considered, and that reading rooms and club rooms for girls and boys should be added to the plan, which includes baths for men and women, swimming pools, club rooms for the men, with rest rooms for the women, a large assembly room and the public wash house in the basement, and possibly a day nursery. The women are now considering erecting a bath house which will cost $100,000. A meeting of the public baths committee, a sub-committee of the sanitation department of the permanent civic committee of Women's clubs, was held yesterday in the Civic club rooms. Mrs. Franklin P. Iams, chairman of the sanitation department, said in speaking of the work which has been done: "It is only the beginning of an organized effort to raise money. The public approves of the location and we would like to add to our present plan a place for the girls and boys to take them off the streets. Instead of building a $50,000 or $75,000 bath house, we think it will be wiser to wait until we can build a larger and better one, such as the public wants." Mrs. Iams wishes it understood that there are no accredited agents collecting money for the bath house and all money must be paid to the treasurer, Mrs. Gillilford B. Sweeney, 230 South Negley avenue, East End. At the meeting yesterday there was discussion of several plans. A mammoth entertainment will be given in the early part of the new year, probably in January, for the benefit of the Soho public baths.

More Delegates Elected.

The Women's club of Carnegie met yesterday and discussed the country and people of Russia. Mrs. H. A. Culbertson was chairman of the literary program. The geographical position of the country was presented in a map exercise by Mrs. D. W. Hopper. Mrs. H. A. Johns gave a description of the inhabitants. Current events were given by Miss Knepper, Mrs. Rodda and Miss Clark. Mrs. W. H. Lea read an article from the Club Woman. The music was in charge of Mrs. W. W. Booth.

During the business hour the club elected two delegates to the meeting of the state federation in Lancaster, Mrs. Herbert A. Johns and Mrs. Minnie O. Roberts. Mrs. Johns was the hostess of the club at president's day, the week previous. The new year books were presented at this meeting. They are bound in the club colors, green and white. The new officers of the club were introduced and responded with short talks. The officers are: President, Mrs. Herbert A. Johns; vice presidents, Mrs. William J. Glenn and Mrs. W. H. Lea; recording secretary, Mrs. Case A. Foster; corresponding secretary, Miss Grace Jarrett; treasurer, Mrs. Jesse H. Sanford.

Reception for Two Clubs.

Mrs. Robert D. Coard gave a large reception yesterday afternoon to the members of the Woman's club, whose president she is, and of the New Era club, of which she is a member. The hours were from 4 o'clock until 7, and over 300 clubwomen were in attendance at the tea, which was one of the prettiest and most enjoyable events of the early fall. Mrs. Coard received, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Anna Smith, and Mrs. Charles L. Wade, Mrs. James S. McKelvey, Mrs. W. P. Price, Mrs. A. C. Latimer, Mrs. Ama Sawhill, Mrs. Charles W. Gerwig, Mrs. Jane A. Hall, Mrs. Charles R. Wray, Mrs. Andrew Easton and Mrs. Dallas Albert. Across the hall was a group of assistants consisting of officers and past presidents of the New Era club, among whom were Mrs. James R. Kibler and Mrs. Levi Bird Duff. Among the guests were also presidents of many of the other woman's clubs in the two cities. In the dining room the members of the social committee of the Woman's club, Mrs. Anthony W. Smith, Jr., chairman, presided, the aids including Mrs. Florence E. Lea, Mrs. George Price, Mrs. Henry Lineweaver, Mrs. Harrington L. Butler, Mrs. Frank Whitesell, Mrs. John D. Hamilton, Mrs. Louis F. Newman, Mrs. Francis H. Brown, Mrs. A. U. Bean and Mrs. Edward H. Straub.

After Years of Terrible Suffering.

Mary Josephine Bazy, Floyd Knob, Ind., writes: "After suffering untold agonies for 32 years from Asthma, I was cured by Schiffmann's Asthma Cure. I used to be so bad that I could not move without help, but I can now do all my own work." Another writes: "My little boy 7 years old has been a sufferer for several years, some times so bad off that we could not hold him in bed, expecting any moment for him to breathe his last. Doctors did him no good and we had almost given up in despair, when through accident we heard of Schiffmann's Asthma Cure, tried it and it almost instantly relieved him." Mrs. D. C. Harris, Elbow P. O., Va.

Mr. W. Sererus, Cavalier, N. D., says: "I was troubled with asthma for 20 years, about 8 years ago I started to use your Asthma Cure, and have not had an attack for six years."

STOCKS FAIRLY BOOMED IN NEW YORK MARKET

Volume of Trading the Largest and Prices the Highest of the Year, Steel Stocks Leading. Local Securities Were Active.

By JOHN O. RAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The largest market of the year and the highest prices on this movement occurred in Wall street yesterday. The market was different from other recent ones in this respect: it steadily gained in volume throughout the day, and ended with a whirlwind finish. For the first two hours the sales foot up 561,900 shares, by 1 o'clock the total had reached 800,000 shares, and the total for the entire session fell short only a trifle of 1,500,000 shares. Heretofore there has been one particular hour during the day when trading was extremely active, and then for the remainder of the session there was comparative dullness. Yesterday, however, each succeeding hour recorded an increase in sales, and prices rose with the volume of business.

U. S. Steel issues were again the prominent leaders, although there were a number of other specialties which scored large gains on heavy transactions. Steel common opened at 19⅝ and rose steadily until it reached 20¼, closing at 20⅛ bid, a net gain of 1¼ per cent over the previous close. The preferred stock opened at 78 and in the final dealings reached 79⅞, the highest for more than a year, and a net gain for the day of 2½ per cent. The sinking fund bonds advanced from 86⅜ to 87⅝, which is the highest price ever quoted since the issue was admitted to official quotations on the exchange, although the bonds sold at a higher price on the "curb" before they were issued to subscribers.

The rise in the leader helped the entire group of iron and steel stocks, and while there was no definite news relating to business, there were reports of large orders being placed with the car and railroad equipment companies. Amalgamated Copper advanced to 64¼ and Sugar to 136, and both closed at practically the top. Peoples Gas made a new high mark for the year and closed at a net gain of 2¼ per cent.

Among the specialties the greatest advance was in Brooklyn Rapid Transit, which rose from 64¾ to 68¾ and closed at 67½. The street is very bullish on this stock and is receiving aid in the campaign by the covering of an extensive short interest. Metropolitan Street Railway and Metropolitan Securities both advanced and closed at net gains.

The railroad list, while consistently strong all day, did not join the upward movement with any degree of heartiness until after noon. Then a number of groups were taken up and advanced to the highest prices quoted this year. Shortly a block of Pennsylvania came out, but the market absorbed all offerings and rose to 135½, closing at 135¼. The other members of its group, including Baltimore & Ohio and Chesapeake & Ohio, were also active and higher. Among the active issues, Panhandle was conspicuous for a rise from 72¼ to 77, closing at 76 bid. The grangers, with St. Paul and Union Pacific in the lead, became buoyant in the late dealings and advanced to or over the previous high prices for the year. A feature of the closing hour was the buoyancy of Rock Island, which rose to 30¾ for the common and 74¾ for the preferred on enormous transactions.

The only news on the stock was the reported decrease of $285,000 in net earnings for August. The Gould stocks, which had been laggards in the upward movement, at last became active, and the entire market closed active and buoyant, although not in all cases at the highest prices.

There was no news to influence the market. In fact, traders did not have time for anything outside the execution of orders which came pouring into the market. Good buying by London, where our stocks were reported active, and a forecast showing that the banks had gained between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 cash for the week, were among the minor factors.

The local stock market also recorded the largest sales for any day this year, and the business was well distributed. U. S. Steel was the leader, and the advance here kept pace with that in New York. Crucible Steel was not affected by the buoyancy prevailing in this group in other markets. The common remained unchanged at 65⅞ and the preferred finally closed at 41¾, a net decline of ¼ per cent. The near approach of the annual meeting, the forecasts of an unfavorable showing of net earnings, and the pending bond proposition were sufficient to keep the stock from joining the general movement. Pittsburgh Coal preferred was the strongest stock on the list. It not only recovered all its dividend, but advanced to and closed at 72, which was equivalent to a net gain of 2½ per cent. The common stock advanced 1½ per cent to 17 and closed at the best. The declaration of the regular dividend on National Fire Proofing preferred was responsible for a rally to 32¼, but just before the close the price reacted to 32. The common advanced to 9¼ and closed unchanged at 9¼. Westinghouse Electric rallied a point to 84⅜, and closed at 84¼ bid. At the call of bank stocks there was more trading than for several weeks past, and prices advanced higher.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

After a market like that witnessed in New York yesterday it would be in accord with precedent for a sharp reaction to occur. Prior to 1901 it was an axiom in the street that a "million-share day" always marked the culmination of a market movement. This million-share day was usually preceded by abnormal activity in various groups of neglected and low-priced stocks, seasoned with 5 and 10-point jumps in some closely held gilt-edge security. Something like this occurred yesterday, but we have bigger men and bigger markets these days, and the biggest men in the street seemed to be arrayed on the bull side of the present market. A half dozen times during the past few weeks it looked as if a reaction was about to occur, traders sold short, and then covered at a loss. Yesterday shorts were said to be covering in the Steel stocks, in Brooklyn Rapid Transit, and in Rock Island. The extent of this short interest cannot be even approximately estimated, but it must have been enormous throughout the whole list, because numerous incidents have occurred during the past three months to warrant the feeling that the pace was too rapid, and that short sales would prove profitable. There has scarcely been an opportunity for anyone who was short to cover and make even the cost of commissions. Private advices last night to several Pittsburgh houses contained the warning against allowing customers to get short of the market, as that side is still dangerous, and predicting much higher prices for minor railroad and industrial stocks which have not yet had any great advance. In the view of the most conservative houses, however, the market is becoming dangerous for "longs" who are in stocks that have advanced the most this week.

It required the purchase of less than a thousand shares Pittsburgh Coal preferred yesterday to advance the price from 69½ ex-dividend to 72. The market closed at the top, and the most significant thing about it was that there was no stock offered for sale at the close. The common also advanced and closed without any offerings. There is reason to believe that the short interest in the preferred was increased this week.

"Poor old Crucible," remarked a trader after the close of the market. "With everything else in its class advancing to the highest prices of the year, it closes a fraction and closes at the lowest for the day." Comparison was made with some of the minor iron and steel issues which two years ago were generally regarded as outclassed by Crucible, and which gauged by market quotations were far below Crucible in the estimation of investors. One of these was United States Cast Iron Pipe preferred. The latter yesterday advanced to 64 the highest for years, while Crucible preferred closed at 41¾. In 1902 when Crucible preferred was ranging between 82 and 88, Cast Iron Pipe preferred was ranging between 42 and 58, and last year when Crucible preferred was selling above 87, Pipe preferred never got above 63½. At the present time Pipe preferred is selling 22 a share above Crucible preferred. The latter, however, is depressed by discussion regarding earnings and the pending bond issue which has come on top of the admission of large losses in connection with the Clafton deal.

Allegheny Valley preferred was firm and higher yesterday, and at the close of the market Whitney, Stephenson & Co. bid 26 for 1,000 shares. This is one "minority stock" which does not appear to be benefited by its close affiliation with the Pennsylvania, although the same kind of affiliation was the sole argument yesterday for higher prices in connection with Chesapeake & Ohio. It has long been a matter of discussion why the preferred stock of a road having such valuable terminals in Pittsburgh as Allegheny Valley should sell below other stocks not favored with the excellent management of the Pennsylvania, and apparently less advantageously situated. Allegheny Valley's statement of earnings, issues yesterday, showed a decrease in gross for August of $142,862 and a decrease in net earnings of $129,530. For eight months of 1904 gross earnings have decreased $563,615 and net earnings decreased $692,579.

At auction yesterday John D. Bailey sold for account of whom it may concern 50 shares Pittsburgh Lamp, Brass and Glass common stock at $5 a share, and 50 shares of the preferred at $52 a share. He also sold 100 shares common and 200 shares preferred Anchora Clay Manufacturing Company stock at $5 for the lot.

Electric was moderately active and firmer yesterday, but the other Westinghouse stocks were dull and barely steady.

National Fire Proofing preferred rallied slightly in the early dealings, but later lost the gain and closed only ½ higher for the day. The common stock was unchanged.

The highest price ever quoted on United States Steel sinking fund 5s was 90¾. This occurred on the "curb" market in March, 1902, long before the bonds were issued, and before the litigation was instituted which retarded the consolidation operation. In June, 1904, the bonds were admitted to quotations on the New York stock exchange, and the highest price that car on the exchange was 87⅝. This remained as the record until yesterday, when they sold at 87⅞. The low point on the bonds was 65, quoted last November. Including the coupon which has since been paid, the purchaser at 65 last November has a profit equal to 25¼ points. The purchaser of the preferred stock at the low point last November had a profit yesterday of 30½ points in addition to the dividends he has received.

Messrs. D. Lect Wilson and Durbin Horne have been elected directors of the Fidelity Title and Trust Company to fill vacancies on the board.

New York commission houses report that their business is still restricted. It is certain that very large transactions in yesterday's market were executed by single houses, buying orders for single firms running as high as 50,000 shares of various stocks. This points unmistakably to the centralized direction and control of operations under combined resources. Such dealings were especially noticeable in a few of the stocks in which centered the greatest activity and in which the widest advances occurred, but the movement became so general and so embracing as to carry general conviction of a wide participation in the market from many separate and independent sources.

The combined strength and special prominence of Peoples Gas and Brooklyn Transit served to recall previous campaigns in these and other stocks which were favorites of the late ex-Gov. Flower. The conviction was very general also that a veteran operator and turfman, who has long refrained from leading operations in the market, was again conducting transactions on a large scale by very characteristic methods. The movement varied all before it whatever sources it came or for whatever motives.

Specific news had little to do with the day's movement in Wall street, but a strong stimulation was given to the market by the unexpectedly large gain in cash promised by today's bank statement. The transfers on balance by express to the interior have been so small this week that only an insignificant deduction has to be made from the amount yielded to the banks on sub-treasury operations, which amounted to $6,017,000. New York exchange at Chicago also narrowed the discount to 15 per cent a thousand compared with 50 cents early in the week. The exhaustion of old crop supplies and the waiting for the new crop of corn may account for this pause in the interior movement. Call money, in consequence, remained very easy.

PROGRESS IS SLOW BUT SURE IN MANUFACTURED PRODUCTS

Dun's Review Shows Satisfactory Conditions from Leading Iron and Trade Centers.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade tomorrow will say:

Progress is slow but sure in the leading branches of manufacture, contrasts being more readily placed for distant delivery, while the percentage of idle machinery steadily decreases. Satisfactory news from leading iron and steel centers tends to strengthen confidence elsewhere, as the consumption of iron has been found a good barometer of business conditions. Jobbing and wholesale trade in fall and winter wearing apparel expands gradually, and such spring lines as are opened meet with a fairly satisfactory reception, considering the recent indisposition to provide for future requirements. At many points the return of warm weather checked the revival of retail trade in heavy goods, but as that movement had begun much earlier than usual, the net result thus far is better than last year. Building operations have expanded, at some cities establishing a noteworthy record of the month of September, and the permits recently issued promise well for the future. Labor is fairly well employed, according to the latest official trades union reports, although the Fall River struggle has lasted longer than expected.

Latest returns of foreign commerce compare very favorably with the corresponding time last year, and railway earnings in the first week of October were 6.9 per cent larger than in 1903. All divisions of the iron and steel industry are making progress, tardy orders coming forward in greater number, and, while few large contracts are recorded, the aggregate tonnage is encouraging. More office buildings and bridges are contemplated for western cities, while the railways seek cars and other equipment with more interest than at any recent date. A big demand for agricultural implements is confidently expected. Exports of steel rails promise to be large and much foreign business is being negotiated.

Failures this week were 208 in the United States against 208 last year, and in Canada 24, compared with 28 a year ago.

PUBLIC ACTIVE BUYER IN THE STOCK MARKET

This Illustrated by the Indiscriminate Purchase of All Kinds of Shares.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—The Herald this (Saturday) morning says:

Business on the stock exchange yesterday broadened out considerably and the distribution of activity among railway shares, and industrials and the specialties of the list, was better than upon any other occasion since the revival in the market took place. That the public was participating to an increasing extent in the operations, thus bidding fair to crown with success the long continued efforts of the manipulation party and of the pools and cliques, seemed most apparent. Nothing but public buying could have been so indiscriminate as to take hold of things, good, bad and indifferent alike. Still stocks were made to sell and since persons want to buy them at the present level, no fault is certainly to be found with those persons who found it convenient and profitable to do so. The selling of the day was of excellent character.

Practically all brokers reported some increase in public interest, but the most important of the outside buying was said to come from out of town. Local brokers' offices showed some slight increase in attendance, and sentiment among the regular habitues was certainly more cheerful, but there was certainly no such great influx of customers in offices, as Wall street witnessed in times of great public buying in the past.

In a general way the street spoke of the ease of money and the prospects of a favorable bank statement today as the reasons for the record breaking day in the market. This may have incited the manipulators to redouble efforts, but it will be recalled that for several weeks past succeeding unfavorable bank statements have had no adverse market influence to amount to anything, and more frequently than not stocks have been advanced when cash was going out, surplus reserve decreasing and loans expanding.

STILL MUCH ACTIVITY IN PIG IRON MARKET

Buyers, Without Exception, Seem Sanguine of Improved Conditions in Near Future.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—In their weekly summary Rogers, Brown & Co. say:

The week has shown no check to the increased activity in the pig iron market. The September statistics of furnace stocks and production, just published, will doubtless serve to confirm the feeling of hopefulness which has been growing more and more general. If sales alone are to be taken as an indication, consumption will show a very decided increase before the next monthly figures are compiled.

Although one or two markets report a slight falling off in inquiries, transactions as a whole show no tendency to slacken. Several large consumers of pig iron have come into the market and the general inquiry from smaller foundries continues active.

Buyers, without exception, seem sanguine of improved conditions in the near future, and are anxious to provide for their wants as far into next year as they can at figures anywhere near current prices.

LAWRENCEVILLE PLOT CONDEMNED

Pittsburgh Junction Railroad Company Wants the Vandergrift Holdings.

MADE BEST GAIN IN COUNTRY

The Pittsburgh Junction Railroad Company has started condemnation proceedings against the J. J. Vandergrift property in Lawrenceville with a view to extending its tracks and switches in that locality. The property is one of the most valuable in that section, having a frontage of 429 feet in both Twenty-second and Twenty-third streets and 267 feet on the north side of Railroad street, extending from that street to the low water mark of the Allegheny river. A plot 110x185 feet on the northwest corner is owned by the United States government and is used for offices and storage purposes. The part condemned contains 1,933 acres. A bond of $400,000 was filed some time ago, but an exception was filed to this bond by the following defendants: James I. Buchanan, Samuel H. Vandergrift, George A. Johnston and the Pittsburgh Trust Company, trustees under the will of Jacob J. Vandergrift, deceased, and Helen E. Mercer. The Vandergrift holdings are directly across Twenty-third street from the plant of the Armstrong Cork Company and opposite Twenty-second street from the property of the Oil Well Supply Company. The latter concern paid from $1 50 to $1 75 a square foot for its plot. The Allegheny Valley Railroad Company some time ago bought nearby property for $2 25 a square foot. The defendants in the Vandergrift case claim the bond is not large enough. The Pittsburgh Junction Railroad Company has leased the Vandergrift lot for several years and now has a small fruit station near the lower end of the property, which is reached by two of its tracks.

Took First Rank in September.

Pittsburgh distinguished herself by the record she made in building operations in September, compared with that of other large cities. Her gain over September of 1903 was 386 per cent, or by far the largest increase noted among the 27 largest cities of the country according to the Construction News of Chicago. Chicago followed with a gain of 298 per cent. Brooklyn made 130 per cent increase and New York had 102 per cent more building in September. The total average gain over the country was 84 per cent. The total number of permits taken out was 9,614, representing an estimated investment of $37,015,194, as against 7,108 permits in September, 1903, amounting to $20,674,310.

The record is the most remarkable made by any single month in years. It may be attributed chiefly to two causes. One was the absence of serious labor troubles in most of the cities. The other was the fine weather that prevailed the greater part of the month, offering much encouragement to prospective builders to get their structures under roof before winter. Easier financial conditions also helped to swell the total of building operations for public buildings as well as large private undertakings were more easily financed than for months previous.

Want Double the Price Offered.

Another interesting condemnation suit begun by the Wabash is now pending in court and is likely to result in a verdict in favor of the railroad company. The property is the Little lot, 18x55 feet, facing in Liberty avenue, and is a part of the Wabash station site. The owners were offered $50,000 for the lot, but asked $40,000. The offer made by the Wabash was at the rate of about $18 a square foot. The Anna Smith property, on the opposite side of Liberty avenue, was bought by the railroad for only $16 a foot, which will doubtless have much influence in establishing a price for the Little property.

John H. Galey will shortly start three more houses in Hampton avenue, Swissvale. The feature of the deal is that all of the houses are sold now under articles of agreement and will be built after plans suggested by the buyers. This plan has been followed out very successfully by Mr. Galey the past year, and the cost of these houses, $6,000 each, shows that it is well adapted to a good class of residence buyers.

A. J. Halter has bought from J. N. Halter an improved property, 40x93 feet, at Liberty avenue and Edmund street, Sixteenth ward, for $10,000.

CONCESSION TAKEN OFF FLOUR IN LOCAL MARKET

Rise in Wheat Forces It Back to Its Former Figure and It May Go Higher.

In the face of the big advance in wheat, the 10-cent concession was removed from flour yesterday and the quotation of $6 50 and $6 55 a barrel still stands. Flour buyers are wary and afraid to venture much with the market in the condition it is in. Reports from Minneapolis show that the millers there are indulging in no great sales and the production of flour last week was considerably off what it had been the week before. This week will show a still greater decrease, none of the manufacturers caring to build up large stocks on the present price of wheat. Most of them look upon this as a bull market with a fictitious price on wheat. There are some exceptions, however, and these think both wheat and flour is still going up and that the public will make up its mind to pay a high price for its flour this winter.

Eggs show a decided movement. Choice stock has moved up to 24 cents, and is scarce at that. The other grades have each moved up a cent. Still further rises are looked for by the dealers and it is said some fortunes are going to be made by the big holders in the near future. The cheese market is again bracing up and buyers are beginning to discover that prices in that edible are about to soar a little. The retail merchant finds his prices moved up a cent on all grades.

In fruit and produce there was a heavy trade yesterday. Local produce is rapidly running out in the local market and the shippers outside of the immediate vicinity of Pittsburgh are beginning to feel the benefit, as well as the commission men. Receipts of produce yesterday in carload lots was as follows: Apples, 2 cars, making 72; cabbage, 1, making 16; grapes, 1, making 88; lemons, 1; onions, 2, making 25; pears, 4, making 92; potatoes 17, making 79; squash, 2; sweet potatoes, 4, making 15; tomatoes, 1, making 3; turnips, 4; miscellaneous, 4, making 12.

HAY, GRAIN AND FEED.

Receipts of hay, grain and feed yesterday were as follows: Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 2 cars oats, 2 cars hay; Baltimore & Ohio, 4 cars oats, 7 cars hay, 1 car straw; Pennsylvania lines, 10 cars oats, 3 cars rye, 14 cars hay, 4 cars corn, 2 cars corn and oats, 4 cars feed.

Hay and grain held firm in all lines yesterday. Millfeed is still a slow sale and the dealers are evidently determined to force the millers down in their prices before any active trade in that line can be established. Dealers claim the price is out of reason and no business can be done while it remains at its present figure. Oats were steady yesterday and 36 cents was bid for them in the market. Corn is still scarce and the business is of the hand-to-mouth variety. Wheat at the mill remains at $1 16 to $1 11, although some farmers are holding for a higher market in the belief that the grain is going back to the $1 20 figure in market quotations.

The Wool Market.

BOSTON, Oct. 14.—The Commercial Bulletin will say on Saturday:

There is a more pronounced bullish feeling in the wool market. Business continues good and would be of much heavier volume but for the indifference of many holders about making further contracts on a steadily rising market. Other houses have little to offer. Stocks and selections are poor. Medium grades are in notably small supply, it being estimated that there is not over 1,000,000 pounds of quarter blood left on the market. Prices have been marked up to 30c and some ask 31c. Fine territory sells at 60c clean. Scoured wools in active demand, with higher prices. Foreign advices are strong, with the Sydney, N. S. W., opening firm at advancing prices for crossbreds. The shipments of wool from Boston to date from December 31, 1903, according to the same authority, are 182,190,200 pounds, against 184,873,100 pounds at the same time last year. The receipts to date are 270,475,651 pounds, against 244,473,482 pounds for the same period last year.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—The market for coffee futures showed further weakness. It opened steady at a decline of 5 points and gradually increased the loss until at the close it was net 5@10 points lower. Easier European markets, due, it was claimed, to lower rates offers from Brazil, seemed the depressing factor. Europe was a seller, while the buying came from various bear interests and some scattering outsiders. Sales for the day were about 48,750 bags, including December at 6.60@6.65c; January, 6.70c; March, 6.85@6.90c; May, 7.00@7.10c; July, 7.25c; September, 7.30@7.40c; spot Rio quiet. No. 7 invoice, 7¾c; mild quiet. Sugar, raw quiet; fair refining, 3⅞c; centrifugal, 96 test, 4¼c; molasses sugar, 3½c; refined quiet.

WHEAT MADE ADVANCE OF OVER TWO CENTS

Shortage in Domestic Supply and French Crop Caused the Buoyancy.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—For the first hour sentiment in the wheat pit was inclined to weakness. At the opening the December option was unchanged to ⅛c lower at $1 10¾@1 10⅝. May was ¼@⅜c lower to ¼@½c higher at $1 10@1 10¼. The easier undertone at the start was due to lower cables and to liberal receipts in the northwest. On fair selling of May by commission houses, the market underwent a further recession, the distant delivery declining to $1 09⅞. December also reacted to $1 09⅞. At the same time, however, all outside markets exhibited decided strength. The influence of these higher prices soon had an appreciable effect on trading here. A prominent commission house was a hearty purchaser of the December option. The combined buying by this concern was largely instrumental in starting active buying by the pit crowd. The keynote to the situation, however, was apparently the great scarcity of wheat for milling purposes. Reports from the northwest and southwest were equally bullish in that respect. One message from St. Louis alleged an absolute scarcity of milling wheat there. A statement from Minneapolis that two of the biggest elevator companies will handle only 50 to 70 per cent of the amount of wheat stored last year, formed an excellent background for the general firmness. Another factor was a report of a St. Louis trade journal claiming that excessive rains in the southwest and drought conditions in the northwest, have delayed seeding of winter wheat to some extent. These bullish domestic advances were reinforced by a report of the French minister of agriculture estimating a shortage of 73,000,000 bushels in this year's crop of wheat, as compared with that of last year. Throughout the latter part of the session shorts were urgent buyers, the December option being in greatest favor. Prices advanced rapidly until December sold at $1 13. May rallied to $1 12½. The strength was well maintained, December closing at $1 12¾@1 12¾. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to 37,300 bushels. Exports for the week, as shown by Bradstreets, were equal to 1,357,000 bushels. Primary sent 1,356,800 bushels, compared with 1,235,700 bushels a year ago. Minneapolis, Duluth and Chicago reported receipts of 928 cars, against 27 cars last week and 687 cars a year ago.

Early in the session the corn market was inclined to weakness, mainly in sympathy with the easier tone of wheat. The market lacked the support of the big houses that were active buyers yesterday, and for the first hour trading was rather quiet. The sharp advance in wheat brought out a good demand for corn from shorts, and the result was a strong market late in the day. December opened unchanged to ¼@½c lower at 46¾@47c, sold off to 46¾c, rallied to 50¼c and closed at 50⅛. Local receipts were 67 cars, with one of contract grade.

The governing factor in the oats market was the action of wheat and corn. Trading was rather light owing to the heavy movement and to the accumulation of stocks. After opening ¼c lower at 28¾c, December ranged between 28¼c and 29¼c, closing at 29c. Local receipts were 95 cars.

Selling of lard by a prominent packer was the leading factor in causing a weak provision market. A supplementary reason for the decline was the weakness of the hog market. At the close January pork was down 12½c at $12 27½. Lard and ribs were each 7½c lower at $7 17½ and $6 42½ respectively.

Estimated receipts for tomorrow—Wheat, 78 cars; corn, 102 cars; oats, 146 cars; hogs, 10,000 head.

FRED TSCHUME TAKES APPEAL

Judge Shafer Asked to Compel Prominent Men to Obey an Ohio Court.

FARMER'S UNUSUAL ANSWER

Fred Tschume, the wholesale liquor dealer of East street, Allegheny, took an appeal to the superior court shortly after 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The appeal was filed with Prothonotary George Pearson.

The appeal does not act as a supercedas, and special permission will have to be obtained from the superior court before the wholesaler can open his establishment. It was at first intended to present the appeal direct to the superior court at Philadelphia, but Attorneys Lang and Robb finally decided to take the appeal here and present the petition to the court in Philadelphia on Monday. Attorney Lang will go down with a petition asking the court to permit Tschume to open up pending the hearing on the appeal. Just when this will take place rests with the court. The attorneys are not sure whether the court will advance the case on the list. If it does not a hearing will not take place until the second Monday in April, when the court convenes in this city. This would give Tschume a chance to sell until that time, or probably until his license runs out, when he can make application for a new license.

Attorney John Marren said he will, for the Anti Saloon league, contest any attempt to have the writ for an appeal act as a supercedas in the case, either in the lower court or in the superior court. The only questions that could be involved in an appeal, he said, are the jurisdiction of the court and the regularity of the proceedings. The jurisdiction of the court was settled and the defendant's own testimony and his books were enough to cause the court to act as it did without any other evidence.

In his appeal Tschume swears he does not ask the superior court to act on this case for any purpose of delay, but because he believes the judgment of the lower court is wrong.

Action to Compel Testimony.

An appeal was made to Judge Shafer for the offices of the local court in enforcing a mandate of the court of Cuyahoga county, Ohio, issued to secure the testimony of Francis L. Robbins, Francis J. Le Moyne and J. B. L. Hornberger on matters involving a deal made by the Pittsburgh Coal Company. The petition was presented to the local court by John D. Evans, a notary public, who set forth that Judge William A. Babcock of Cuyahoga county had issued to him on October 8, 1904, a commission to take the testimony of Le Moyne, Robbins, Hornberger and other residents of Allegheny county in the suit of John S. Nunn, county treasurer, against Loftus Cuddy, a civil action pending in the Ohio court. Evans says the subpoena for the three men was served on them and they were summoned to appear before him in his office in the Park building on October 12. They were also directed to bring with them the books, papers and matter relative to the consideration paid by the Pittsburgh Coal Company to Cuddy for his interest in the Cuddy-Mullen Coal Company. The three witnesses, it is alleged, made default and neglected or refused to attend ts summoned.

Evans asks the local court to direct him to issue subpoenas to the three witnesses to compel their attendance to give testimony and to purge themselves of contempt, and if they fail, an attachment be issued. The court granted a rule on the three men to show cause why the prayer of the petitioner should not be granted.

Husband's Hard Luck Story.

Keeping house for himself and farming on 21 acres with a 20-year-old horse and no cows is as much as John Schemm thinks he should do without paying his wife, Mary Schemm, who is suing him for divorce, an allowance. This was set forth in his answer to her petition for an allowance. He says he is 52, is a sufferer from asthma and has only $500 laid by. As to his wife, he says, sold the cows. She owns the little farm, and he lodges, has $3,000 in cash or investment. He thinks they could live happily together if her relatives did not interfere. She is living with a sister about a quarter of a mile from his home, and he says she visits him almost every day.

Robert A. Saxton of the Fourteenth ward filed a bill in equity against Gottlieb Gross, a neighbor, asking the court to grant an injunction to prevent Gross from continuing the erection of a foundation, which, he alleges, trespasses on his property. Gross is building and the plaintiff alleges the excavation is undermining the foundation of his house, which has caused the wall to crack.

A bill in equity was filed by Victor Viester and his wife against local assembly, No. 300, Knights of Labor, asking the court to make the officers of the organization pay them $1,000, as death benefits for their son. The plaintiffs allege their son was a member in good standing and unmarried, and they claim they are entitled to the benefits. It is claimed that payment has been refused by the defendants.

The Third National bank of Buffalo entered suit against the Duquesne Brewing Company for $10,000. The action is on a note made and executed by the defendant on May 24, 1901, and payable in four months at South Twenty-second and Mary streets. The note, it is alleged, was indorsed and delivered to John F. Nagel, who, before its maturity, delivered it to C. A. Strangman of Buffalo, from whom the bank secured it. The plaintiff says that at the time the note was negotiated and delivered to Strangman, and at the time the bank purchased it neither Strangman or the bank had any notice of any infirmity in note or defect in the title of Strangman, or any defense thereto on the part of the defendant or any attachment of the debt represented thereby, in th hands of the defendant, but acquired the same in good faith.

Involuntary Bankruptcy Proceedings.

A petition in involuntary bankruptcy was filed against William A. Ride of McKeesport by the Farmers and Mechanics National bank of Mercer and Thomas C. Jenkins of Pittsburgh. Claims amounting to $693 41 are presented. On Tuesday a like petition was presented by W. T. McBurney et al of Grove City against Benjamin A. Ride, father of William A. Ride.

In quarter sessions court an order was made by Judge Evans releasing Morris Goldma nfrom jail on his own recognizance. Goldman is charged with a felony by Joseph Friedman before Alderman C. F. Oyer. The defendant was sued for a like offense by the same prosecutor before Magistrate T. D. Stewart. Goldman was tried in criminal court, acquitted of the charge, and at once a similar charge was made before the other alderman and Goldman was arrested.

Melaw Pleavatz of McKeesport was convicted of a charge of unlawfully wounding Dervehan Hyden, and was sent to the workhouse for two years. The defendant is said to have laid in wait for Hyden and struck him in the face with an iron bar, breaking his jaw.

The following executions were issued: John Hodgson vs Herman L. Dean, $3,250 80; Keystone Laundry Company vs A. J. McIntosh, $263 09; German Beneficial union vs estate of Anna Marie Schneider et al, $481 57; Thomas C. Jenkins vs Samuel Klee, $295 56; Pittsburgh Provision and Packing Company vs Samuel Gobin, $52; Sharpsburg Sand Company vs Walther Burke Construction Company et al, $422 55; Julia Blaumer vs Stefan Schwertner, $180 97; the McKees Rocks Trust Company vs Samuel Colbeck, executor, $1,982 10.

The Pittsburgh Musical society has made application for a charter. William H. Wallace and others are the subscribers. Attorney John N. Platt is the solicitor.

ALLEGED EMBEZZLER WAS AN ALL AROUND SPORT

MANSFEILD, O., Oct. 14.—(Special.)—George W. Spoolman, who has many aliases, but was indicted June 15 at Cleveland on three counts for embezzlement and one for forgery under the name of Ransome Earl Reegan, was arrested last night. He is charged with embezzlements and larcenies aggregating $10,000 by the Wheeling & Lake Erie railroad, the American Express Company and the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Company. Last August he was located in Kansas, where he was working as a laborer. He was arrested, but escaped from the sheriff at Neodesha, Kas. Last winter, during the sleighing season, Spoolman had some lively brushes on the snow path with owners of fast horses and cleaned up considerable money.

West Penn Railroad May Abolish Evening Trains

The winter schedule of the West Penn division of the Pennsylvania will show that the evening train service has been cancelled. This will undoubtedly meet with a severe protest from the patrons of the road. Why the company intends removing the trains, when they are well patronized, cannot be understood, nor will the officials give their reasons.

The recommendations of the local officials to the passenger and operating departments at Philadelphia suggests the abolishing of trains Nos. 46, 48, 47 and 49. This will make the last train to leave the station in Allegheny at 6:20.

Train No. 5, which leaves Allegheny at 10:50 in the evening, will, with the new schedule, leave Union station and go by way of the Brilliant cut-off. Train No. 46 leaves Allegheny at 8 o'clock, running as far north as Freeport. Train No. 48 is known as the theater train and leaves Allegheny at 11:40. This train will be missed more than the others. Ever since this train has been put into service it has been well patronized. With the new schedule people residing along the West Penn cannot attend the local theaters unless they remain in the city over night.

The returning trains to be abolished leave Freeport at 6:04 and 9:44, arriving in Allegheny at 7:25 and 10:50. It is understood that the trainmen running on these trains will be reduced in rank. The conductors will be put back to brakemen and the brakemen to flagmen. The new schedule is to go into effect November 17.

Milwaukee Secures Colonist Passengers.

John R. Pott, district passenger agent of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, arrived in Pittsburgh yesterday morning with a party of 14 passengers to the Pacific coast and other western points who are going from northern Central Pennsylvania points. Of the party 10 from Phillipsburg will take advantage of the colonist rates to California, of which this is the last day. They leave Chicago tonight. One passenger came from Muncy, one from Lock Haven and two from Williamsport. Mr. Pott has been laid up with a sprained ankle for a couple of weeks, but is now able to look after business again.

To Install Telephone System.

The Erie railroad has invited estimates from telephone equipment companies as to the cost of installing a complete telephone system between Cleveland and New York. There will be branches from the service extending into all the way stations, and any agent of the company will be able to call his officials at headquarters and hold a personal conversation with them when the occasion demands. It was only between the last two months that the New York Central system completed a trunk telephone line between New York and Chicago.

Rushing Work on P. R. R. Yards.

Work on the enlargement of the Pennsylvania railroad terminal yards at Union station is being pushed with rapidity in the effort to have the work completed before the cold weather arrives. The new yards will do away with numerous objectionable features and make it possible for the company to increase the train service in and out of the Union station without difficulty.

SIX CHARGES OF EMBEZZLEMENT

County Controller Swears Out Warrants Against Justice of Peace Needling.

OTHERS TO BE PROSECUTED

Six charges of embezzlement, which were made yesterday against Justice of the Peace A. J. Needling of Millvale by County Controller Cunningham before Alderman McMasters, are said to be the beginning of a general prosecution of alleged dishonest aldermen and justices of the peace who are said to have defrauded the county of fines and costs which they have collected and failed to turn into the county treasury.

Controller Cunningham alleges Needling has failed to make returns for about $700. The alleged embezzlements cover the past two years and the money said to have been retained fraudulently was received generally in small sums, ranging from $1 to $25. Controller Cunningham says the case against Needling is only the first of a number of similar prosecutions he intends to bring against others.

For some time the county controller has been extremely dissatisfied with the manner in which aldermen and justices of the peace generally have made their returns to the county of money collected in criminal cases. About six months ago he started an investigation and claims, as the result, he has discovered the county has been cheated out of thousands of dollars by local magistrates who imposed fines and costs and kept the money.

The controller claims Needling has been one of the most flagrant offenders in this respect and says he proposes to make an example of him. Cases cited by the controller, in which Needling is said to have received fines and costs and made no return to the county, are as follows: Mrs. James Howard, $1 fine and costs, June 23, 1903; Andrew Brown, $10 and costs, July 17, 1903; Henry Ostereiter, $10 and costs, December 1, 1903; A. Kaback, $25 and costs, December 12, 1903. The other two warrants charge Needling with embezzling sums aggregating over $600.

NOVEMBER THE SMART SET A MAGAZINE OF CLEVERNESS JUST OUT

We Have The Names of 1,800,000 People Who Are Users of Liquozone.

All of these people asked us to buy the first bottle--a 50c bottle--and give it to them free. We did it--and we will do it for you.

There are millions of other users of whom we don't know. We learn only of those who write us. But each user tells others about it, and those others tell others. Ask your friends if they use it, and you will be surprised at the number who do.

Your own neighborhood is full of Liquozone users. Ask a few what they think of it—ask them what it does. If they say it is wonderful—that it does all we claim—then let us buy you a 50c bottle. Try it our expense; see what it does for you. If you find it effective and needful, tell others about it, as we have told you.

Each of those 1,800,000 people suffered from a germ disease. Ask some of them if Liquozone cured them—if it destroyed the germs. Ask if they advise you to take Liquozone, then do as they say. Half the people you meet know someone whom Liquozone has cured.

Millions of people use Liquozone constantly. Yet we have never asked a person to buy it. We have asked them only to let us buy the first bottle—just as we ask you. They have continued its use because of what Liquozone did for them—just as you would. Won't you—for your own sake—be one of those millions? Won't you write for a bottle today?

Not Medicine.

Liquozone is not a medicine. It is not made by compounding drugs, nor is there any alcohol in it. It is made solely from gas—largely oxygen gas—by a process requiring immense apparatus and 14 days' time.

This product has, for more than 20 years, been the constant subject of scientific and chemical research. The object of its discoverers was to get the virtues of oxygen in stable form into the blood. Their reason was that oxygen alone can kill disease germs without harm to the living tissues.

Each cubic inch of Liquozone requires the use of 1,250 cubic inches of the gas. And that is all that goes to absorb it, gas, and the liquid used to absorb it. The result—after 14 days—is a germicide so certain that we publish on every bottle an offer of $1,000 for a disease germ that it cannot kill.

Acts Like Oxygen.

The virtue of Liquozone lies in the fact that it does what oxygen does. Oxygen is the vital part of air, the very source of vitality, the most essential element of life. Oxygen is also nature's greatest tonic, the blood food, the nerve food, the scavenger of the blood. It is oxygen that turns the blue blood to red in the lungs. It is oxygen that eliminates the waste tissue and builds up the new. You could not live three minutes without it. And half the sickness in the world is caused by having too little.

Liquozone acts like oxygen. It gives to every nerve center just the food that it needs. It gives new power to every function of nature. It brings back vitality at once. No other known product can compare with it as a vitalizer. And Liquozone is the only tonic that never leads to reaction.

Kills All Germs.

Another fact is that an excess of oxygen destroys any disease germ. The reason is that germs are vegetables; and an excess of oxygen—the very life of an animal—is deadly to vegetable matter.

So with Liquozone, but the vital difference is this: Oxygen is a gas, and an excess of it cannot be maintained in the blood. Liquozone is a liquid, concentrated, stable and powerful. It goes wherever the blood goes; and, as no germ can escape it, and none can resist it, the results are inevitable.

To the human body Liquozone is the most helpful thing in the world. But anything vegetable instantly perishes wherever Liquozone goes. The fact that germs are vegetables has enabled the discoverers of Liquozone to solve the great problem of killing germs in the body without killing the tissues, too. And there is no other way. Any drug that kills germs is a poison, and it cannot be taken internally. In that fact lies the great value of Liquozone. It is the only product known—the only product man can conceive of—that can destroy the cause of a germ trouble without harm to the living tissues.

We Paid $100,000

For the American rights of Liquozone, and the British Liquid Ozone Co. paid the same sum for the rights in Great Britain. That is the highest price ever paid for similar rights on any scientific discovery.

We tell you this fact because it best indicates the value of Liquozone. Claims are easily made, but men of our class don't pay a price like that save for a product of very great worth to humanity.

Before making this purchase we tested Liquozone for two years through physicians and hospitals in this country and others. We tried it in all kinds of germ diseases, in thousands of the most difficult cases obtainable. We saw it cure hundreds of sick ones with whom everything else had failed. And we saw many a patient brought back from the verge of the grave by it.

We proved, to the satisfaction of the best physicians, that in germ troubles Liquozone did what nothing else could accomplish. We proved it to be of more value to sick humanity than all the drugs in the world combined. Then we staked our fortunes and our reputations on it.

Every member of this company uses Liquozone daily in his family to prevent sickness, and millions of others are learning to do likewise. Liquozone is now employed by hospitals everywhere, and by the physicians of nearly every nation.

Germ Diseases.

We give here a list of the known germ diseases. Each of these diseases is caused by germ attacks, or by poisons which germs create. A cure can come only through killing the germs.

All that medicine can do for these troubles is to help nature overcome the germs, and those results are indirect and uncertain. They depend on the patient's condition. There are some of these diseases which medicine never cures. In all of them the results from drugs are doubtful and slow. Medicine is not proper treatment for any form of germ attack.

Liquozone goes directly to the cause of these troubles. It attacks the germs, wherever they exist. A germ disease must end when the germs are killed; nothing is more certain than that. Then Liquozone, acting as a tonic, quickly repairs the damage done, and restores a condition of perfect health. Diseases which have resisted medicine for years yield at once to Liquozone. And it cures disease which medicine never cures. In any stage of any disease in this list, the results are so certain that we will gladly send to any patient who asks it an absolute guaranty.
